BATTLE OF TITANS.

HARRIMAN-FISH FIGHT CRISIS COMES TODAY.

Each Side Confident of Victory in Illinois Central Election.

Committee of Three Passes on Proxies and Great Contest for Control Will Be Settled by Count of Ballots. Harahan Refuses to Be Friendly With Man He Succeeded as President.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The meeting of the Illinois Central stockholders, which was called at noon today, was finally adjourned late in the afternoon until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. No vote on the election of directors was taken, and it is possible that none will be reached before a late hour tomorrow.

It is generally expected, however, that the early session will see the new directorate established. The delay was caused by the inability of three election inspectors who were appointed to act as a committee on credentials in considering the proxies, to finish their work.

Both sides are still apparently confident of the result. Mr. Fish said tonight:

"I have great hopes, but we cannot tell as yet."

Mr. Harriman declared:

"I cannot predict the result of the meeting, but it may be said that it will be a clean cut fight. If we fail to vote enough stock to control the meeting, the issue will be up to the courts."

HARRIMAN'S COUNSEL LOSES.

The adjournment this afternoon was taken after an earnest tilt between William Nelson Cromwell, Mr. Harriman's leading counsel, and James A. Patten, a prominent member of the Chicago Board of Trade. Mr. Cromwell desired that the meeting be adjourned until 8:30 tonight, while Mr. Patten was set on having it taken until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It was stipulated yesterday by Judge Ball that a committee of three should be appointed to pass upon the eligibility of the proxies. For this committee, Mr. Fish, who was to select a member, chose his private secretary, Charles H. Wenman. Mr. Harriman selected Louis Fritch, assistant to the president of the Illinois Central. The choice of the third member was left to Judge Farrar, acting for Mr. Fish, and Mr. Cromwell, for Mr. Harriman.

These two men argued for the greater part of the day, and discussed many names, but were unable to agree upon the third man. Finally a motion, made originally by Judge Farrar, that Judge Ball be asked to select the third man, was adopted. The judge named E. S. Conway, a prominent manufacturer of this city.

FISH APPLAUDED.

The meeting of the stockholders was called to order at 12 o'clock by President Harahan, of the Illinois Central. About 400 persons were in attendance. Mr. Fish was greeted with applause when he entered, but the smaller stature of Mr. Harriman allowed him to enter unobserved.

Soon after he arrived, Mr. Fish walked over to where President Harahan was seated, and, placing his hand upon Harahan's shoulder, bent over and said a few words to him, which were evidently of a pleasant character. President Harahan, however, was not in the mood for social greetings, and threw off Mr. Fish's hand with a manner of much impatience.

Mr. Fish merely smiled and returned to his seat. He occupied a seat at the left of President Harahan, being surrounded by his attorneys and advisers.

Mr. Harriman, who left the conduct of his affairs entirely to Mr. Cromwell, occupied a chair in the front row of the stockholders' seats, sitting next to Gov. Deneen of Illinois, with whom he conversed cheerfully throughout the greater part of the day. Next beyond Gov. Deneen sat the son of Stuyvesant Fish, with whom Mr. Harriman cordially shook hands as soon as he observed him.

EXAMINATION OF PROXIES.

The actual proceedings of the meeting were opened by the collection of names of stockholders present personally, and then Mr. Cromwell, who, to all intents and purposes, was the presiding officer, declared the three inspectors would receive the proxies in an adjoining room. He also moved that the meeting take an adjournment until 3:30 in the afternoon. The motion was adopted.

Immediately after President Harahan had called the meeting to order, at 3:45 p.m., Mr. Cromwell arose and said:

"I am informed by the members of the Committee on Proxies that they have been unable to finish thei work, and are not prepared to report for several hours. I, therefore, move that an adjournmnt be taken until 8:30 tonight."

Instantly, James Patten was on his feet. Mr. Patten is a large man whose appearance and manner suggest that he is entirely capable of caring for himself in any kind of a fight. He objected strongly to the adjournment, saying:

"I move to amend the motion by making the hour 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. There are many stockholders who live outside the city, and for whom it is inconvenient to attend a night meeting. I want to transact the business of this meeting, and I intend to do so, but I want to sleep tonight," he said.

PATTEN WINS POINT.

Mr. Cromwell arose, courteous in the extreme. "I would call the attention of the stockholders," he said, "to the fact that this is a business meeting for the conduct of important affairs. I regret if any stockholders should be put to inconvenience, but this is a case where we should attend to business without considering our comfort too closely. I, therefore, insist upon the adoption of my motion."

"I desire," said Mr. Patten, with an aggressive manner and in warlike tone, "to call the attention of the meeting to the fact that when the night session is over the lawyers can take a cab and reach their homes in five minutes, while the stockholders who live out of town cannot do it without taking a much longer time. This meeting is a meeting of Illinois Central stockholders, and is being run by the stockholders and not for the convenience of a few attorneys from New York City. I insist upon my amendment, and ask that a vote be taken."

Mr. Cromwell called for the ayes and noes. The chorus of "ayes" was so strong that he did not insist upon a vote on the negative side, saying with a smile: "I guess that vote is sufficiently emphatic to satisfy even a lawyer. The meeting is adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning."

TO ELECT FOUR DIRECTORS.

Four directors are to be elected at the meeting tomorrow to succeed Stuyvesant Fish, E. H. Harriman and John Jacob Astor, whose terms expire ,and who are candidates for re-election and to fill the vacancy caused by the death of C. B. Welling.

The outstanding stock of the Illinois Central is 950,400 shares, of this amount it is estimated that 100,000 shares will not be represented and 286,731 shares will not count in the election, in view of the order issued yesterday by Judge Ball.

This leaves a total of 563,669 shares which will, according to statements of the attorneys, not be far from the maximum number of shares voted.

WOMEN WITH FISH.

All of the women stockholders of the Illinois Central are with Fish in this fight. Unfortunately for the latter, the total of such holdings is limited, with the striking exception of the Four Hundred in New York.

The society leaders in the East made out their proxies in favor of Fish. The tact, strategy and diplomacy of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish were plainly seen here. Her influence has gone so far as to have caused a division in the household of some of the directors. A notable instance is that of Mrs. "Jack" Astor. This beautiful and fascinating woman, who is as clever in finance as in the social sphere, gave the vote of her stock to Fish, notwithstanding that her husband is a stanch Harriman director.

The amount of her holdings was not vouchsafed at the secretary's office, but from an eastern source it was

FIGHT FOR PROXIES STILL CONTINUES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After an all-day skirmish between the warring factions for the control of the Illinois Central, it is the general belief that E. H. Harriman has the whip hand and will be able to oust Stuyvesant Fish and name the four new directors.

At dark both sides agreed to a truce, but both sides are fighting secretly during the night. It's a struggle for proxies. Even while the judges of credentials labored, the silent, stealthy battle for advantage raged all around. Fish's lieutenants were everywhere seeking revocations of proxies held by the Harriman crowd. They succeeded in bringing in a number, just how many they would not say. Harriman scouts came and went in cabs and kept the telephone wires sizzling with negotiations for revocations of proxies held by the Fish crowd.

Revocation has been piled on revocation. At a late hour the indications were that this sort of warfare would be waged throughout the night and that final proxies would be pouring in upon the committee right up to the hour of its report at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is estimated that there were over 20,000 duplicate or otherwise contested proxies before the committee, while it is estimated that 50,000 votes have changed sides within the last few days.

COPPER WAR.

HEINZE MAKING FIGHT OF LIFE.

COLLAPSE IN UNITED COPPERS SEVERE BLOW TO HIM.

Young Millionaire Engineer Engaged in Crucial Contest With the Amalgamated Interests With Whom He Effected a Compromise, Two Years Ago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] F. Augustus Heinze is making the fight of his life, not merely against the Amalgamated interests, but against the world. This millionaire engineer, who has beaten the Anaconda people to a standstill and loaded his ...shoulders with a big stride, if ...reports are to be credited, is going under the load.

The collapse in United Copper stocks today was regarded as a severe blow to Heinze, who has long been in the public eye in connection with the fight which he conducted in the mining camps of Montana, first against Marcus Daly and then against the Amalgamated Copper interests, which were formed by a combination of Daly and Henry H. Rogers and his friends.

Heinze's contest with the Amalgamated was social, political and financial, but finally, in February, 1906, a compromise was reached and litigation ended.

It is believed that Heinze has lost heavily in the last few weeks and that the slump of United Copper from 59 yesterday to 15 today, a drop of 44 points, has brought about a crisis in his affairs from which he will have difficulty in escaping with any of his fortune.

Heinze's corner in United Copper, so badly shattered Tuesday, collapsed utterly today. Gross and Kleeberg, the stock exchange house, which, except the firm of Otto Heinze and Company, has been most active in United Copper, failed. The failure is due to the fact that the firm bought United Copper for the Heinze people, who refused to receive it.

Rumors of troubles were rife all day. On account of the demoralization in United Copper and other Heinze securities on the curb, this was communicated to the Stock Exchange. The market sold off more sharply than on any other previous day since the break in August stocks generally recorded new low averages for the year.

F. Augustus Heinze insisted he had nothing to do with the ill-fated corner in United Copper. He is not a member of Otto Heinze and Company, which is interested in the corner.

Otto and his associates in the manipulation of the corner became impressed last Saturday with the idea that many market operators had sold the stock short, for it declined more than eight points on Saturday, apparently under bear pressure. They determined to make a sharp drive on the shorts and on Monday bid up the price to 60 and were successful in forcing many shorts to cover. Encouraged by this success, they determined to execute, Tuesday, a brilliant coup.

Twenty Stock Exchange houses were carrying United Copper stock at the direction of the managers of the corner. It was decided to serve notice on these to deliver their stock at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The managers of the corner thought they would find many of these houses bare of stock, because it had been loaned to traders short of the market. Every one of the twenty brokers produced the stock. Hence the collapse.

UNITED COPPERS' TERRIFIC SLUMP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Excited trading on the curb stock market today attended a sharp decline in the price of stock of the United Copper Company, controlling several Montana properties. The common stock of that company had declined yesterday from $59 to $36 per share, following the announcement that the transfer agent of the company would refuse to transfer a block of 16,930 shares of stock, because, he charged, it had been sold in violation of the rights of persons having interest in it.

The common stock opened at $25 per share on the curb today, and went off to $15. The preferred stock was sold down to $24.

Buyers insisted upon having guarantees that the tranfer would be recorded.

STOCKHOLDERS FEAR CUT IN DIVIDENDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Inability to break the deadlock in the electrolytic copper market has aroused the fear among stockholders of the Amalgamated Copper Company of an even more severe cut in the dividend than has been feared up to the present time.

Continued liquidation in Amalgamated copper stock carried the price today to the lowest yet reached this year, and below the low limit of any year since 1904, when Amalgamated sold as low as 43¼, paying dividends at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum.

It cannot be learned that any relation exists between the renewed liquidation in Amalgamated at the Stock Exchange and the demoralization in United Copper stocks on the curb, although it is generally believed that the Henize interests, which dominate United Copper, have frequently operated in the stock of the corporation which they fought for so many years.

In copper circles, the opinion is expressed that the condition of the industry is a sufficient excuse for the existing depression in the market for copper stocks.

MILLION DOLLARS NEEDED.

Congress Will Be Asked for That Sum to Enforce New Pure Food and Drugs Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congress, at its approaching session, will be asked to appropriate $1,000,000 to enforce the pure food and drugs act.

After years of hard work and patience, the pure food law finally was placed on the statute books. It becomes necessary immediately to provide machinery for its enforcement.

"We have, I think," said Mr. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, "in the neighborhood of $450,000 available to carry on the pure food work, but it already has been demonstrated that this sum will not be sufficient to meet the needs.

"We expect to ask Congress to give us an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the next year."

ELABORATE PLANS MADE TO FIGHT SUIT TO DISSOLVE.

Government Concludes Taking of Testimony, Declaring Much Has Been Left for Later Developments. William G. Rockefeller Summoned. Trust's Testimony Unknown.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Council for the Standard Oil Company have prepared an elaborate defense in the government's suit for dissolving the oil combine, which they say will be developed in its entirety.

"The government's attorneys have completed [illegible] They ...they had not sought to adduce testimony on cross-examination of officials and employés of the so-called oil trust which would refute the allegations in the Federal complaint, but had deferred in bringing out much evidence until later, when it could be produced continuously and in bulk.

No intimation was given of the nature of the testimony which counsel for the trust would bring out.

A telegram was sent to William G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, last night, by counsel of the Standard, stating that the government desired him as a witness before the adjournment is taken for a month on next Friday.

Frank B. Kellogg counsel for the government, spent the entire day in placing on the record statements submitted by several witnesses showing the profits made by the Standard in the different localities of the company.

Statements were produced showing that the Standard not only secured information concerning competitive shipments in the United States, but also in foreign countries.

Howard Bayne, an officer of the Securities Oil Company of Texas, was called as a witness today to tell about the ownership of the Securities company, which Government Counsel Kellogg said he believed is controlled by the Standard Oil Company.

The witness said that all the stock of the company except three shares was owned up to two years ago by the London Commercial Trading Investment Company.

Bayne said he knew nothing concerning the organization of the Securities company, but that it was selling its oil supply to subsidiary companies of the Standard.

He said he knew nothing about the London Commercial Company, which had placed about $4,000,000 in the Securities plant in Beaumont, Tex. The company did not market oil to the consumer, as this was forbidden by its charter, but sold to the refineries.

Asked why the company did not amend its charter and sell to the consumers, Bayne said the Securties was quite satisfied with its returns.

OIL COMPANY SELLS OUT AND QUITS TEXAS.

HOUSTON (Tex.) Oct. 16.—The Consumers' Oil Company, reported from Austin as having withdrawn from Texas only nominally, it is said, really did so. Its six mills in Texas and Arkansas, three in each State, were sold to Louis C. Ehle of Chicago.

The mills are located at Houston, Waco and Greenville, Tex., and Little Rock, Forest City and Pine Bluff, Ark.

Patrolman Lane alone prevented a tragedy, the argument becoming so spirited, he says.

ROYAL PENANCE.

PRINCE IN DISGRACE.

Kaiser Punishes His Son and Heir.

Frederick William Relieved from Court and Military Duties.

Works on a Stool from Morn to Night in the Interior Department.

Rumored That Humiliation Is Due to Scandal in the Royal Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick William, Crown Prince of Germany, has been relieved from court and military duties and set to work in the Ministry of the Interior and is sitting on a stool from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the evening like any other clerk. He will occupy his stool for a year, in order to familiarize himself with the practical details of government.

Is this a stool of penitence? Has the Crown Prince again incurred the displeasure of his royal father and come in for a long delayed measure of discipline? Those who know the Kaiser's court and the Kaiser's methods aver that this is the case.

LIKING FOR AMERICAN GIRLS.

The episodes of the various American girls are the most interesting records of the Prince as a man. So fearful was the Kaiser of the American girl peril that he changed the programme of princely education by cutting off the trip to America.

The Prince, while on a visit to England, gave an imperial heirloom, a ring, to Miss Gladys Deacon, presumably as an accompaniment to the less tangible gift of his affections.

Then there was a lovely romance about Miss Geraldine Farrar, the American opera singer, which seemed to have [illegible]

The American girl's reign in the Prince's heart was also continued in Russia, where Miss Wakefield of Chicago, who was visiting at the American Embassy, seemed to be more attractive than the Russian Grand Duchesses in the eyes of Germany's future ruler.

Little was heard of the Prince for a while except that he at last satisfied his father's expectations by becoming the father of another Prince.

ROUND TABLE SCANDAL.

This exemplary conduct subsequently was overshadowed by certain rumors of a court scandal, a club, a "round table" of which the Prince was a member. This scandal has stirred Germany and the entire continent and aroused the Kaiser's deepest ire.

In is inferred that the sentence to the stool in the office is the Kaiser's idea of discipline for this latest misstep.

WANTED TO BE ASSAYED.

Thought He Was a Gold Nugget, but Hospital Physicians' Verdict Was "Paresis."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Not so fast, gentle stranger," said a seedy individual, grabbing the arm of Dr. Gregory as he was leaving the psychopathic ward at Bellevue this afternoon.

"Haven't time to talk now, old chap," replied the doctor.

"Why so impulsive, friend?" queried the visitor. "Perhaps you'll be interested when I tell you I'm worth my weight in gold nuggets. Some years ago a famous chemist gave me a powerful drug. Imagine my surprise when I found it was turning me into gold.

"Show me the assayer's office and I'll release you," continued the man. "I want to find out just what I'm worth."

"Come on with me and I'll assay you," said Dr. Gregory. The man of metal was led away to the observation ward. He said he was Walter Jordan, 56 years old. General paresis was the verdict.

REMARKABLE.

PET MAGILL'S LETTERS MADE PUBLIC AT LAST.

Wife Fred Magill and His Bride Are Accused of Murdering Blamed His Relatives and Headaches for Her Suicide—Trial Nears End.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DECATUR (Ill.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The seven letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Pet Magill, and which were found in the house after her death, were made public today for the first time.

These letters speak of her purpose to commit suicide because of her "awful headaches," and because of the meddling of certain relatives of her husband, and advise the marriage of Fay Graham to Fred H. Magill. The State contends that these letters are forgeries.

While the letters were presented to many witnesses for the defense yesterday afternoon, and were identified as being in the handwriting of Mrs. Pet Magill, they were not formally offered in evidence until today.

Among those who identified the letters as being authentic were Marguerite Magill, the dead woman's daughter, and others who were her lifelong friends. Miss Emma Boyer of Decatur, who was a schoolmate of Pet Magill, and who regularly corresponded with her, was positive that the letters were genuine.

MRS. GRAHAM ON STAND.

Mrs. Rosa Graham, mother of Mrs. Fay Graham Magill, went on the witness stand this morning in the trial of Fred and Fay E. Graham Magill, charged with the death of Mrs. Pet Gandy Magill, the first wife of Magill. Mrs. Graham testified that her daughter, Fay had always been like a sister to Mrs. Pet Magill, and their relations had always been of the most cordial character.

She said that Mrs. Magill had made Fay promise that in case anything happened to her Fay would take care of Marguerite Magill, Mrs. Magill's daughter, who was Fay's chum. Fay had so promised, and the night of Mrs. Magill's death, Fay, having returned home from the Magill house at 10:30 p.m., Marguerite called Fay up by telephone and said: "Mamma wants me to tell you not to forget your promise."

The defense closed its evidence this afternoon. Rebuttal and arguments are expected to take all of Thursday. A verdict will not be given before Friday.

The state asserts it is ready to discredit the identification of the letters alleged to have been left by Mrs. Pet Magill.

These letters have been matters of wonder and speculation all over the country for months, but have been carefully guarded. Efforts have been made to rewrite them from memory, but this is the first time that they have actually appeared verbatim in print.

The following note was found pinned to Pet Magill's gown after the finding of her body:

"Fred: I have used chloroform or strychnine. I want you to know that the cause of this act of mine is. [Here the writer mentions two relatives of Magill.] From their slanderous tongues they have tried to cause us trouble ever since you and I were married, and I can't stand their butting-in any longer. Look in the bottom drawer of your chiffonier in the right-hand corner, and you will find three private letters to you and Babe and Fay, explaining all. You have been good to me, Fred, and I love you dearly, but I must go for I can't stand it any longer. Good-by. Pet G. Magill. Please dress me in my white wool. Ida made. Let Babe have black silk."

LETTER TO DAUGHTER.

The letters were found in the chiffonier drawer, as indicated. Some of them were lengthy. One was addressed to Mrs. Magill's daughter, Marguerite. It said, in part:

"Dear Marguerite: I don't want you to feel one bit bad about this, as you know how unpleasant [same relatives mentioned] have always made it for me. Be good to papa, and don't run around and leave him, and stick to him through thick and thin. He will stick to you, dear. Fay will help, and show you at any or all times. Now do this, please. Now, Babe, you know how much I think of Fay, and she has certainly been a dear, good friend of ours, so when you want any advice, go to Fay, for I know she would never tell you wrong. Don't let the scandalous tongues of Nana or Annie Nell turn you against Fay. She has been as true a friend to you as your father or I."

LETTER TO FAY GRAHAM.

There was a letter to Fay Graham, the girl who is blamed by Decatur people for causing all the trouble in the Magill household, and who married Fred Magill, only to be arrested later charged with being accessory to the murder of Pet Magill. Mrs. Magill's letter to Fay Graham reads, in part:

"Dear Fay: When you receive this I perhaps will be in the great beyond, but in order to save you from the scandalous tongues of (some people mentioned,) I want them and everybody else to know that you have been a dear, good friend to me, and all of us, and that the stories they have been hatching up are lies, which they have always hatched up against any friend that I ever had. They have even found fault if Gertie or Grace Day ever stayed all night, or ate a meal with us. Now, Fay, I want you to know right here the lies (some people) have told about your running after Fred, or Fred after you, are untrue, and as to his meeting you out any place, it is a lie, for I always knew where to find Fred on a minute's notice. It's only because you are a friend of mine and Marguerite that they wish to injure your character. For (one of them) has always hated me like poison. Had I been a thief I probably would have been placed high on a pedestal for all hypocrites to pray to, like some of her family. Now, Fay, if their evil tongues start to quack, I want you to publish this in all the papers in the country, not omitting a single word, as I think too much of you to have you slandered by people that have had some shady experiences themselves."

"AWFUL HEADACHES."

Another letter was addressed to both her husband and daughter. In it Mrs. Magill asked their forgiveness for doing what she had done, and added: "I just can't stand my headaches any longer."

In still another letter addressed to her husband, she reiterates her faith in him and Fay Graham. In it she says:

"Dear Fred: Don't be surprised at this, as my awful headaches caused it. I cannot stand it any longer, and I cannot and will not take morphine all the time. I presume they will say you are the cause of this (meaning the same relatives and other gossips,) but I cannot stand their scandalous and nagging tongues any longer; they have tried to make it appear that you were in love with Fay or she was with you. She is one of Babe's best and truest friends she ever had, and a girl I think more of than all of your relation, I mean Fay Graham. I hereby brand that as a falsehood, as I know there has never been anything out of the way, and so do you, Marguerite. I feel sorry that Fay has to have such scandalous tongues wagging lies about her, for she does not deserve such lies told of her, for she is a straight, true girl, and as good a friend as you, I or Marguerite ever had. If they persist in still talking about her, stop it in one way or another, for I love Fay Graham dearly. Fred (a certain woman,) has driven me nearly crazy by her constant nagging and watching this house to see who comes and goes, and has always found fault with everything I've done or had since I married you. I feel if I am out of the road, for policy's sake, she will treat you different. If I have ever said or done anything to make her feel bad, tell her, if she forgives me, to make it up to you and Marguerite."

The letter asking Fay Graham to marry Magill reads as follows:

"Dear Fay and Babe: When the folks make it too strong for you, Fay, I want you and Fred to take Babe along and you and Fred get married in some other State, and keep it quiet for a year if possible, but after you are married you must tell your mother all about it, and then she won't kick if you stay with Babe occasionally, for she would not want talk now, Babe, stand by Papa and Fay in this, for you know I am going to be happy, and I want them to be. Be good to Babe, Fay, and she will be good to you. This is my last wish for you. Now, regardless of everything, do this for me, with love and best wishes. PET M."

Startling Rumor of Plan on Part of Republic to Buy Spanish Interests in Morocco.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TANGIER, Oct. 14.—A startling report which cannot be verified here, is in circulation to the effect that France, with the assistance of Abdul Aziz, intends making Spain a monetary offer for all of her interests in Morocco, notably Melilla and Ceuta, which points, if the deal is made, will be the base of operations against the pretender to the throne of Morocco.

PRICES GOING HIGHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fresh on the heels of the news from St. Louis that beer is going to be higher, a report comes from California that prunes are to cost more and with the market report of dollar wheat, comes other news which may be counted as pretty close to the last straw for the long-suffering consumer. Whisky is to cost a cent more a gallon in wholesale lots, the highest price reached since the Civil War. The increase is due to the high price of corn and malt.

GEORGE KUHL DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George H. Kuhl, better known in the racing world as "Harry" Kuhl, died at his mother's home in Pueblo, Colo., last night after a long illness. He was well known to followers of the turf because of his long connection officially with the race-tracks of Chicago, New Orleans, Kansas City and San Francisco.

TO LEND APLOMB.

DUCHESS WILL ATTEND HER COUSIN'S WEDDING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is now understood that Miss Gladys Vanderbilt's wedding to Count Szechenyi will take place on December 4. A series of gay fetes, receptions and entertainments will precede the nuptials.

The Duchess of Marlborough, whose departure with Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt from abroad for New York was announced today, will be here for all the "doings," and the wedding of her young cousin, Gladys.

Reports of family dissensions, because of the match, find no official confirmation here. It is stated that several members of the family have expressed regret that Miss Gladys did not find an American for a husband, but they have made no protest, and shown no opposition to the wedding as planned.

HARD EARTHQUAKE IN EAST.

Worst Temblor Since San Francisco Disaster Recorded in Albany and Elsewhere.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 16.—An earthquake of great proportions in a direction and at a distance not yet identified began to record itself about 9 o'clock a.m., today on the seismograph at the State Museum. At 10:15 o'clock a.m., the movement was still in progress. It diminished.

The vibrations were traceable for an hour. The record shows that the disturbance originated about 3000 miles from Albany and the vibrations of one of the instruments were so violent as to exceed its limit for registering.

The direction of the transmission cannot be stated with certainty, though from a comparison of the two records received, the center of the disturbance would seem to have been to the South or Southwest.

The official bulletin says:

"The only disturbance comparable in violence that has been recorded this year is the earthquake of April 14, which was so destructively felt in Mexico. The present one may very well mark a continuation of the movements that have been under way for some time in the Cordilleran and Caribbean zones, to which may be traced also the earthquakes of San Francisco, Valparaiso and Jamaica."

WASHINGTON'S RECORD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—An earthquake of great violence was recorded by the seismograph at the weather bureau today. The strong motion of the disturbance began shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, and subsided about six minutes later, the approximate time as first shown by the government instruments being from 9:14 to 9:20 o'clock.

TEMBLOR AT BALTIMORE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—The seismograph at Johns Hopkins University shows that the earthquake was the strongest recorded by that instrument since the San Francisco shock.

The record shows that the disturbance began a few minutes past 9 o'clock, and continued for two hours. The most violent tremor was at 9:13 o'clock, and during the eleven minutes following, the needle of the seismograph was shaken entirely off the recording cylinder.

Prof. Reid said that the record of the shock was about of the same intensity as the San Francisco earthquake.

St. Louis Police Order Man Who Married Alleged Niece of Brewer Busch, Put in Jail.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Oct. 16.—Following telegraphic instructions from St. Louis to Chief of Police Bentz, Daniel B. Brennen, who secretly married Miss Lilly Ammerman, said to be a niece of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer, in St. Louis, last Monday night, was arrested here today and will be held pending the arrival of his father, who, it is alleged, ordered the arrest.

The reason for the arrest is not known. The young couple arrived here yesterday morning and had intended to remain a few days and resume their journey to Mexico City.

Seoul Gaily Decorated and Illuminated for Yoshihito, Heir to Throne of Japan.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, Oct. 16.—Elaborate preparations have been made for the reception of the Crown Prince of Japan, Yoshihito, who was expected to arrive today at Chemulpo. He will be welcomed by the Emperor and Crown Prince of Korea, Prince Ito, the Japanese Resident-General here, the Korean Cabinet and all the high military and civil officials.

The city has been profusely decorated in honor of the visitor, and will be illuminated nightly during his stay.

CHARGES OF GRAFT.

Officials of Commercial Telegraphers' Union Are Now Warring Among Themselves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Opponents of President Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union insist he is planning to apply for an injunction tomorrow to prevent the executive board from ousting him. Small denies that he has applied for an injunction, but says he is still president, and the board has not the right to depose him, and will not be able to depose him.

This is the status tonight, with officials of the union engaged in a bitter warfare among themselves. Meanwhile, there are reports that desertions are becoming more pronounced as operators are disgusted with the action of the leadres and disappointed over lack of funds.

Charges of graft and falsehood were flying thick and fast tonight, and it is difficult to discover just who is talking with authority, or what there is in the charges. Secretary Russell says at the Milwaukee meeting lease wire operators will be called out. Many of the leased wire operators say they will not go out.

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS.

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct. 16.—More than 1000 delegates to the twenty-seventh annual session of the Farmers' National Congress, which opens here tomorrow, arrived today, and 1000 more will arrive before the convention is called to order. The California delegation will arrive early tomorrow morning. A carload of eighty-pound watermelons, to be cut at the State Fair Grounds, and an informal smoker in the evening, are among the first day's entertainment features.

By an unanimous vote the Illinois State Senate adopted yesterday a joint resolution providing for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment for a $20,000,000 bond issue to proceed with the deep waterway project.

HARRIMAN-FISH FIGHT.

wired that "Mrs. Jack" owns 200 shares.

The outcome was not unexpected in that respect. The Harrimans' accession to the high modish world is comparatively recent, and the warfare there has been naturally carried on to their disadvantage. However, the male members all sided with Harriman, and these proved for more effective in a practical way than the sentimental espousal of the Fish cause by the women.

The Illinois Central employés in every instance sided with the management. Here, again, the number of holders is large, but the total very small.

FIST FIGHT IS NARROWLY AVERTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sensational incidents were by no means lacking on the eve of the big battle. At a meeting of the directors held in the office of President Harahan at 10 o'clock this morning, Fish and Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, threatened to reënact the famous scene in New York last August, when Mr. Harahan called Mr. Fish a liar and was knocked down for it.

Mr. Fish and Mr. Peabody, who has been called "the most dignified thing in New York, except the Statue of Liberty," had a disagreement over some matters acted upon at a former meeting of directors.

In the most parliamentary language, it is reported, Mr. Peabody impugned the veracity of Mr. Fish.

"You cannot say anything like that to me," cried Mr. Fish, jumping to his feet and striding toward Mr. Peabody, who was sitting on the opposite side of a big table.

Mr. Peabody sat still and everybody else held his breath for a moment. Mr. Fish waited for a moment then, seeing that Mr. Peabody did not intend to say anything more of a belligerent nature, started from the room.

Mr. Peabody arose and quietly began a statement to the effect that he was sorry if in the heat of debate he had said anything to wound the feelings of Mr. Fish.

His words failed to reach Mr. Fish, and another director called his attention to the fact that Mr. Peabody was expressing sorrow over the incident.

"It's of no interest to me what Mr. Peabody is sorry about," declared Mr. Fish to the interposing director, and he strode out of the room, closing the door not very softly behind him.

That was not the only cause of strife in the meeting, although it was the nearest approach to a physical fight. Mr. Fish had called the attention of the directors to the fact that perpetual proxies for about 4000 shares of stock had been given to him and were being withheld from him. When Mr. Fish retired from the presidency of the Illinois Central he left these proxies in the custody of W. G. Bruen, assistant secretary of the company. Last Tuesday Mr. Fish went to him and demanded the proxies. Mr. Bruen declared that they were actually in possession of President Harahan. Mr. Fish went to President Harahan's office but was told he was not in.

L. C. Fritch, assistant to the president, came out and from him Mr. Fish demanded the proxies.

"I cannot give them to you until I consult Mr. Harahan," said Mr. Fritch.

"Consult Harahan?" repeated Mr. Fish. "Consult h——. Those proxies are my personal property and I demand them from you as an officer of the Illinois Central Company."

Mr. Fritch was firm in his refusal to give up the proxies without President Harahan's order and Mr. Fish left.

Today Mr. Fish told the facts to the directors and demanded that they order the proxies turned over to him, declaring that he would take legal measures if necessary, to get them. Mr. Fish got the 4000 proxies.

TIN PLANT TO CLOSE UP.

Lack of Orders Leads Big Sharon Mill Company to Suspend Operations Indefinitely.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHARON (Pa.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is officially announced that the Sharon tin-plate mill of the American Sheet and Tin-Plate Company will close down within the next few days for an indefinite period, throwing about two thousand men out of employment. The reason assigned is want of orders.

The company has all the tin in stock sold, and this will be shipped in accordance with the instructions of the buyers.

At the present time, the Sharon plant is the only large one of the company that is being operated. The Shenango and Greer plants, containing fifty mills, are both idle at New Castle and the report that the former is to be started November 1 is not here credited.

PET MAGILL'S LETTERS MADE PUBLIC AT LAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DECATUR (Ill.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The seven letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Pet Magill, and which were found in the house after her death, were made public today for the first time.

These letters speak of her purpose to commit suicide because of her "awful headaches," and because of the meddling of certain relatives of her husband, and advise the marriage of Fay Graham to Fred H. Magill. The State contends that these letters are forgeries.

While the letters were presented to many witnesses for the defense yesterday afternoon, and were identified as being in the handwriting of Mrs. Pet Magill, they were not formally offered in evidence until today.

Among those who identified the letters as being authentic were Marguerite Magill, the dead woman's daughter, and others who were her lifelong friends. Miss Emma Boyer of Decatur, who was a schoolmate of Pet Magill, and who regularly corresponded with her, was positive that the letters were genuine.

MRS. GRAHAM ON STAND.

Mrs. Rosa Graham, mother of Mrs. Fay Graham Magill, went on the witness stand this morning in the trial of Fred and Fay E. Graham Magill, charged with the death of Mrs. Pet Gandy Magill, the first wife of Magill. Mrs. Graham testified that her daughter, Fay had always been like a sister to Mrs. Pet Magill, and their relations had always been of the most cordial character.

She said that Mrs. Magill had made Fay promise that in case anything happened to her Fay would take care of Marguerite Magill, Mrs. Magill's daughter, who was Fay's chum. Fay had so promised, and the night of Mrs. Magill's death, Fay, having returned home from the Magill house at 10:30 p.m., Marguerite called Fay up by telephone and said: "Mamma wants me to tell you not to forget your promise."

The defense closed its evidence this afternoon. Rebuttal and arguments are expected to take all of Thursday. A verdict will not be given before Friday.

The state asserts it is ready to discredit the identification of the letters alleged to have been left by Mrs. Pet Magill.

These letters have been matters of wonder and speculation all over the country for months, but have been carefully guarded. Efforts have been made to rewrite them from memory, but this is the first time that they have actually appeared verbatim in print.

The following note was found pinned to Pet Magill's gown after the finding of her body:

"Fred: I have used chloroform or strychnine. I want you to know that the cause of this act of mine is. [Here the writer mentions two relatives of Magill.] From their slanderous tongues they have tried to cause us trouble ever since you and I were married, and I can't stand their butting-in any longer. Drawer in the bottom drawer of your chiffonier, in the right-hand corner, and you will find three private letters to you and Babe and Fay, explaining all. You have been good to me, Fred, and I love you dearly, but I must go for I can't stand it any longer. Good-by. Pet G. Magill. Please dress me in my white wool, Ida made. Let Babe have black silk."

LETTER TO DAUGHTER.

The letters were found in the chiffonier drawer, as indicated. Some of them were lengthy. One was addressed to Mrs. Magill's daughter, Marguerite. It said, in part:

"Dear Marguerite: I don't want you to feel one bit bad about this, as you know how unpleasant [same relatives mentioned] have always made it for me. Be good to papa, and don't run around and leave him, and stick to him through thick and thin. He will stick to you, dear. Fay will help, and show you at any or all times. Now do this, please. Now, Babe, you know how much I think of Fay, and she has certainly been a dear, good friend of ours, so when you want any advice, go to Fay, for I know she would never tell you wrong. Don't let the scandalous tongues of Nana or Anne Neil turn you against Fay. She has been as true a friend to you as your father or I."

LETTER TO FAY GRAHAM.

There was a letter to Fay Graham, the girl who is blamed by Decatur people for causing all the trouble in the Magill household, and who married Fred Magill, only to be arrested later charged with being accessory to the murder of Pet Magill. Mrs. Magill's letter to Fay Graham reads, in part:

"Dear Fay: When you receive this I perhaps will be in the great beyond, but in order to save you from the scandalous tongues of (some people mentioned,) I want them and everybody else to know that you have been a dear, good friend to me, and all of us, and that the stories they have been hatching up are lies, which they have always hatched up against any friend that I ever had. They have even found fault if Gertie or Grace Day ever stayed all night, or ate a meal with us. Now, Fay, I want you to know right here the lies (some people) have told about your running after Fred, or Fred after you, are untrue, and as to his meeting you out any place, it is a lie, for I always knew where to find Fred on a minute's notice. It's only because you are a friend of mine and Marguerite that they wish to injure your character. For (one of them) has always hated me like poison. Had I been a thief I probably would have been placed high on a pedestal for all hypocrites to pray to, like some of her family. Now, Fay, if their evil tongues start to quack, I want you to publish this in all the papers in the country, not omitting a single word, as I think too much of you to have you slandered by people that have had some shady experiences themselves."

"AWFUL HEADACHES."

Another letter was addressed to both her husband and daughter. In it Mrs. Magill asked their forgiveness for doing what she had done, and added: "I just can't stand my headaches any longer."

In still another letter addressed to her husband, she reiterates her faith in him and Fay Graham. In it she says:

"Dear Fred: Don't be surprised at this, as my awful headaches caused it. I cannot stand it any longer, and I cannot and will not take morphine all the time. I presume they will say you are the cause of this (meaning the same relatives and other gossips,) but I cannot stand their scandalous and nagging tongues any longer; they have tried to make it appear that you were in love with Fay or she was with you. She is one of Babe's best and truest friends she ever had, and a girl I think more of than all of your relation, I mean Fay Graham. I hereby brand that as a falsehood, as I know there has never been anything out of the way, and so do you, Marguerite. I feel sorry that Fay has to have such scandalous tongues wagging lies about her, for she does not deserve such lies told of her, for she is a straight, true girl, and as good a friend as you, I or Marguerite ever had. If they persist in still talking about her, stop it in one way or another, for I love Fay Graham dearly. Fred (a certain woman,) has driven me nearly crazy by her constant nagging and watching this house to see who comes and goes, and has always found fault with everything I've done or had since I married you. I feel if I am out of the road, for policy's sake, she will treat you different. If I have ever said or done anything to make her feel bad, tell her, if she forgives me, to make it up to you and Marguerite."

The letter asking Fay Graham to marry Magill reads as follows:

"Dear Fay and Babe: When the folks make it too strong for you, Fay, I want you and Fred to take Babe along and you and Fred get married in some other State, and keep it quiet for a year if possible, but after you are married you must tell your mother all about it, and then she won't kick if you stay with Babe occasionally, for she would not want talk now. Babe, stand by Papa and Fay in this, for you know I am going to be happy, and I want them to be. Be good to Babe, Fay, and she will be good to you. This is my last wish for you. Now, regardless of everything, do this for me, with love and best wishes. PET M."

Startling Rumor of Plan on Part of Republic to Buy Spanish Interests in Morocco.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TANGIER, Oct. 14.—A startling report which cannot be verified here, is in circulation to the effect that France, with the assistance of Abdul Aziz, intends making Spain a monetary offer for all of her interests in Morocco, notably Melilla and Ceuta, which points, if the deal is made, will be the base of operations against the pretender to the throne of Morocco.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Under the spell of a balmy southwest wind, the weather situation was completely reversed today. Clouds, rain and mist disappeared, being replaced by a soft Indian summer haze and the mercury responding to the general impulse achieved a high mark of 68 deg. The minimum was 52 deg. PRICES GOING HIGHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fresh on the heels of the news from St. Louis that beer is going to be higher, a report comes from California that prunes are to cost more and with the market report of dollar wheat, comes other news which may be counted as pretty close to the last straw for the long-suffering consumer. Whisky is to cost a cent more a gallon in wholesale lots, the highest price reached since the Civil War. The increase is due to the high price of corn and malt.

GEORGE KUHL DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George H. Kuhl, better known in the racing world as "Harry" Kuhl, died at his mother's home in Pueblo, Colo., last night after a long illness. He was well known to followers of the turf because of his long connection officially with the race-tracks of Chicago, New Orleans, Kansas City and San Francisco.

TO LEND APLOMB.

DUCHESS WILL ATTEND HER COUSIN'S WEDDING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is now understood that Miss Gladys Vanderbilt's wedding to Count Szechenyi will take place on December 4. A series of gay fetes, receptions and entertainments will precede the nuptials.

The Duchess of Marlborough, whose departure with Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt from abroad for New York was announced today, will be here for all the "doings," and the wedding of her young cousin, Gladys.

Reports of family dissensions, because of the match, find no official confirmation here. It is stated that several members of the family have expressed regret that Miss Gladys did not find an American for a husband, but they have made no protest, and shown no opposition to the wedding as planned.

HARD EARTHQUAKE IN EAST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 16.—An earthquake of great proportions in a direction and at a distance not yet identified began to record itself about 9 o'clock a.m., today on the seismograph at the State Museum. At 10:15 o'clock a.m., the movement was still in progress, undiminished.

The vibrations were traceable for an hour. The record shows that the disturbance originated about 3000 miles from Albany and the vibrations of one of the instruments were so violent as to exceed its limit for registering.

The direction of the transmission cannot be stated with certainty, though from a comparison of the two records received, the center of the disturbance would seem to have been to the South or Southwest.

The official bulletin says:

"The only disturbance comparable in violence that has been recorded this year is the earthquake of April 14, which was so destructively felt in Mexico. The present one may very well mark a continuation of the movements that have been under way for some time in the Cordilleran and Caribbean zones, to which may be traced also the earthquakes of San Francisco, Valparaiso and Jamaica."

WASHINGTON'S RECORD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—An earthquake of great violence was recorded by the seismograph at the weather bureau today. The strong motion of the disturbance began shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, and subsided about six minutes later, the approximate time as first shown by the government instruments being from 9:14 to 9:20 o'clock.

TEMBLOR AT BALTIMORE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—The seismograph at Johns Hopkins University shows that the earthquake was the strongest recorded by that instrument since the San Francisco shock.

The record shows that the disturbance began a few minutes past 9 o'clock, and continued for two hours. The most violent tremor was at 9:13 o'clock, and during the eleven minutes following, the needle of the seismograph was shaken entirely off the recording cylinder.

Prof. Reid said that the record of the shock was about of the same intensity as the San Francisco earthquake.

BRIDEGROOM ARRESTED.

St. Louis Police Order Man Who Married Alleged Niece of Brewer Busch, Put in Jail.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) Oct. 16.—Following telegraphic instructions from St. Louis to Chief of Police Bentz, Daniel B. Brennen, who secretly married Miss Lilly Ammerman, said to be a niece of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer, in St. Louis, last Monday night, was arrested here today and will be held pending the arrival of his father, who, it is alleged, ordered the arrest.

The reason for the arrest is not known. The young couple arrived here yesterday morning and had intended to remain a few days and resume their journey to Mexico City.

Seoul Gaily Decorated and Illuminated for Yoshihito, Heir to Throne of Japan.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, Oct. 16.—Elaborate preparations have been made for the reception of the Crown Prince of Japan, Yoshihito, who was expected to arrive today at Chemulpo. He will be welcomed by the Emperor and Crown Prince of Korea, Prince Ito, the Japanese Resident-General here, the Korean Cabinet and all the high military and civil officials.

The city has been profusely decorated in honor of the visitor, and will be illuminated nightly during his stay.

CHARGES OF GRAFT.

Officials of Commercial Telegraphers' Union Are Now Warring Among Themselves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Opponents of President Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union insist he is planning to apply for an injunction tomorrow to prevent the executive board from ousting him. Small denies that he has applied for an injunction, but says he still is president, and the board has not the right to depose him, and will not be able to depose him.

This is the status tonight, with officials of the union engaged in a bitter warfare among themselves. Meanwhile, there are reports that desertions are becoming more pronounced as operators are disgusted with the action of the leadres and disappointed over lack of funds.

Charges of graft and falsehood were flying thick and fast tonight, and it is difficult to discover just who is talking with authority, or what there is in the charges. Secretary Russell says at the Milwaukee meeting lease wire operators will be called out. Many of the leased wire operators say they will not go out.

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS.

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct. 16.—More than 1000 delegates to the twenty-seventh annual session of the Farmers' National Congress, which opens here tomorrow, arrived today, and 1000 more will arrive before the convention is called to order. The California delegation will arrive early tomorrow morning. A carload of eighty-pound watermelons, to be cut at the State Fair Grounds, and an informal smoker in the evening, are among the first day's entertainment features.

By an unanimous vote the Illinois State Senate adopted yesterday a joint resolution providing for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment for a $20,000,000 bond issue to proceed with the deep waterway project.

HARRIMAN-FISH FIGHT.

wired that "Mrs. Jack" owns 200 shares.

The outcome was not unexpected in that respect. The Harrimans' accession to the high modish world is comparatively recent, and the warfare there has been naturally carried on to their disadvantage. However, the male members all sided with Harriman, and these proved for more effective in a practical way than the sentimental espousal of the Fish cause by the women.

The Illinois Central employés in every instance sided with the management. Here, again, the number of holders is large, but the total very small.

FIST FIGHT IS NARROWLY AVERTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sensational incidents were by no means lacking on the eve of the big battle. At a meeting of the directors held in the office of President Harahan at 10 o'clock this morning, Fish and Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, threatened to reënact the famous scene in New York last August, when Mr. Harahan called Mr. Fish a liar and was knocked down for it.

Mr. Fish and Mr. Peabody, who has been called "the most dignified thing in New York, except the Statue of Liberty," had a disagreement over some matters acted upon at a former meeting of directors.

In the most parliamentary language, it is reported, Mr. Peabody impugned the veracity of Mr. Fish.

"You cannot say anything like that to me," cried Mr. Fish, jumping to his feet and striding toward Mr. Peabody, who was sitting on the opposite side of a big table.

Mr. Peabody sat still and everybody else held his breath for a moment. Mr. Fish waited for a moment then, seeing that Mr. Peabody did not intend to say anything more of a belligerent nature, started from the room.

Mr. Peabody arose and quietly began a statement to the effect that he was sorry if in the heat of debate he had said anything to wound the feelings of Mr. Fish.

His words failed to reach Mr. Fish, and another director called his attention to the fact that Mr. Peabody was expressing sorrow over the incident.

"It's of no interest to me what Mr. Peabody is sorry about," declared Mr. Fish to the interposing director, and he strode out of the room, closing the door not very softly behind him.

That was not the only cause of strife in the meeting, although it was the nearest approach to a physical fight. Mr. Fish had called the attention of the directors to the fact that perpetual proxies for about 4000 shares of stock had been given to him and were being withheld from him. When Mr. Fish retired from the presidency of the Illinois Central he left these proxies in the custody of W. G. Bruen, assistant secretary of the company. Last Tuesday Mr. Fish went to him and demanded the proxies. Mr. Bruen declared that they were actually in possession of President Harahan. Mr. Fish went to President Harahan's office but was told he was not in.

L. C. Fritch, assistant to the president, came out and from him Mr. Fish demanded the proxies.

"I cannot give them to you until I consult Mr. Harahan," said Mr. Fritch.

"Consult Harahan?" repeated Mr. Fish. "Consult h——. Those proxies are my personal property and I demand them from you as an officer of the Illinois Central Company."

Mr. Fritch was firm in his refusal to give up the proxies without President Harahan's order and Mr. Fish left.

Today Mr. Fish told the facts to the directors and demanded that they order the proxies turned over to him, declaring that he would take legal measures if necessary, to get them. Mr. Fish got the 4000 proxies.

TIN PLANT TO CLOSE UP.

Lack of Orders Leads Big Sharon Mill Company to Suspend Operations Indefinitely.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHARON (Pa.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is officially announced that the Sharon tin-plate mill of the American Sheet and Tin-Plate Company will close down within the next few days for an indefinite period, throwing about two thousand men out of employment. The reason assigned is want of orders.

The company has all the tin in stock sold, and this will be shipped in accordance with the instructions of the buyers.

At the present time, the Sharon plant is the only large one of the company that is being operated. The Shenango and Greer plants, containing fifty mills, are both idle at New Castle and the report that the former is to be started November 1 is not here credited.

MULTNOMAH SUGGESTED.

Native One Hundred Proposes to Change the Name of Portland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Ore.) Oct. 16. [Exclusive Dispatch.] "Multnomah" is the name proposed for Portland by the Native One Hundred.

That the present name is hackneyed and common is the belief of the reformers, who say that nearly every State in the union has a Portland. They want something wholly distinctive and they think they have it in Multnomah, an Indian name that is now applied to the county of which Portland is the metropolis.

It is asserted that the new city might include all of the city of Portland and parts of the county of Multnomah, enlarging the municipality as New York became Greater New York. It is planned to have the city and county of the same name.

The Native One Hundred is the name of an organization which is constantly springing alleged improvements about the city. Just lately the city water supply came under the One Hundred's ban in that the stream that supplies it is named Bull Run. It was then proposed to change the name to Cascade, but the movement lacked support.

INFLAMMATORY SPEECH.

EDITOR FACING LIBEL CHARGE.

SAN JOSE "TIMES" MAN TO BE ARRESTED TODAY.

Congressman Hayes Will Prosecute Him for Declaring That He Burned a Mansion to Collect Insurance Money—Long and Bitter Political Feud Back of It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The climax of a long, bitter political feud will come in the morning, when Charles M. Shortridge, managing editor of the local Morning Times, a politician well known for unique methods, and formerly State Senator from this district, will be arrested on a charge of criminal libel preferred by E. A. Hayes, Congressman from the Fifth District.

The charge grows out of a statement made in a mass meeting, called by Shortridge, at the Redmond Theater last Wednesday evening, when Shortridge, in the course of a speech, accused Hayes of having burned the mansion belonging to E. A. and J. O. Hayes at Edenvale, three years ago, to get the insurance carried on the place.

Hayes is well known for his stand on the Japanese exclusion question, having done work in the last session of Congress toward a strict exclusion of Japanese coolies.

His brother, J. O. Hayes, was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, previous to the last campaign. Shortridge, it is claimed, was kept from the nomination for State Senator at the last State election by Hayes's influence, and since that time he has waged a bitter personal warfare on the Congressman, both through his paper—started a year ago, and through public speeches made throughout the valley.

IMPRISONED.

ACTOR BEST IS IN THE TOILS.

HIS LOS ANGELES BRIDE COMES WEEPING HOMEWARD.

Alleged First Wife of Man Who Married Pretty Daughter of Local Type Foundryman Accuses Him of Bigamy—He Declares the Other Wasn't His Legal Frau.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The honeymoon of S. Best, an actor formerly connected with the Kolb & Dill Company, was rudely nipped in the bud today by detectives who arrested him at the ferryboat, while he was attending to the checking of his trunks to Chicago.

He was locked up pending the arrival of a warrant from Los Angeles, charging him with bigamy.

His bride of ten days, a daughter of C. W. Fleming, manager of the American Type Foundry in Los Angeles, departed in tears with her father on the afternoon train for the south, weeping and vowing undying constancy and devotion for her actor husband.

Today the Chief of Police received a telegram from Los Angeles stating that a warrant had been isused "at the instance of another wife of Best" who resides in that city, charging him with bigamy, and asking that Best be taken into custody, pending the arrival of a constable with the warrant.

Detectives learned at the hotel where Best and his bride had been staying that the couple had left a few moments before for the ferry depot en route to Chicago.

Hurrying away, the detective reached there just in time. Best had procured his tickets, his wife was on the train, and he was securing checks for his baggage.

Detective Goff took charge of Best, while Mrs. Best—tearful and apprehensive, leading a fox terrier—followed her husband and the detectives.

C. W. Fleming, father of the bride, had taken the first train to this city, after ascertaining that a warrant had been issued, and arrived at the hall of justice by a strange coincidence just as the bride and groom were entering the corridor.

A stormy scene followed, in which Fleming applied the epithets of "cur" and "scoundrel" to Best, who assumed a jaunty air.

Fleming and his daughter, who was weeping, had an interview with Capt. Kelly. He said his daughter, Cecile, who is 22 years old, eloped and was married to Best ten days ago in Santa Ana. She was "stage struck," he said, and fell an easy prey to the fascinating manners of Best. He had disapproved of the match, but his objections were futile.

Fleming investigated Best's career and said he had found a woman in Los Angeles who was the fellow's wife. He prevailed upon her to have the warrant issued for Best's arrest for bigamy.

Best, at the city prison, said:

"This is a trumped up charge. I will prove it, too, as soon as the matter comes up in the courts of Los Angeles. I lived with a woman named Anita Thompson for three years, but I never married her. She is in Los Angeles, I believe, and I suppose she has been approached to make these charges. I think that she married a man named Smith after I left her.

"I put her in the show business, and she became a chorus girl. To please her wishes I sent her father a marriage certificate."

Best has played with Kolb & Dill, and for many local theaters. At one time he was stage manager for Rice, Cady & North.

TWO FREIGHT WRECKS.

Seven Cars Smashed in Canyon and Fifteen Others Dash Into "Y" at Colton.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seven loaded freight cars on the Santa Fé were completely wrecked in Box Springs Cañon, near Riverside, this afternoon, by the breaking of a flange, and fifteen other cars ran away at Colton tonight, two being completely demolished, on the Southern Pacific "Y" after a wild dash down grade.

The first wreck was of the Elsinore freight. Passengers on the Elsinore local walked to Highgrove, where they caught a special train for Los Angeles.

The Colton wreck occurred while the freight train crew was switching. Fifteen loaded cars broke loose and entered the Espee "Y" track, tearing it up for a considerable distance.

In neither accident was any person injured, although the property loss will be severe.

OLDER ENTERS SUIT.

Seeks $100,250 Damages from Brown, Wyman and Cohn for "False Imprisonment."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Suit was filed today by Fremont Older against Luther G. Brown, G. A. Wyman and Ben Cohn, alleging false arrest and imprisonment, and demanding $100,250.

The suit grows out of the recent kidnaping of Older, the three defendants having been concerned in that adventure.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Fire at Sunny Vale.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 16.—The Southern Pacific warehouses at Sunny Vale narrowly escaped destruction this afternoon from a fire that started in the Japanese laundry on Murphy avenue, and which, in a brief time, destroyed that building and the Fair store adjoining. The warehouse took fire, but after a desperate struggle the flames were extinguished. The burned buildings were owned by Hellen and Terry Lewis, and the loss is $4000, partly insured.

Decomposed Body Found.

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 16.—The badly-decomposed body of an unknown man, apparently about 40 years old, was found on the marsh near here yesterday by two hunters. Near the body was a bottle containing some unknown liquid. The Coroner is making an investigation.

Arizona Rain Does Good.

PHOENIX, Oct. 16.—A heavy rain fell last night and again this evening, totaling about one inch. It is the first since the summer rains and does much good. There was no damage to the government construction work at Granite Reef or Roosevelt, though damage had been feared.

Schmitz Again in Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Former Mayor Schmitz, with his attorney, Frank Drew, appeared before Judge Dunne this morning at the hour fixed for a decision on the merits of his motion to set aside the two indictments charging him with accepting bribes. Judge Dunne was not prepared to hand down his decision, and on the motion of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Hoff, Cook continued the cases until October 30.

Marysville Saloon Held Up.

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 16. — Two masked men entered the door of Dempsey's saloon, on the corner of Fourth and C streets, opposite the Marysville library, last night at 12 o'clock, covered the bartender, George Wills, and a patron named James Keenan, with revolvers, and compelled them to throw up their hands and line up against the wall. They then robbed the till of $45, took a watch, chain, rings and coin from their victims, after which they disappeared. There is no clew.

MUST "PRODUCE."

Prosecution Threatens Bankrupt Dry Goods Merchants Who Charge Their Losses to Gambling.

The bankrupt firm of Desser & Lifrand, formerly in the dry goods business at No. 4422 Central avenue, must produce goods to the amount of $9879.70, or a cash equivalent, on or before October 24. If the partners fail to make restitution, they may face criminal proceedings.

In a written opinion yesterday, Referee in Bankruptcy Lynn Helm intimates that the bankrupts deliberately attempted to defraud their creditors by the alleged sale of goods to Goldner & Desser, a few days before filing the petition in bankruptcy. The referee said he was not impressed by the excuse that one of the partners had squandered thousands of dollars in gambling at pool rooms.

The referee cited Jacob Desser and Louis Lifrand to appear before him on the appointed day, and show cause why they should not make over to the trustee the goods or money. The partners have sworn at previous examinations that they are unaware of any goods which have been withheld from the creditors. This will make it incumbent on them to give up approximately $10,000 in cash. Both have sworn they are practically penniless. Their wives testified to the same effect. False testimony in bankruptcy proceedings is punishable in the United States District Court.

Attorney W. T. Craig, representing the Wholesalers' Board of Trade, states that the matter will be taken before the Federal grand jury unless the bankrupts "produce."

Col. Robert Clowry yesterday was reëlected president of the Western Union Telegraph Company. All the other officers were reëlected.

FLATTERING FOR HOME.

Grand Lodge Indorses Local Masonic Institution and Gives Five Thousand Cash Support.

A flattering indorsement has been given the Southern California Masonic Home by the Grand Lodge of California.

John H. Hughes and R. H. Herron went up as a special delegation last week to ask help for the home. Although other local requests were shaved down, the Grand Lodge voted $5000 for this home.

As an additional guarantee of their satisfaction with the work done, and as an additional indorsement of the Southern California Home, Mr. Hughes, president of the board of trustees, was elected to membership on the board of trustees of the northern home.

It is expected that this indorsement will give a great boost to the raising of $100,000 as a fund for the support of the Southern California Home.

AGED MINISTER DIES.

After Years of Suffering, Rev. John Smith Wood Passes to the Great Beyond.

Rev. John Smith Wood, who has been a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Stewart, on West Twenty-second street, at the age of 83 years.

The deceased was a native of South Carolina, but was stricken with paralysis and never preached after coming to Los Angeles. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the parlors of Bresee Brothers, with interment at Rosedale, and will be conducted by Rev. William H. Pendleton.

The deceased leaves four daughters and one son, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Waller of this city, Mrs. Salmons of San Diego, Mrs. Gavin of Pasadena, and J. C. Wood of Santa Monica.

OFFICES CENTRALIZED.

Chicago Becomes Headquarters for the International Sunday-school Association of North America.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago is now the Sunday-school headquarters for North America. The International Sunday-School Association, representing 155,000 Sunday-schools and more than 14,000,000 members in the United States, Canada and Mexico, recently decided to centralize all its offices and officers, and Chicago was chosen as the place from which the force and the work will be directed.

Suitable rooms were selected on the eighth floor of the Hartford building, 140 Dearborn street, and these headquarters were formally opened today under the direction of the International Committee.

A special car on the Big Four road brought members of the committee who have been holding their annual session in Louisville planning for the twelfth international convention to be held in that city on June 18-25, 1908.

The members of the committee, representing every State, province, and Territory in North America, greeted the guests of the association at headquarters today.

TERRORIST MOVEMENT.

Thirty-four Persons Executed and Two Hundred and Seven Murdered During September.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The police statistics published today regarding the terrorist movement during the month of September show that thirty-four persons were executed, that 207, including seventy-three officials, were murdered, and that 172 persons were wounded in various affrays.

The figures do not include the casualties of the anti-Jewish riots at Odessa, Restov and Simferopol.

The police also report 165 attacks made by armed men on estates, buildings or representatives of the authorities, and the discovery of thirty-four stores of bombs and explosives.

THREATEN TO GO ON STRIKE.

D. and R. G. Telegraphers Vote on Proposition.

Refusal to Reinstate Unionite Causes War Talk.

O. R. T. Men Protest Against Commercial Messages.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, Oct. 16.—A vote of the telegraphers employed on the Denver and Rio Grande is being taken by mail on the question of whether they shall strike in consequence of the refusal of the company to reinstate R. H. Skeggs, formerly wire chief at Grand Junction, Colo., who was discharged when he refused to test Western Union wires.

It is reported that the votes already received are practically unanimous for striking.

About 400 operators are employed on the road and 95 per cent. of them belong to the Order of Railway Telegraphers.

It is threatened by Denver and Rio Grande operators that if they go out the strike will quickly spread to all railroads included in the Gould system, involving over 15,000 operators.

H. B. Perham, national president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, issued a statement today on the Skeggs case in answer to the statement made yesterday by Vice-President and General Manager Charles S. Schlacks of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad.

President Perham holds that Operator Skeggs was justified in refusing to test a Western Union wire when ordered to do the work by J. M. Walker, superintendent of telegraph on the railroad, as the order was "irregular," and Superintendent Walker "well knew that such duty properly belonged to the Western Union wire chief, located at Salt Lake, but deliberately issued the order apparently with the object of raising a question that will cause considerable commotion before it is finally settled."

Seventy-five operators on the eastern division of the Union Pacific Railroad, it was announced today, have petitioned President Perham to rescind the order requiring railroad telegraphers to handle Western Union messages, and to give counter instructions to refuse to handle any commercial business.

Similar petitions, it is stated, are being circulated on every railroad throughout the country.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

TWO UNIONS ACT TOGETHER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—More than 200 railroad employés, representing every State and every railroad system in the Union, met in convention in this city today. Among the delegates are members of both the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. This is said to be the first meeting ever jointly attended by members of the two unions.

The objects were reported to be the amalgamation of the conductors' and trainmen's organizations, and then to ask for an increase in wages. Mr. Brown, chairman of the meeting, declined to discuss its objects.

Shoe Factories Reopen After Shutdown of Five Weeks, Many Strikers Returning to Work.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—Twenty-two shoe factories, which have been closed for five weeks because of the strike of the shoe workers, reopened today. Many strikers returned, and all the factories resumed work.

George Frank, financial secretary of the union, stated that about 1 per cent. of the 23,000 strikers returned to work.

EXPLOSION IS UNEXPLAINED.

Thirty-eight Lives Lost and Property Damage at Fontanet, Ind., Estimated at $780,000.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FONTANET (Ind.) Oct. 16.—No one connected with the Dupont Powder Company could ascribe any reason for the explosion yesterday, which cost thirty-eight lives. Several rumors were current, one of the most probable circulated being that the machinery in the glazing-room became overheated from friction and set fire to some loose powder in the glazing mill, which was the first to blow up, the other sections of the plant following in rapid succession.

The loss to the powder company in property damaged is estimated at $280,000, including 65,000 kegs of powder stored in the magazine which exploded. The property loss in the town of Fontanet will exceed $500,000.

CAR CRASHES OVER BLUFF.

One Killed and Many Injured as Fast Coach Dashes from Twenty-five-Foot Embankment.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—One man was killed, six persons were dangerously and probably twenty-five others slightly injured today when an Elberon-avenue car, crowded with passengers, jumped the track and went over a twenty-five foot embankment at Mount Hope, in the western end of the city.

Attorney Harry H. Bausch was taken from the wreckage badly injured, and died before he could be taken to the hospital. It is feared that some of the other injured may also die.

The Elberon-avenue line has a steep grade around Mount Hope. As the car was coming down this grade, the motorman lost control, and the car jumped the track soon afterwards, apparently striking a bad rail.

It ran clear across the street and over the bluff, landing upside down at the foot, the heavy trucks crashing through the car.

Only three or four of the passengers jumped before the loaded car went over the brink, and nearly every one on board was more or less seriously hurt. The seriously injured are:

Miss Bessie Powell, hip broken and internally injured; Casper Vogt, internally injured; Miss Helen Hall, internally injured; Miss Lily J. Hust, left leg and left arm hurt and internaly injured; Charles Lockhard, both legs crushed and internally injured; Benjamin Eisenstein, shoulder and leg

MARRIED IN BED.

Charles Kohl, Son of Well-Known Vaudeville Man, Weds St. Louis Girl in Hospital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unable to rise from her bed at the Deaconess's Hospital, Miss Margaret Shields, sister of a well-known St. Louis real estate broker, was married today to Charles Kohl, son of the manager of Keith & Proctors' Western Vaudeville Circuit, and himself well known in theatrical circles.

The bride has been ill of typhoid fever for over a month, and it was believed by her physicians that if the long-delayed ceremony were performed there would be a change for the better in her condition.

The wedding ceremony was to have been performed nearly a month ago, but because of the bride's illness it was postponed.

B. F. Shields is the only relative of the bride, and brother and sister have been living at the Hotel Jefferson for several years.

Two years ago Mr. Kohl stopped at the hostelry and was introduced to Miss Shields. He paid marked attention to her, and a short time ago the engagement was announced. As soon as the bride is well enough to travel the couple will go to Los Angeles on their honeymoon.

COUNTRY NOT FACING A PANIC.

FINANCIAL KINGS OF WALL STREET SO DECLARE.

Recent Flurries in Stock Market no Indication of Coming Hard Times, Declares Cornelius Vanderbilt and Other Famous Captains of Industry.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Financial kings of Wall Street, in Chicago, today united in declaring that the country is not facing a panic.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, director of the Illinois Central Railroad, declared that the recent Wall Street flurries are no indication of coming hard times. He wore a preoccupied air.

"What is your opinion of the business condition at the present time throughout the country?" he was asked.

"I have been very busy lately. In fact, I haven't had time to take much opportunity of observing the trend of general conditions. I have not paid much attention to business, except that of my own interests," he replied.

"Do you think there is any indication of a coming panic—a change from these prosperous good times?"

"No, absolutely no."

"Do these recent flurries in Wall Street indicate anything serious, Mr. Vanderbilt?"

"Oh, no; they occur frequently and indicate nothing. Really, I have nothing to say about business conditions, and I know nothing that I might say that would interest the public. I want to keep out of the papers; I don't like it."

Stuyvesant Fish declined to discuss the question of the wisdom of attack on vested interests by the government.

"There is too much of corporate capital involved in this fight, in which I am personally interested, for me to discuss the subject just now," he said. "I can see no reason for anybody to be downhearted over the business outlook," he added. "Even under these conditions, the business outlook appears to me to be bright."

Charles A. Peabody said:

"Business conditions, on the whole, appear to me personally to be very good. It is a broad subject and one that needs a good deal of thought. I can see no reason to believe there will be a panic in the future. It is all over now. Wall Street has had its flurry, and the worst is passed. Of course, when money is high as at present, it is expensive to do business."

Robert W. Goelet stroked his small curling mustache and smiled:

"I don't know anything about business. Haven't observed conditions closely, you know. You might say things are very good."

E. H. Harriman, in discussing business conditions, said:

"There is no real danger at present. Money is tight, however, and the government should be wary of too strenuous attacks on corporate interests. The business outlook, as I see it, is bright save for the money tightness, of which I spoke, and that, I believe, is a temporary ill."

ALFRED DUPONT WEDS.

News of Terrible Explosion Is Kept from Him Till After Marriage to His Second Cousin.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The marriage of Alfred I. Dupont de Nemours, vice-president of the Dupont Powder Company of Delaware, and Mrs. Alicia Maddox, his second cousin, took place yesterday at the Plaza Hotel. Only the members of the immediate families were present.

Neither Dupont nor his brother, Morris, who is the active head of the powder company, were allowed until today to hear of the explosion at the Dupont Powder Company's plant at Fontanet, Ind. Their friends believed the brothers would both insist on the postponement of the marriage in order that they might hurry to Indiana.

It is likely that the automobile trip that the bridegroom and bride had planned through New England will be abandoned, and that both will start in the automobile for Indiana.

Mrs. Dupont is a daughter of Judge Bradford of the United States Circuit Court, and is a grand-daughter of Alexis I. Dupont, the original founder of the powder company.

DECOY LETTER SUCCESSFUL.

Alleged Blackmailers Who Threatened Dynamite, Now in Jail Through a Clever Ruse.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LEAD (S. D.) Oct. 16.—An attempt to extort $20,000 from J. Grier, manager of the Homestake Mining Company under threat of dynamiting his home unless the money was placed in a designated place, was frustrated last night by the arrest of the alleged blackmailers.

Mrs. Anna Maljas, Chris Maljas, her husband, and Matt Zimbola were arrested by the police, accused of the attempt.

Grier received an anonymous letter demanding $20,000, the threat being made that Grier's home would be dynamited unless the money was placed in an envelope and placed at a certain place. He reported to the police and a decoy letter was left as directed. Mrs. Maljas was arrested by a concealed policeman as she took the letter. Her husband and Zimbola were later taken into custody.

Grier's house, the finest in South Dakota, is located on the top of a steep hill in the center of the town.

PROMISED HIS SWEETHEART A POSITION.

Kemp Biglow,

Denver youth who sent dynamite to Gov. Buchtel and prominent citizens of Denver, after warning them they would receive dangerous packages through the mail. Later, he confessed and stated he gave the warning hoping to be rewarded. He had promised a sweetheart he would get her a job in Gov. Buchtel's office.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

NATIONS FAVOR PEACE COURT.

THIRTY-EIGHT COUNTRIES VOTE PERMANENT TRIBUNAL.

Belgium Baron's Plan Regarding Obligatory Arbitration Unanimously Adopted—United States and Japan Reserved—Collection of Contractual Debts Not to Be Coercive.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

THE HAGUE, Oct. 16.—The ninth plenary sitting of the peace conference held today voted upon the question of establishment of a permanent court.

There were thirty-eight votes in favor of the project. Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Roumania, Switzerland and Uruguay did not vote, and Mexico, Brazil Greece, Colombia, Salvador, Persia, Guatemala, Hayti, Venezuela, San Domingo, Paraguay, Panama, Ecuador, China, Bolivia and Nicaragua voted favorably to a permanent court, but with the reserve that such court and the negotiations in that direction should be conducted on the basic principle of absolute judicial equality.

The report of Baron Guilaume (Belgium) on the declaration of Count Tournielli (Italy) regarding obligatory arbitration was adopted unanimously, with several reserves, including the United States and Japan.

David J. Hill (America) said that the United States would not depart from its traditional policy of non-interference in the affairs of other nations.

The next subject taken up was the proposal of Gen. Horace Porter on the subject of the collection of contractual debts. The substance of the proposition is that in order to avoid between nations armed conflicts "of purely pecuniary origin," caused by contractual debts, claims by the subjects of one country from the government of another, and also to guarantee all contractual debts of this nature, which are not settled in a friendly manner through diplomacy, should be submitted to arbitration.

It is understood that coercive measures shall not be taken until the creditor country offers arbitration and the debtor country refuses it, or leaves the offer unanswered, or until after the decision of the arbitrators is not fulfilled by the debtor.

The proposal was approved by thirty-nine votes with five absent, Belgium, Sweden, Roumania, Switzerland and Venezuela, twelve American governments making reservations.

The final session of the conference will take place Saturday.

HISTORIC CHARACTER DIES.

Californian Who Ran Pony Express and Figured Prominently in Pioneer Days Passes Away.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Jesse Holladay, 82 years old, a pioneer of California, but in his latter years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday at the Lexington Hotel. He was associated with his brother, Benjamin, in the operation of the pony express which was for many years the only means of carrying the mails across the western plains.

They also were the owners of a stage coach, which, prior to the advent of the railroads, furnished practically the only means of transit to the Far West.

Mr. Holladay and his brother were important factors in the development of California. For many years they owned the steamship line plying between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Jesse Holladay invested largely in Chicago real estate. His wife, who died a year ago, was a daughter of Col. George W. Ewing, of Indiana, who was associated as a partner with the original John Jacob Astor in fur trading.

Holladay left one son, Benjamin Holladay, and three daughters.

THEATER MEN INDICTED.

Kansas City Amusement House Managers to Be Tried for Doing Sunday Business.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16.—The grand jury in the Criminal Court today returned nineteen indictments against managers of Kansas City theaters for keeping their places of amusement open on Sunday.

The indictments had been asked by Judge William H. Wallace, who gave notice two weeks ago that he intended enforcing the Sunday closing law.

The theatrical managers had secured a temporary injunction restraining the closing of their places. Warrants will now be served and the managers be brought to trial.

INSULAR GOVERNMENT.

TAFT'S SPEECH TO FILIPINOS.

SECRETARY OPENS ASSEMBLY IN OLD MANILA.

Denies United States Intends to Dispose of Islands—Reassures Natives of His Confidence in Them. Self-government at Least One Generation Off.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Oct. 16.—Secretary Taft formally opened the Philippine Assembly in the National Theater at 11:35 o'clock this morning, in the presence of a large crowd of people.

In his opening address Taft declared that his views, announced two years ago, regarding the independence of the Philippine people, were unchanged. He did not believe that they would be fitted to govern themselves for at least a generation, but he added that the matter was entirely in the hands of Congress.

The Secretary denied emphatically that the United States had any intention of disposing of the islands; said he had absolute confidence in the Filipinos; denied that he was disappointed at their ability to legislate conservatively, and asserted his belief that they felt their responsibility and acknowledged the necessity of supporting the American government.

Taft refrained from suggestions regarding specific legislation by the Assembly, but recommended that attention be paid to the civil service.

At the close of his address, Taft formally called the Assembly to order. A short prayer was then read by the native Catholic bishop in the islands. The Assembly then toook a recess until 5 o'clock p.m.

Upon reassembling at 5 o'clock, the first business was the selection of a president, and Sergio Osmena, Nationalist, who formerly was Governor of the Island of Cebu, was chosen.

Señor Osmena is a young man and had no part in the revolution. He is held in high esteem by the government and by his own people.

Señor Osmena was nominated by Manuel Quezen and seconded in an eloquent speech by Donimador Gomez.

All the Assemblymen, including Señor Gomez, whose election is to be contested, were then formally sworn in. The oath included acknowledgment of sovereignty and allegiance to the American government.

The afternoon session lasted for taree hours. The only business transacted was the selection of a secretary.

The delegates showed they had no understanding of parliamentary law and procedure. The principal feature of the session was an address by Señor Gomes, who declared against bringing politics into legislative business, and asked the delegates to show their patriotism by forsaking party affiliations and legislating for the benefit of the Philippine people.

The new assemblymen and the provincial governors were the guests of Gov.-Gen. Smith at a grand ball tonight.

Secretary Taft failed to satisfy some of the American residents of Manila regarding the policy of the American government. The general impression is that his speech was placative. He intimated that misbehavior would result in the abolishment of the assembly, but it is declared that this contingency is not expected.

As for the Fillpinos, they expressed no opinion of Taft's speech one way or the other.

Motions to dismiss the six forgery indictments against George W. Perkins, former vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, which were found as a result of the investigation of the legislative committee, were argued yesterday in New York. The motion to dismiss the indictments against former Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild, went over, as the points involved in the cases are similar.

Too Risky

Ask your doctor if he does not think it would be wise for you to keep a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house.

"A hard chill, pain through the chest, difficult breathing." If this should be your experience, send for your doctor. It may be pneumonia! To doctor yourself would be too risky. If your doctor cannot come at once, give Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. When he comes, tell him what you have done. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

LOVE'S DEMENTIA?

SEEKS INSANITY TRIAL FOR SON.

FATHER OF KEMP BIGLOW CERTAIN BOY IS DEMENTED.

Delays Departure for Home in Hope He Will Be Able to Arrange for an Inquiry Into Mental Condition of Boy Who Sent Dynamite to Gov. Buchtel and Others.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Col.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Returning from each visit with the lad, more firmly convinced than ever that he is deranged, A. L. Biglow, the father of Kemp Biglow, the dynamiter, will file a petition through his attorneys in the county court asking for the appointment of experts to examine the mental condition of his son.

He was to have left for home today, but, unless the condition of his wife, who is very ill as the result of prostration over Kemp's crime, suddenly takes a turn for the worse, he will remain a day or two longer with the hope that an inquiry will be made into the mental condition of the boy.

There is some question as to the proper method of procedure against the boy. The United States authorities are in doubt as to what charge they can bring against Biglow for sending the bombs to Moffatt and others, and it is now believed that the youth will be turned over to the State authorities for trial on a charge of attempt to kill, holding the Federal charge, if any is brought, in abeyance.

Although Biglow has insisted that he has no sweetheart it develops that he was making love to several young women and that he thought he would become a social lion with the money he would get from the men whose lives he was supposed to save from dynamite.

Miss Eva Nebling of Bryan, O., was one of the young ladies. To her Biglow sent an expensive sofa pillow recently. To another, Grace Mattox, he had promised a position in the Governor's office.

AFTER HIM, FIRST WARD CLUB SUPPORTS TAFT.

President of Republican Organization Makes Clear Its Attitude in the National Campaign—Former Judge York Says It Will Rid the State of Grafters.

One hundred voters attended the First Ward Lincoln-Roosevelt Club meeting last night in Miller's Hall, Ivanza. Several women were present, and one matron, bolder than the rest, asked to be allowed to join the club. The secretary read the constitution, which restricts the membership to electors, and that settled it. The club is but ten days old, and shows a lusty growth.

Under that confusion between the several Roosevelt-Taft clubs and the Lincoln-Roosevelt organization may arise was expressed by several members. The president, Rev. Frank S. Forbes, was careful to explain that the club was for the first for the reelection of Roosevelt, and if this is not possible, the club last night pledged itself to support the nomination of William H. Taft.

Former Judge Waldo M. York, the principal speaker, gave an interesting history of the Republican party, and more particularly on the recent attitude of the party during the last State campaign. He said, in part:

"Our government is the best the world has ever known. It was organized on the great principle of a universal brotherhood. The government in its basic principles knows no distinction between men. No matter what our creed or our color, we have an equal right to the benefits of government. The people are the rulers. They have the power in their hands, and can control this government if they will. They have only themselves to blame if they surrender that power to corporations or to the interests."

The speaker arraigned the Republican party of California. He declared that, with the aid of Walter Parker and Abraham Ruef, had controlled the San Cruz convention. He said the Los Angeles delegation to the State

A three-cornered fight with a two-pronged fork, Alberto Sorto, two-pronged Corsican blood, held the floor, mash down on the captured body of his hated rival and plunged the fork into his neck and shoulders, while the pretty Charlotto Avalos applied her dainty boot-heels to various parts of the rival's physiognomy.

The affair happened on Jackson street yesterday afternoon. Sorto is a section hand. He wears a cigarette in the corner of his mouth and from the feminine standpoint is the original thing in affinity line.

Charlotto Avalos is young and more than passing fair. She is the stepdaughter of Felipe Yvanes, who greatly admires her. Although Yvanes could not marry the fair girl, he decided that nobody else should. So he discouraged

Yesterday afternoon Yvanes was at work punching holes in macaroni. Suddenly a thought wave struck him and he started for his home. As he approached, he heard sounds. He crept to the door.

He was right. At last he would catch the hated lover. He leaned his ear against the door and glued his eye to the keyhole.

There was his fair step-daughter and Sorto. Yvanes cried out in anger. Garlic had been eating garlic. He rushed to the door, located the position of his rival's eye on the other side and got a whiff of garlic through the door. Language ensued.

He said the Angeles delegation to the State convention had sold itself to the Southern Pacific by accepting transportation to Santa Cruz. He affirmed that while the Legislature was in session Herrin had dictated in favor of the Southern Pacific. Continuing he said:

"Now, this government is the most powerful the world has ever seen, because of the noble citizenship which sustains it, but when that citizenship steps aside and allows the machine to dictate, then disaster impends. When we allow private interests and railroad corporations to graft at pleasure we are stepping backward.

"The Republican party has succeeded, in spite of the Southern Pacific, in placing splendid men at the head of this nation. When Roosevelt took the helm we saw a man in power who wants fair play. Roosevelt is absolutely fearless. He has always insisted on fair play.

"We are going to educate the people of Los Angeles with these Lincoln-Roosevelt clubs, and then we are going to rid our State of the grafters."

Frank S. Adams also spoke. He expressed a desire that members of the club do all in their power to prevent any antagonism between the Lincoln-Roosevelt Club and other Republican organizations of the city. He invited the Democrats to join.

PERSONAL.

Charles Eyton, assistant manager of the Burbank, has returned from an extended vacation.

United States Marshal Youngworth has been confined to his home several days by a slight illness.

Miles Gregory, a prominent clubman of Los Angeles, left yesterday for an extended business trip in the East.

Mrs. Sumner J. Quint, wife of Police Surgeon Quint, is visiting relatives in Covina. Mrs. Quint will be away several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Follows of Azusa are guests at the L. L. Liversidge home, after a ten-day outing at Lake Tahoe.

Dr. Buckleman of New York City, who came here as a visitor about a month ago, has decided to remain, and his family has arrived.

Charles Gunn, who has been leading man at the Grand Operahouse during the summer, has gone to San José, where he has a winter engagement.

James Blivin, a prominent furniture dealer of San Francisco, has been looking over the local field with a view to establishing a furniture house here.

Carl Haydn, musical comedy star, well known here, has received a good offer from Henry W. Savage, and in a day or two will leave for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hake of Denver are guests at the Lankershim. Mr. Hake is a hotel proprietor. Their stay in Los Angeles will last a week or longer.

Thomas Cullen and Frank Schilas of Brooklyn, are visiting friends in the city. Their impressions are so favorable that they will in all probability remain.

Don M. Lee, proprietor of the Lee Motor Car Company, will leave on Tuesday for the East, and will attend the Madison Square Garden Automobile Show.

Attorney John North and his bride, who have been at the Van Nuys the past two days, left yesterday for Miramar, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cline of Goldfield arrived at the Lankershim yesterday, and have reserved a suite for the winter months. Mr. Cline is a mining operator.

D. S. Carnahan of San Francisco, who was called to Los Angeles on account of the death of his father, ex-Judge Carnahan, will leave today for the Bay City.

Orium R. Winton, a young millionaire of East St. Louis, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and will pass the winter here. Mr. Winton is accompanied by his mother.

Misses Delphine and Marie Martin, charming young society girls of Tucson, are in Los Angeles on a visit. They are daughters of a prominent drug dealer of the Arizona city.

A. G. Andrews, business manager for Dick Ferris last season, and this summer traveling with "The Californians," local operatic organization, returned to Los Angeles yesterday morning.

Judson Lowensbury of New York, an official in the Western Sugar Refining Company, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday. He says his visit to Los Angeles has nothing to do with business.

Phil O'Brien, who is taking a vacation trip through Ireland, has written a letter to his associates at the Builders' Exchange, enthusiastically describing his journey. He does not say when he will return.

Elmer Wible, one of the well-known oil operators of Bakersfield, is in the city on a short visit and states that business is booming again in the oil center of the San Joaquin Valley. Former contracts for oil at 27 cents a barrel are about to expire, and the producers intend to hold out for 60 cents or more for new contracts.

Thomas J. Norton, the new general attorney of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway system, accompanied by his sisters, Sara and Katherine, left last night for their new home in Chicago.

Henry Berry, manager of the Los Angeles Baseball Club, has left for New York to attend a meeting of the National Baseball Commission, which will be held the 30th inst. He will be absent about thirty days.

Frank Sentous is expected home from Europe the latter part of this month or the first of November. His mother and sister, who went abroad with him, have already returned. Mr. Sentous is at present in England, visiting the different show places of the island kingdom.

Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Terrazos, relatives of former Gov. Terrazos of Chihuahua, Mex., are at the Van Nuys. They are accompanied by I. N. Thacker, Carlos Helmus, Juan F. Creel and Jesus L. Creel, who are about to enter a local school.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, who were married by Justice Pierce yesterday noon, went to San Diego, to pass their honeymoon, in the afternoon. On their return they will reside for a time with the bride's mother, Mrs. M. L. Kelso, at No. 221 West Fifteenth street.

State Horticultural Commissioner J. W. Jeffrey started last evening for Sacramento, to be sworn in as a State instead of a county official, and to take possession of his headquarters. Commissioner Jeffrey will retain his residence in Highland Park.

SPEAKS AGAINST DIVISION.

Los Angeles Man Presents Arguments at Meeting of Citizens at Glendora.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

AZUSA, Oct. 16.—A meeting for the purpose of discussing county division was held this evening at the Glendora Citrus Association packing-house. H. K. Miller, who presided, introduced Walter F. Haas of Los Angeles, member of the Los Angeles City and County Consolidation Committee.

Mr. Haas said it was not the intention of the committee to cut off from the projected consolidation any district wishing to be included. Speaking of the projected new county of Pomona he said it would be more expensive to have two sets of county officers than to have one, as at present. He said the operations of the new county promoters look like a scheme to get political jobs.

On account of the rain the meeting tonight was not as well attended as it otherwise would have been.

Ever since the Pomona people began the agitation for a new county, sixteen years ago, the taxpayers of this valley have opposed the scheme, and today the sentiment is stronger than ever in favor of remaining in Los Angeles county.

For several months the Pomona County Division Bureau has been making a strenuous effort to induce the people of this section to join the proposed new county, but Azusa voters say emphatically they prefer to remain in the old county and get the benefit of the prestige gained by being associated with Los Angeles, also to profit by the lowest tax rate in the State. Out of a registration of 240 votes, 220 have signed a protest against joining Pomona county, and it is believed by the committees having the protest in charge that a large majority of the voters in Covina and Glendora will vote against the division.

Donahue and O'Brien.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Young Donahue and Rouse O'Brien will be the attraction at the Winnisimmet Club at Chelsea, Tuesday, October 22. Jim Barry, who fought Langford here last night, is matched to fight Tony Ross of Philadelphia, late in October.

FIERCE FIGHT DELAYS GAME.

Football Players Engage in Free-for-All Battle.

U. S. C. Man Attacks Negro of Whittier State Team.

Coach McLouth Slugs Crall. Alleged Peacemaker.

Because certain U.S.C. football men were averse to playing against negroes, members of the Whittier State team, a free-for-all fight took place on Bovard Field yesterday afternoon, and came near breaking up the game, which eventually was won by the college team by the score of 57 to 0.

Early in the second half Woolin, left tackle, was downed by one of the five negro players of the Whittier team. Woolin's ire arose, and he applied an uncomplimentary epithet to the negro, at the same time striking him. Coach McLouth of the Whittier team sprang to the rescue of his player, Woolin slapped his face and McLouth sailed into Woolin.

At this juncture Crall, center of the U.S.C. team, stepped up in the role of peacemaker, and was slugged in the left eye by the Whittier coach. But for the timely aid of his six-footer recruits, Coach Holmes also would have been struck, as he was attempting to quell the disturbance. U. S. C. players grabbed the Whittier coach, who was hitting right and left.

Others of the Whittier aggregation began to mix things, some of them running to the side lines for clubs and stones, but peace seemed to be restored and the broad grins from the bleachers began to spread to the excited players when the arrival of Whittier's little water carrier on the scene started it all over again. This pugnacious little youngster rolled up his sleeves, took a good look at Woolin, and reached up to his jaw with a stinging blow. There was no holding the big U.S.C. tackle after this, but the action of the Whittier boys in leaving the field prevented a general fight. Woolin was seized by his team mates and reluctantly forced to the side lines. Coaches Holmes and McLouth held a peace conference, and the game was resumed.

The U.S.C. authorities expressed regret that the affair took place, and gave the Whittier lads credit for putting up a clean struggle in the whole game, except when goaded into a fight.

Outweighed, but not outplayed, the Whittier boys put up a game fight. The contest ended after fifteen minutes of play in the second period, in order that the visitors might catch their returning train, otherwise the tally might have been augmented by several additional touchdowns.

The features of the game were the plucky fight put up by the light school players, who were outweighed thirty pounds or more to the man. From the score it might be expected that the collegians played great ball, but if they did their star efforts were hid under a bushel, for such a miserable, ragged, exhibition was never witnessed on a local gridiron.

Many long runs and good tackles were recorded, but the assortment of fumbles, lack of interference and ragged team work easily deprived the university of five or more touchdowns. Adding to their scrubby team play, there was a tendency on the part of

ST. VINCENT'S FOOTBALL TEAM WHICH IS TO PLAY DENVER SATURDAY.

Coach Hempel and His Husky Squad, after a hard workout on the Saints' gridiron yesterday, in preparation for the game with the Mountaineers.

Coach Koehler of Denver University has issued orders to his squad that there be no lights in the players' rooms at the Hollenbeck after 10 o'clock. The men are recovering from their bruises, and are training faithfully for the game with St. Vincent's Saturday. Koehler enforces stricter training rules than any of the Southern California coaches, and the good effects of his measures probably will be apparent in the game.

Practice at Fiesta Park from 9 o'clock until 12, signal practice for an hour in the afternoon and an hour after dinner at the hotel, is the daily routine which the Denver team is following. The squad trots to and from the hotel to Fiesta Park in order to develop good wind.

The coach says that the low altitude, as compared with Denver, is not appreciably affecting his men. The cool weather of the week has been of great help to the mountaineers, and the only complaint they have thus far made is of headaches caused by the denser atmosphere of the low country.

At St. Vincent's, Coach Hempel is making changes in his team, as the result of the showing with L. A. High in the practice game Tuesday afternoon. The changed appearance of the Denverites since they have recovered from their two previous games and donned their uniforms has caused the St. Vincent's coach to work harder than ever with his squad. St. Vincent's is anxious to make a good showing in the game the first of its season, in order to assure the University of Utah a hard rub on November 2.

Saturday's game will be fast, as both teams are light, and both coaches favor the hurry-up style of football.

LEXINGTON RACES.

HIGHBALL TAKES M'DOWELL STAKE

ERRATIC GELDING HAS LITTLE OPPOSITION IN RACE.

Sonoma Girl Not Eligible to Contend and Other Entries Are of Mediocre Class—Geers Wins His Fourth Big Stake—Helen Hale Trots Fastest Filly Mile.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Highball annexed to his list of winnings for this year the famous McDowell Stake for 2:09 trotters in easy fashion here today. Much disappointment was experienced because Lillian R. did not start against Highball, as it was conceded generally that she is the only horse here in Highball's class, except Sonoma Girl and Wilkesheart, which were not eligible to race.

Highball was driven by Ed Geers. The McDowell Stake today is the fourth stake that he has won during the meeting.

The Lexington Stake for 2-year-olds was won by Benvolo, after Helen Hale had trotted the first heat of the race in 2:13¼, the fastest mile ever trotted in a race by a filly.

NO DANGER OF GOING STALE.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULES ARE MUCH CURTAILED.

FOOTBALL in Southern California apparently is to have a shorter season than ever before, due to the failure of the five colleges to agree on conference rules and make out a schedule, and the break-up of the High School County League.

As no conference rules have been signed by U.S.C., Whittier, and St. Vincent's, these colleges have no dates with Occidental and Pomona. St. Vincent's has called off all games with local schools, and will confine its attention to outside teams. U.S.C. has but one game scheduled.

Trouble in the High School League was caused by the late announcement of the County League schedule, after the managers had scheduled other contests conflicting with the schedule. The result was the abandonment of the league schedule, and incomplete schedules by each high school.

Following are the games of chief importance, as scheduled at this time:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19.

St. Vincent's and Denver University, at Fiesta Park.

Occidental and Whittier, at Whittier.

Pomona and L. A. High, at Pomona.

Pasadena and Hollywood High Schools at Hollywood.

Throop Polytechnic and Santa Ana High School, at Pasadena.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26.

Harvard School and Pasadena High, at Harvard.

Throop and San Diego High, at San Diego (probable.)

Occidental and L. A. High, at Fiesta Park.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

Pomona and Whittier, at Claremont.

St. Vincent's and University of Utah, at Fiesta Park.

Harvard School and Throop, at Pasadena.

Santa Ana and Pasadena High Schools, at Santa Ana.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6.

U.S.C. and Whittier, at Bovard Field (probable.)

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9.

Throop and Santa Monica High School, at Santa Monica.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16.

Occidental and Pomona, at Claremont.

Harvard School and Santa Ana High School, at Harvard.

L. A. High and Throop, at Pasadena.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21.

L. A. High and Whittier State School, at Whittier.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

L. A. High and Throop, at Fiesta Park.

Occidental and U.S.C., at Occidental (probable.)

Throop and San Diego, at Throop (probable.)

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26.

Occidental and L. A. High, at Fiesta Park.

St. Vincent's and Oregon Agricultural, at Fiesta Park.

Throop and Pasadena High School, at Pasadena.

Harvard School and Belmont, at Belmont (probable.)

POLY AND REDLANDS.

CITRUS BELT BOYS STRONG.

The Polytechnic Rugby team is in good trim for the first match of the season, which will be played against the High School fifteen at Redlands next Saturday. The team has not been picked yet, and Capt. Rickerhauser and Coach Densham are undecided as to several of the places to be filled. The entire team will not be named until Friday evening after practice.

"Monk" Pierce, Sam Lafferty, Rowell, Ed Robberson, O'Rourke, Hendrickson, Manning, Porter, Strong and Price are sure of their places, as they have been playing a consistent game, and have turned out regularly for practice. Pierce will play fullback, while Strang and Lafferty will be two of the three-quarters he must protect. Rowell and Robberson will be behind the scrum, and O'Rourke will play either wing forward or three-quarters. Capt. Rickerhauser takes the center of the front row of the scrum with Manning and Hendrickson, the two best dribblers on the team, in the back row to break away on defense.

Many of the boys who are out for Rugby this year have never played the game before, and some of the fastest of them show a tendency to hold onto the ball, instead of passing it. Those who attend to instructions and pass the ball at the right time will have a better chance to make the team for the first game than those who hold on and try to buck through.

Coach Hill of Redlands has a husky bunch of forwards and some very fast backs to put into the field. It should be a hard game, and the Polytechnic boys will have a hard time to score against the excellent defense of the Redlands backs.

CASTAWAY'S GAME.

SAN BERNARDINO TO PLAY HERE

The Castaways are to play San Bernardino Rugby team Saturday at Bovard field, and hope to defeat the husky High School lads by a larger score than they were able to pile up last Saturday.

The Castaway line-up will be quite a little stronger than it was last Saturday. Some of the best players were unable to get away from business in time to catch the early train to San Bernardino. H. O. Ward, who played a remarkable game against Stanford in the second half, will be in the line-up. Tomkins, the half-back, who is almost indispensable, will be out to play. Densham, who refereed last Saturday, will be with the forwards, where he does good work holding the scrum together.

The Castaways will work at Chutes Park, where they can practice at night and have light enough to see the ball and yet play in the open air. Three nights a week they meet at the house of one of the players, change their clothes and run down to Chutes Park, where they practice passing and scrumming in an open space near the menagerie. This evening practice is found to be very useful, and the local men should put up a much better passing game than they did when they were nearly held down by the Gateway high schoolers.

Caley will officiate as referee in the intercollegiate game Saturday, so will not be in the Castaway scrum. Glen Lull hurt his leg at San Bernardino, and does not feel that he could do himself justice if he played, so will lay off for this game. McGowan will take Lull's place, but Caley's defection is harder on the team, as he was wanted for full-back. "Monk" Pierce cannot play, as he will be with Polytechnic at Redlands, and Capt. Higgins is having a hard time to fill his place. It is possible that Jack Nelson, an Englishman who has played the game, and has a reputation as a clever kicker and tackler, will fill this position. Failing this, Tom Higgins will have to fall back and protect the back row, while Edwards, Sweet, Pat Higgins and Ross Holmes do the three-quarter work.

Country Club Golf.

Golf play for the president's cup at the Los Angeles Country Club was interrupted by the rainy weather yesterday and Tuesday, but it will be resumed this morning. All the matches in the second round must be played off by Saturday night, October 20, and a big turnout of local golfers is expected on both Saturday and Sunday.

Good-bye, Jimmy Flynn.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The heavyweight pugilists, Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn, have signed articles for a forty-five round contest to be held in Coffroth's arena on the afternoon of November 2. They are to receive half of the gross receipts, 55 per cent. to the winner and 45 per cent. to the loser.

George Kuhl Is Dead.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Oct. 16.—George H. Kuhl of Chicago, secretary of the National Racing Association, and one of the best-known horsemen in the United States, died in this city last night from intestinal tuberculosis. The body will be sent to Denver for cremation, after which the ashes will be taken to Perry, Ill., his old home, for burial.

Frolic Wins Race.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—The Frolic won in the Chula Vista yacht race yesterday, the Grampus and Sylph being disqualified. The Frolic now has twenty-five points to her credit, and if she comes in either first or second in the next race, will win the cup.

No Beach for Abe.

Abe Attell went down to San Pedro yesterday to look for training quarters for his fight with Wecka, but made no decision. The beach is not the place for a fighter to train in the winter, and it is more than likely that the champion will go to the East Side Club. Weeks is in earnest training at Arcadia.

FIND MANY QUAIL ABOUT ETIWANDA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 16.—Hunters say that beyond a doubt the number of quail exceed any of the last few years, and that as a usual thing the flocks are very large and the birds tame.

Etiwanda affords fine shooting this season, as the birds are very plentiful. The grape vineyards contain many birds, and if one receives permission he can find no better shooting. This will be a favorite sport for the hunter with an auto, as the roads are in good condition, and it is but a few hours' ride from Los Angeles.

For the gun-man going on a several days' trip, the Elsinore, Good Hope Mine, Temecula and San Jacinto hunting grounds are hard to beat. In former years these localities have given the best of quail shooting, and farmers report the birds are more numerous than in any time previous.

Those who pay a visit to the San Jacinto or Elsinore fields will find not only plenty of quail but also fine duck shooting, as many of the waterfowl are now coming into these valleys. From the strings of ducks brought from San Jacinto by several local hunters, the birds must be very plentiful, and hunters stand a good chance for the limit.

AZUSA LIMITS.

GOOD QUAIL SHOOTING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

AZUSA, Oct. 16.—The mountains about Azusa were thronged with hunters after quail yesterday and today. The rain had a tendency to keep the birds close to the ground, and while there were plenty of them, only those who had passed the novice stage bagged the limit.

At the close of the first day's shooting Cornelius Smith gave an elaborate quail dinner at his father's ranch home near Azusa. Friends from Los Angeles and Azusa made up the party of twenty who were seated at one long table, decorated with roses. This is a yearly hospitality of Mr. Smith, and a genuine treat to those who are bidden by this genial host.

BALK-LINE BILLIARDS.

Seymour and Kennedy Start This Evening on Match of Twelve Hundred Points.

Local admirers of balk-line billiards will have a chance to see something this evening at Berry's room on South Spring street, when Arthur Seymour and George Kennedy are to play 300 points at 18.2. They will play 300 points tomorrow night and the same on next Monday and Tuesday night, or 1200 points in all.

Angelenos Defeated.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 16.—Hanning, Beufer and Short, a trio of Los Angeles bowlers, were defeated on the local alleys last night by Wertz, Bowron and Van Norman, by a total score of 2775 to 2485.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

BURNS HOLDS SMITHYS SA

But One Scratch Swat M Off, His Delivery.

Fate Cheats Heitmuller of a Safe Hit.

Pitcher Hogan Makes G Catch in Center.

Los Angeles, 5; Oakland, 0.

While Commencer Quigg was to get the Smithy Kanes from the barrier in the pant race at Chutes Park, y[illegible] C[illegible], he recited a lot of Hia[illegible] blank verse that put the jinks o[illegible] bunch. Bill Devereaux stopped listened, and then the visitors l[illegible] at one another. They seemed t[illegible] dazed after that and in all the ni[illegible] nings they got but one little swat that was a Texas league scrate that Devereaux dropped back of s[illegible] that Delmas could have caught if had not ran up to make a try for

The hoodoo that Quigg put on Smithys was the declaration to [illegible] in the first of the second inning use a little "harmonious activity," makes a noise like one of Gr[illegible] Cleveland's speeches and it cast a spell on Van Haltren's hired [illegible] that one hit was all they could [illegible] burns was probably as much [illegible] Jonah as Quigg's words, for the en[illegible] had no chance. They never got s[illegible] from the post and the Looloos s[illegible] another easy victory.

Speaking about pitching, little [illegible] kins gave an imitation of a big le[illegible] for four innings, for only one o[illegible] locals reached first base. This Cravath, who walked in the se[illegible] round and was forced at second b[illegible] Things looked bad in the fifth in[illegible] also when, with two out, Del[illegible] doubled past third base. Then Ea[illegible] Burns and Bernard singled in a [illegible] and Delmas scored. Cravath ra[illegible] out a double to the top of the ce[illegible] fence in the sixth inning and then the seventh something dropped. O[illegible] closer examination, this proved to [illegible] Hopkins.

The little southpaw started the [illegible] of the seventh by hitting Ellis on [illegible] arm with the ball and Delmas [illegible] ced the Bush to second. Then Ea[illegible] Burns, Bernard and Carlisle sing[illegible] Dillon flew out to left and Bern[illegible] scored after the catch, making [illegible] fourth run for the inning. That [illegible] all.

There were two features in the g[illegible] that brought loud cheers from the f[illegible] and one of them was never seen [illegible] the local grounds before. It came [illegible] the first of the seventh inning. W[illegible] one out, Heitmuller bunted the [illegible] outside the third base line and [illegible] down towards first like a race ho[illegible] The ball rolled slowly outside the [illegible] the short six inches and when it [illegible] half way to third base, Ell Cates, w[illegible] was coaching the Smithys at first b[illegible] saw the ball was foul and stop[illegible] Heitmuller about six feet from [illegible] base. The ball kept on rolling [illegible] outside the line and when about [illegible] feet from the third bag, struck a r[illegible] and rolled into fair ground, and [illegible] Elmer Brashear's hands. Bill Dev[illegible] ereaux was coaching at third base [illegible] when he saw the ball roll fair, [illegible] called as loud as he could that it [illegible] a fair ball. Brashear grabbed it a[illegible] set it to first and Heitmuller was [illegible] out, as he stood six feet fr[illegible] first, foolishly watching Brashe[illegible] throw him out, during the noise of t[illegible] laugh from the fans.

The real startling feature of the ga[illegible] was a sensational catch made by [illegible] Hogan in center field in the last [illegible] the seventh. In the inning previo[illegible] Cravath had hit the top of the cent[illegible] fence with a hard swat and when [illegible] hit the ball in the seventh, Hogan s[illegible] was going away out to the right [illegible] him and he ran back for it. The b[illegible] was over his head and in jumping [illegible] threw his left hand up and grabbed [illegible] turning half around in the air a[illegible] making one of the best catches ev[illegible] seen here.

The game was a fast and snappy o[illegible] and only lacked interest after t[illegible] locals made their four runs in the se[illegible] ninth. Eagan, Bigbie and Brashe[illegible] played beautiful ball, but Burns ha[illegible] them all standing on their heads wi[illegible] his fine pitching.

WILLIS HIT IN NINTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heine Spencer and his nice handling of an easy fly in the ninth inning, today, spoiled what little chance the Seals had of capturing the game. It is true that up to the moment Spencer took it into his head to let the ball trickle through his fingers the Beavers figured to win, but with only one run there was always a chance.

That fatal slip of the second baseman was the signal. Ralph Willis had been wearing himself, but the last straw was too much. He simply flopped and gave two men hit and a pass tell the three-baggers, a double, two singles, two runs in the inning was enough to paralyze a bunch of champions, let alone the struggling Seals, and as on the previous day, they were playing in the biggest kind of luck that the game wound up 8 to 1, and not a shutout.

Until the ninth started, the exhibition was every promise of being a ball game. Hartman had handed out but a hit and there was not the semblance of a run for San Francisco. One of the tallies of the Beavers came through in the fifth and it looked suffi-

Allen Wants Revenge.

The Dyas-Cline baseball team is scheduled to go to San Diego Friday night to play the Pickwicks a series of three games, one Saturday and two Sunday. Last week the local players took one out of the three, and Scotty Allen has strengthened his line-up in the hope of evening up this time.

ORGANIZE TENNIS CLUB.

Law Students Prepare to Play in Tournament With Southern California Teams.

Tennis players of the U.S.C. College of Law organized a tennis club yesterday, with Willedd Andrews as president and manager of the team; J. P. Keogh, vice-president; James Graham, secretary, and William S. White, treasurer.

The object of the club is both athletic and social. A team will be formed as soon as possible and tournaments arranged with southern institutions. The State Normal School has given permission to the club to use its courts during the morning hours. Try-outs for the class team will take place in November, so that Manager Andrews can pick the team that will represent the college in the spring tournaments. It is rumored that Nat Brown will coach the team.

The students signing up to work for the team are: Henery Brown, Elliott Barrett, Lewis W. Powell, William S. White, John L. Richardson, L. C. Kelly, H. L. Giesler, James H. Howard, E. W. Winnett, Wiley D. Ambrose, J. H. O'Conna, Robert A. Jarrott, O. L. Horn, D. M. Hupsaker, Elroy W. Smith, J. P. Keogh, H. S. Clemet, T. H. M. Crampton, William A. Freeman, C. H. Slease, E. H. Allen, A. Hill, Frank Graham, Willedd Andrews.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can Be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning,—that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour breath and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner inside."

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COLIN WINS ANOTHER.

Captures Twelfth Straight Race and Sets New Track Record for Belmont Park Course.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16:—Colin, at the prohibitive price of 1 to 7, easily scored a victory in the Champagne Stakes of seven furlongs, at Belmont Park, this afternoon, and by winning made a new track record of 1:23. Through his victory today Colin has won twelve straight races, and now retires for the season. Colin and Stamina raced together for a fourth of a mile, when Colin took a four-length lead and won easily by eight lengths. Results:

High weight handicap, six furlongs: Salvolite won, Zanap second, Sir John Johnson third; time 1:11 2-5.

Seven furlongs: Xiemac won, Jane Swift second, St. Alaria third; time 1:26.

Champagne stakes, seven furlongs: Colin won, Stamina second; time 1:23. Only two starters.

New Rochelle, one mile: Dolly Spanker won, Grapple second, Orphan Lad third; time 1:38⅘.

Mile and a half: Lane Allen won, Ironsides second, Elfalle third; time 2:43.

One mile: Bedouin won, Sea Wolf second, Gretna third; time 1:38.

Card at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—The fall meeting at Louisville, transferred to Latonia, opened today. Results:

HOUSE OPEN FOR INSPECTION FROM 1:30 TO 5 P.M.

At 1526 Manhattan Place, (go out and see it!) we own a mission style residence The house is built in first-class shape and the cabinet work on the interior finish is one of the finest jobs in the city. The floors upstairs and down are quarter-sawed oak.

A fine cement driveway leads up to the large cemented porch which extends across the whole front of the house. The walls of the hall, living-room, dining-room and den are panneled 5 feet 3 inches high in fine selected quarter-sawed oak. In the living-room there are built-in bookcases and a specially designed mantel shelf. In the dining-room is an elaborate buffet, while the den has an artistic mantel and bookcases combined. Bevel plate glass is used in this bookcase, also the one in the living-room and buffet. Rich imported tapestries cover the walls of living-room, dining-room and den.

There are 4 bedrooms all in ivory enamel and tinted in soft shades. The bathroom is complete in every regard. Go out to 1526 Manhattan Place and see the property between 1:30 and 5 p.m. TODAY. 17

FOR SALE—
WHAT WILL YOU GIVE for a big bunch of rent receipts, which my friend has accumulated in the past twenty years until he woke up and bought an acre at BELLE VERNON?
He paid only $20 down, moved on the place, and will raise enough vegetables, berries, chickens and eggs to pay for the land; besides, he is saving his rent and water bills and has a home of his own. After a while he will cut his acre into six lots and sell each lot for the price he paid for the whole acre, $600. That is the way fortunes have been made in this city, and the opportunity today is better than it ever was, because the future of the city is assured and it is growing faster than it ever did.
Belle Vernon is only 20 minutes from 6th and Main sts.; five car lines pass it.
THE WATER IS FREE, piped to your door in large steel mains. You can use all you want; it don't cost one cent. Long Beach boulevard, destined to be the finest driveway between the city and the ocean, intersects it. The city is rapidly growing that way. It is near three schools, five churches, two banks, public library and all kinds of stores. Look the city over and you can not fine anything like it for double the price.
Thirty-six families are already living at Belle Vernon and cultivating their gardens, and more are coming daily. Why not come and see it yourself?

HOW ABOUT THAT HOME PLACE?
Now is the time of all times to get busy and secure an ideal lot on easy terms of $50 cash and $10 monthly if desired, and if you're ready to build will give a discount on the lot; we'll help pay the carpenter bill. Lumber being cheap, now's a good time to build. An immense amount of building is being planned, and as soon as the country's crops are marketed, which is now nearly done, we'll see plenty of money and cheap rates. Money is getting cheaper now. Going begging in Midwood Tract at 5 and 6 per cent, they say. Now I am going to get some of you homeseekers started on a lot on very easy terms if necessary.
VERMONT AVENUE
VILLA TRACT.
CHOICE LOTS $600 TO $700.

WILL PAY SALARY, $80 PER MONTH OR better, and make you secretary of the industrial corporation, and a director on the board, and give you interest and ownership in the company, if you can take $6000 worth of the stock of the corporation. The company is in business in this city on one of its close-in business streets, and the business has grown so rapidly that it has gone beyond the present cash capital of the company, and the present owner's ability to do the work of the business. The company does not want an employee, but a co-owner and co-worker, one who can do the office work, including keeping the books of the company and help to build up the business, so it will pay big dividends. This amount of cash and a man who can fill the position will put the business on a cash basis, and enable the company to begin to pay dividends to its stockholders in about 90 days. Take this up at once and get down to business. Address E, box 8, TIMES OFFICE. 17

HIST! THE BOGIE MAN.

A GHOST HUNTER CHATS OF SPIRITS.

Phenomena Not All Bogus—Materializations Possible, But No Bona-Fide Case Known—How Editor Stead Was Fooled.

BY JOHN ELFRETH WATKINS.

NEW YORY, Oct. 12.—Just back from an investigation of a strange case of "haunts" in Nova Scotia—a mission that required some remarkable detective work on his part—Hereward Carrington, member of the Council of the American Institute for Scientific Research, chatted with me the other day about some "spooks"—bogus and genuine—which he has met in the course of his strenuous career as a psychic investigator. A branch of the institute is the new and indepent American Society for Psychical Research, of which Mr. Carrington is a member, as he is, also, of the famous London society. In fact, this industrious young psychical researcher is a Britisher by birth, a native of the Isle of Jersey.

As a source of good "copy" he had been recommended to me by Dr. Jas. Hyslop, head of the institute. Mr. Carrington's career has indeed been devoid of monotony. After coming to America, at the age of 17, and returning to complete his education in England, he developed a hobby for legerdemain and conjuring. For some time he gave exhibitions and attained high rank as a professional prestidigitateur. This naturally turned his attention to psychical research, for he sought, through his knowledge of legerdemain, to expose the tricks of noted mediums. This début was ten years ago, and his scientific papers which followed, attracted the late Dr. Richard Hodgson, head of the old American branch of the London Society of Ghost Hunters. He became Dr. Hodgson's right-hand man on this work, and on the latter's death, Dr. Hyslop recently fell heir to his genius, and employed him as his chief scientific assistant. While Dr. Hyslop devotes his attention to the mental phenomena of spiritualism, Mr. Carrington as indefatigably investigates the physical manifestations and, as the former explained to me, one is the complement of the other in this interesting research, which now has old earth by the ears.

MRS. KELLAR AND CHIEF SPIRIT

HEREWARD CARRINGTON

MEDIUM'S RIGHT HAND FREE.

MEDIUM'S BARE SHOE TIES.

NOT ALL BOGUS.

Like nearly all scientific men who have started out in cold skepticism to expose the frauds of so-called spiritualism, Mr. Carrington has come to regard a small percentage of investigated cases to be genuine. I noted this in glancing over his new book, "The Physical Phenomena of Spiritualism," which is the fullest treatise on the subject that has yet been made understandable to the popular mind. In the table of contents I found the various cases summarized under two headings, "The Fraudulent" and "The Genuine." This provoked my first question, which the author answered in these words:

"It is because I now believe that such phenomena do occasionally really occur that I am anxious to expose the frauds. Only by so doing can we hope to reach the genuine phenomena."

"How can one best equip himself to scent out these frauds?" I asked.

"Above all, by studying the 'psychology of deception,'" he replied. "Without mastering this science no psychical researcher can hope to be more than a babe in the hands of the clever conjurers who fraudulently produce so-called spiritualistic tests. The subject is too great to go into in an hour's conversation, but I might mention one elementary rule: Whenever the 'medium' looks intently at one of his hands the other should be watched intently by the 'sitter.' As a matter of fact, the sitter will invariably look at the point closely watched by the medium. But the bogus medium depends chiefly upon giving a suggestion of what will happen, knowing that the imagination and inference of the sitters will do the rest. This is why one old wire mask in the 'property' of the medium will be recognized by dozens of victims as fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, cousins, sweethearts, wives, husbands and what not.

HOW STEAD WAS FOOLED.

"The whole history of materialization, so far as professional mediums are concerned, is practically one unbroken line of frauds. William T. Stead some time ago announced that in Mrs. Mellon, an English medium, he had found the only one person of undoubted materializing faculty and undoubted character in the United Kingdom. Shortly afterward at a seance held in Melbourne, Australia, an investigator suddenly seized the materialized spirit that issued from the cabinet and found that he held Mrs. Mellon. She was upon her knees, and when the light was suddenly turned up she was found to have a white material upon her head and shoulders and a mask of black material over her face. The investigator was assaulted by two or three men present, but he kept hold of the 'spirit' and thus the only medium of 'undoubted character' was caught red-handed."

MATERILIZATIONS POSSIBLE.

"Do you believe spirit materializations to be possible?" was my next question.

"It is possible, or, at least, conceivable that genuine materialization exists as a fact in nature, though the available testimony is not beyond doubt or cavil," the investigator answered. "It is conceivable that an etherial body, described by many able writers on the subject, may, under certain conditions about which we at present know nothing, become visible; but the lack of evidence renders all such speculations premature. Dr. J. Maxwell of Bordeaux, France, has recorded some most remarkable luminous phenomena which seem hard to account for by any process of trickery. Prof. Charles Richet of Paris has recently recorded an extraordinary case of materialization obtained under apparent test conditions and Sir William Crookes claims to have seen and felt mysterious hands materialize and melt in his own palms. These men are all trustworthy and I do not wish to deprecate the character or value of their evidence. One of the most remarkable cases that I know of was where a 'spirit' was seen to materialize from a cloud issuing from the medium's side. I know of no case which seemed so impossible of reproduction by fraud. Yet a Mr. Maskelyne last October at St. George's Hall, London, reproduced the whole phenomenon by fraud alone.

CLEVER TRICKS.

"What are some of the cleverest materializing tricks lately exposed?"

"Some of the greatest cleverness of mediums is applied in devising means of smuggling clothes into the cabinet. The self-playing guitar, gyrated over the cabinet on the medium's most useful tool—the telescopic rod, often contains not only the essential music box, but a sliding panel opening into a hollow compartment stuffed with robes and other paraphernalia. These robes are made of a fine netting, and ten yards of it can be put into the vest pocket. It is made luminous by being soaked in phosphorous paint, thinned with turpentine, and is then perfumed and dried. The full costume of an adult spirit folds into a space no larger than a hollow watch case, in which it is sometimes carried or into a hollow boot heel of steel covered over with leather. In the other heel can be carried the necessary supplement of netting masks. If the seance is in the medium's house he uses hollow chair seats or table legs—inside the cabinet—as receptacles for these properties. One woman medium wears a black cloth belt made deep enough to hide a great variety of diaphanous robes and masks. This she dons next her skin and just under a black skirt. When the skeptical committee of ladies searches her, she entirely disrobes down to this skirt, which she retains 'for modesty's sake' until the skirt provided by the committee is put on over it. Then the black skirt is unhooked and taken off. To satisfy them that all is right she lifts the committee's skirt, but its band hides the useful little belt, stuffed with spirit wardrobes.

ART OF COMING UNTIED.

"We will suppose that the medium, after donning the clothes supplied by the skeptics, is tied in the cabinet. Quick release after tying is simply a matter of obtaining a certain amount of 'slack' rope while being tied. Every medium has a more or less individual method of obtaining this slack. If his hands are being tied to the back rung of a chair, he sits well forward during the operation, so that when he wishes slack all he will have to do is lean back. When his wrists are being drawn down to his knees, to the chair legs or together at the back, he gives one sudden twist of his hand and gets the rope tied around his wrist twice, so that when the time comes for release all he has to do is twist his wrist once around in the reverse direction and obtain all the slack he can possibly use. The method employed by the Davenport Brothers and many others is employed when the wrists are tied together behind the back. One wrist being tied securely, the two ends of the cord now hanging down, the other wrist is then put over the tied one. The two ends, then passed around the latter, are tied and sealed. The secret is that the medium stealthily gets one end of the cord passed over his middle finger, concealed by the outer wrist. To obtain the necessary slack, he bends down this finger after the rope is tied. Mr. Maskelyne, who recently reproduced the cloud 'materializations' mentioned, was present at one of the Davenport seances when the curtain of the cabinet fell at a lucky moment, which allowed him to see their method of escape, and he exactly reproduced their performance afterward. The magician, Kellar, was their assistant for some time, and from them learned the mysteries of roping-tying.

"The medium, freeing himself while a hymn is being sung and the lights are being dimmed, then begins his 'materializations.' Very little apparatus is necessary to make several changes in his appearance in the dim light. The one robe has answered in one case for forty recognized spirits, and to these properties were added only two or three wigs and beards of different shapes. The color amounts to nothing in the darkness of the seance room, where red cannot be distinguished from any color save white. Stature is altered merely by stooping, or, if children are to be represented, by kneeling, as in the case of Mrs. Mellen, when seized. Often a bare mask, with a robe dangling to it, was successfully employed by Mrs. Mellen to represent a child standing by her side.

"In some cases apparatus has been found secreted in a trap in the base, or mopboard, of the screened corner or closet used as a cabinet. Another trick is to use for wardrobes, etc., a hollow door on the closet used as a cabinet. In one room the ceiling, including that of the closet cabiuet, was of paneled wood. The panel of the closet ceilings was twenty inches square, and when lifted left a trap door down which the 'spooks' concealed in an upper room, could descend by a light ladder hooked fast above. There were eight persons connected with this particular materialising seance—seven upstairs and the medium in the cabinet, who in this case did not have to get out of his fastenings.

One of these 'ghosts' was a young man entirely covered by black tights, with the exception of his right arm, which was bare half way between elbow and shoulder and powdered with pulverized luminous paint. His face, even, was masked in black, and in the darkened room his luminous arm appeared to float alone in space. It wrote spirit messages, thrust them into the pockets of sitters, played a guitar and performed other convincing spirit feats.

HOW A BALL TURNS INTO AN ADULT GHOST.

"Phenomena, which all spiritualists who see it will swear by, are the gradual 'materializing' and 'dematerializing' of spirits on the floor directly before the sitters. In this the latter see first a small ball of light, which grows at first into a cloud and then becomes larger until there stands before them an adult spirit. A woman confederate who accomplished this took off all her clothing, put on a long black chemise, reaching her shoe tops; drew on a pair of white stockings, and over them white slippers. She covered her head with a black mask, and putting a luminous robe in a black bag, slipped down the ladder into the cabinet. Crawling under the curtains she exposed on the floor a small part of the robe, doubled up to form a luminous ball. Then she gradually shook the glowing robe from the bag, thus producing the illusion of the swelling cloud. She was now on her knees and, pulling the robe up over her face, she threw off the black mask. Gradually she rose until the glowing figure was the size of an adult, and then she adjusted the robe, showed her face and rapped for a little light. She 'dematerialized' into the glowing cloud and luminous ball by simply reversing the operation. You'll find the whole process described in detail in my book.

"Other methods of controlling the mediums besides the many rope ties are numerous, but it need hardly be said that the medium has found a way of escaping every one of them without detection. Many investigators not content with fastening him in his cabinet actually hold him with their own hands. In tests of this character there are as many ways of escaping the hands of the holders as there are mediums. All that is required by the medium is the free use of his right hand, and it does not matter how closely his feet, head and left hand are held. In the usual case the medium and sitters form a circle around a table, all joining hands by placing their extended fingers in contact with those of their right and left hand neighbors. Each individual in the circle places his or her two hands on the table, palm side down, and crosses his own thumbs. The extended little fingers of each hand are in contact with the little fingers of the sitters immediately to the right and left, and are either holding or being held by these next neighbors. A complete circle in which there is no break is thus formed. If the medium attempts to remove his finger it will apparently be felt by the person holding that finger, or held by it. But the medium easily frees his hand in this manner:

METHOD DURING "CONTROL."

"He is seized with violent twitches soon after the lights are out. These are supposed to be due to his getting under 'control,' but their real object is to get his hands nearer together until he has one over the other. Then with an extra strong spasm he jerks his right hand away altogether. But his right-hand neighbor feels the finger again under his own the instant after it is withdrawn and is satisfied. Now, in reality, the medium has substituted the first finger of his left hand the moment the right hand has been withdrawn, and it is this that the sitter so carefully guards as the original little finger throughout the remainder of the seance. When the seance is ready to close, the medium is again 'controlled,' and the little finger of the right hand is replaced with a jerk. Another clever release is made when the medium places his hands on his knees, his right wrist grasped by his right-hand neighbor, while the medium himself grasps his left-hand neighbor's wrist. Just after the light is turned out, the medium requests the holder on the right to remove his hand for a moment that he may use his handkerchief. As soon as he has done so, he apparently replaces his hand under the control of his right-hand sitter, but what he does is really this: He slips forward both his feet, crosses his left knee over the right and requests his right-hand neighbor to again take his wrist; but he simply allows the latter to catch his left wrist—that of the same hand which is holding the wrist of his left-hand neighbor. His right hand is now free, and the sitter on his right grasps a wrist which the medium tells him is the right wrist and is satisfied. As there is only one knee in use the trick cannot be discovered by either sitter's feeling the other knee, and thus inferring that the medium has removed one hand.

SPIRIT HANDS REALLY FEET.

"There is also a dodge employed by some mediums to release the feet. The medium and sitter sit at a table opposite each other, and the sitter is instructed to place his toes on the medium's and thus assure himself that the latter's lower limbs do not cause any phenomena to result. The medium has over his toes steel tips which fit exactly over those of his shoes, and which are blackened to represent glazed leather. While the sitter's toes are on those of the medium the latter has merely to withdraw his own feet, leaving the false tips under those of the sitter, perfectly satisfied all the while that he is accounting for the medium's feet. But the latter kicks off the loose shoe from his now freed feet, which are incased in stockings, which, like 'mitts' expose the toes, and the latter are painted to look long, like fingers, and are coated with powdered phosphorus. These luminous feet are elevated above the edge of the table and at the sitter's sides produce startling 'spirit hand' phenomena."

SLATE WRITING WITH MAGNET.

The cleverest new inventions of slate-writing mediums were also described to me by Mr. Carrington. Among these is a magnet held up the medium's sleeve by a rubber band and which, while the slates are being held under the table, is used to guide over the inside of the bottom slate a small point made of powdered chalk, water, glue and iron filings. This point is placed between the sitter's own slates and the iron filings follow the magnet while the attached chalk writes on the slate in the regular manner. One slate-writer who produced communications on slates brought already sealed by the sitter deftly pried the long sides of the slates slightly apart with a sharp wedge and then inserted between them a piece of wire with a minute point of slate pencil fastened to the end. With this the trained medium could write what he pleased, the actual writing being done before the "test" actually commenced and while the medium secreted behind his table was waiting for "favorable influences," or something of the kind. Mr. Carrington says that no one ever received "independent slate writing" between fastened slates that he did not allow out of his hands for a short interval at least. He also explained to me the various fraudulent levices in use by which mediums produce raps, move tables, read sealed letters, imitate mind-reading performances and produce spirit-photographs. Several of these photos were shown me—experimentally imitated—and they certainly duplicated those supposedly genuine.

HAS HEARD RAPS.

"What phenomena—of all studied—do you regard as genuine?" I asked him as the interview drew to a close.

"In considering the evidence in favor of and against 'raps' I find that there is a certain weight of evidence in favor of their genuine character," he said. "But the principal reason that I believe that raps are sometimes genuine is that I myself have obtained them in my own apartment, where I live alone—no other person being present at the time. For four or five weeks rappings would begin in my room about 10 o'clock and continue until I went to sleep and would increase in violence at the time I went to bed. They did not sound like creaks of the furniture, but like knocks made through thick cloth and upon woodwork. One night when they were louder than usual and keeping me awake I got out of bed and located them on my mantelpiece, where I could feel their vibrations. It was a queer sensation to feel them coming at the very spot I was intently watching. An unexplainable feeling of apprehension would often come just before such raps would be heard there and in other parts of the room. Several other persons distinctly heard them on various occasions. One night I received them by concentrating my attention while awaiting a communication. Once I placed upon my couch a package of papers, fastened together with rubber bands. Instantly there was a loud, quick snap, just as if the band had been lifted and allowed to fly back. During the time the raps were loudest I would feel a distinct presence in the room or in the hallway, and once during these apparent hauntings a person occupying a flat on the same floor with me and having no inkling of my experiences suddenly felt this presence, unsuggested. These raps have now ceased and I am very well pleased that they have."

"But do you think the departed would probably waste their time rapping in this way?"

"It is simply a question of fact, not speculation, whether they do or not. As Minot J. Savage has asked, When Queen Victoria or George Washington wished to enter a room in this world, would they have considered it undignified to rap upon the door? I think it highly improbable that the spirit is aware that it is manifesting in raps. That may be merely the physical form in which their thoughts are automatically registered.

MOVING OF BODIES.

"And a word about other phenomena which appear to be sometimes genuine. Though there are many ways in which heavy objects may be lifted and moved by fraudulent means in seance tests, it is very doubtful whether these methods would account for all the phenomena of that sort witnessed. After going through all the evidence I obtain the impression that some of the phenomena where bodies appear to be moved supernormally do sometimes take place and that there must be some force in the world as yet unknown and exercising at least a push-and-pull action upon imponderable matter. It is quite conceivable that some nervous force might, under exceptional circumstances, extend beyond the bodily frame and exert an influence over the external material world.

"I want to emphasize this point: Although I have given timely warning of the trickery at present in vogue among mediums, I do not wish to be understood that I relegate the whole of the evidence to the waste basket. The phenomena which have much evidence in their favor are, besides those described, chiefly trance manifestations, apparitions, haunted houses, telepathy, clairvoyance, premonitions, as well as hypnotic phenomena, alterations of personality and subconscious mental activity."

"Do you regard any professional medium as having been above reproach?"

"The late D. D. Home is about the only professional medium in the whole history of spiritualism who has not at one time and another been exposed in fraud. Although under far more careful and prolonged scrutiny than any other medium, fraud was, so far as known, never even suspected in any of his seances."

DISCUSSES BILL OF LADING.

Many Shipping, Banking and Railroad Men Attend Meeting to Consider New Form.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—When the hearing at the Interstate Commerce Commission in the matter of putting into effect the proposed uniform bill of lading, framed by the shipping and railroad interests, was continued today there was a large attendance of representatives of the shipping, banking and railroad interests.

All of these interests are being given an opportunity to present their views on the subject in order that a bill of lading which will meet the requirements of all interests concerned may be put into operation at the beginning of the new year.

Considerable opposition to the proposed lading bill in its present shape has developed and if the commission accepts the views of those who already have been heard, a new instrument will be perfected, or the one already proposed will be materially modified.

Voluminous testimony from the standpoint of each interest affected covering every phase of the subject was taken.

Chairman Knapp announced that all parties interested might, before November 1, submit resolutions in writing or propose new bills of lading.

The principal arguments presented today were those of Lands of the Northwestern Railway, F. M. Dillard of the Southern Pacific, Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company and the Oregon Short Line, and George F. Brownell, first vice-president and general counsel of the Erie.

HARRIMAN NOT COGNIZANT.

Commissioner Lane Thinks Head of Espee May Not Know of Rebates, but That He Will.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane does not express any very great surprise that E. H. Harriman should have denied that the Southern Pacific Railroad had been guilty of giving rebates. In fact, Lane seems inclined to ignore Harriman's denial altogether.

"I don't believe Mr. Harriman personally knows very much about the matter, just as I said in my statement yesterday," said Commissioner Lane today. "But notwithstanding his denial, I believe that after my report on the matter is made public, not only the country at large, but Mr. Harriman himself, will have been convinced that rebates were given by the Southern Pacific Railroad in many instances. I intend to send a copy of this report to Mr. Harriman as soon as it is completed."

PREACHER DENIES CHARGES.

Lincoln Minister, in Court, Declares Woman's Accusation Is Climax of Plot to Ruin Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Meeting each assertion of Mrs. Cross, the complaining witness, with an emphatic denial, the Rev. W. H. Ferguson today asserted on the witness stand that the adultery charge was simply the climax of a plot to ruin him.

Ferguson was still on the stand when the court adjourned, giving direct testimony. Tomorrow he will have to face a grilling cross-examination by County Attorney Tyrrell.

DUBLIN SHOW A FAILURE.

DUBLIN, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is announced that the Dublin International Exhibition has proved a financial failure, and that there is a large deficit which the guarantors will be called upon to pay.

A syndicate has been formed which will endeavor to have the show reopened next year in the hope of reducing the loss. It is said that some of the guarantors will be unable to meet the demand upon them.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

The California Furniture Company celebrated its second anniversary with a banquet in the Sunset Club room at Levy's last night. President Albert H. Voigt presided and places were laid for thirty-five guests. The dining-room was prettily decorated in red carnations for the occasion. The centerpiece was a great floral figure 2, while on either side were birthday cakes, each with two lighted tapers. No formal programme was followed, but the different guests were called upon to respond to toasts.

LOST IN SPECULATION.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Hirma F. Leonard, former treasurer of the Evans-Snider-Buell Company, was found guilty today of embezzlement of $7600 from that concern. Evidence was introduced to show that the total defalcation would amount to $65,000. The money was lost in speculation.

Leonard was for years a prominent resident of Englewood and a church man.

ROSY COMPLEXION WITHOUT COSMETICS

Home Prescription for the Skin Said to Work Wonders on the Complexion.

A good complexion is essential to facial beauty, and if it can not be attained naturally, then artificial means must be resorted to.

But all ladies regret the necessity of using imitation beauty and would gladly possess the natural rosy glow with which some of their sisters are so bountifully favored.

Here is a prescription that comes across the ocean, from France, the home of so many beauty secrets, and it is said to be the most effective preparation known to science for rejuvenating the skin and restoring the bloom of youth as well as promoting the growth in undeveloped or shrunken parts.

Obtain from your druggist two ounces of Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces crystalized Sartoin (skin food.)

Put the Sartoin into a pint of hot water (not boiling) and after it is dissolved and cooled strain it through a fine cloth and add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits. Put it in a bottle or fruit jar and keep well corked when not in use.

This wash is to be applied twice a day or oftener, and massaged well into the skin. It is an inexpensive mixture, the ingredients being obtainable at any god drug store and is well worth a trial.

JAP-A-LAC

A HIGH GRADE VARNISH AND STAIN COMBINED

It's amazing how quickly the finish on picture frames becomes dull,—and a picture frame with a tarnished finish isn't exactly an object of beauty. GOLD OR ALUMINUM JAP-A-LAC will produce a beautiful effect, and it does not tarnish nor rub off; or you can apply a coat of DEAD BLACK,—it gives that beautiful, velvety black finish.

"How hard you are on spies. And how little knowledge of human nature you have, after all, if you don't understand that a man suddenly out of his head with jealousy will do things of which he'd be incapable when he was sane."

The argument silenced me. I knew—I had known for a long time—that jealousy could rouse a demon in Raoul. And only tonight he had reminded me that he was a "jealous brute." I remembered what answer he had made when I asked him what he would do if I deceived him. He said that he would kill me, and kill himself after. As he spoke, the blood had streamed up to his forehead, and streamed back again, leaving him deadly pale. A flash like steel had shot out of his eyes—the dear eyes, that are not cold. It was true, as this cruel wretch reminded me, Raoul would do things under the torture of jealousy, that he would cut off his hand sooner than do when his own sweet, poet-nature was in ascendancy."

"As a proof of what I say," Godensky went on, "du Laurier did wait, did hear from me the place where you were to stop and pick me up. And if it wouldn't be the worst of form to bet, I'd bet that he found some way of getting there in time to see that I had told the truth."

"You coward!" I stammered.

"On the contrary, a brave man. I've heard that du Laurier is a fine shot, and that very few men in Paris can touch him with the foils. So you see——"

"You want to frighten me!" I exclaimed.

"You misjudge me in every way." My only answer was to tell Marianne to press the button which gives the signal for my chauffeur to stop. Instantly the electric carriage slowed down, then came to a standstill. My man opened the door and Count Godensky submitted to my will. Nevertheless, he was far from being in a submissive mood, as I did not need to be reminded by the tone of his voice as he said "au revoir."

Nothing could have been more polite than the words of his way of speaking then, as he stood in the street with his hat in his hand. But to me they meant a threat, and as a threat they were intended.

My talk with Godensky at the stage door, my pause to pick him up, and my second pause to set him down, had all taken time, of which I had had little enough at the starting, if I were to meet Ivor Dundas when he arrived. It was two or three minutes after midnight, or so my watch said, when we drew up before the gate of my high-walled garden in the quiet Rue d'Hollande.

A little while ago I had been ready to seize upon almost any expedient for keeping Raoul away from my house tonight, but now, after what I had just heard from Godensky, I prayed to see him waiting for me.

Nobody (except Ivor, concerning whom I'd given orders) would be let in so late at night, during my absence, not even Raoul himself; so if he had come to reproach me, or break with me, he would have to stand outside the locked gate till I appeared. I looked for him longingly, but he was not there. There was to be sure, a motor brougham in the street, for a wonder (usually the Rue d'Hollande is as empty as a desert, after eleven o'clock,) but a girl's face peered out at me from the window—an impish, curiously abnormal little face it was—extinguishing the spark of hope that sprang to life as I caught sight of the carriage.

It was standing before the closed gate of a house almost opposite mine, and the girl seemed somewhat interested in me; but I was not at all interested in her, and I hate being stared at as if I were something in a museum.

The gate is always kept locked at night, when I'm at the theater; but Marianne has the key, and we let ourselves in when we come, for only old Henri sits up, and he is growing a little deaf. A moment, and we were inside, the chauffeur spinning away to the garage.

Usually, I am newly delighted every night with my quaint old house and its small, but pretty garden, to which it seems delightful to come home after hours of hard work at the theater. But tonight, though a cheerful light shone out from between the drawn curtains of the salon, the place looked inexpressibly dreary, even forbidding to me. I felt that I hated the house, though I had chosen it after a long search for peacefulness and privacy. How gloomy, how dead, was the street beyond the high wall, with all its windows closed like the eyes of corpses. There was a moist, depressing smell of earth after long-continued rains, in the garden. No wonder the place had been to let at a bargain, for a long term! There had been a murder in it once, and it had stood empty for twelve or thirteen of the fifteen years since the almost forgotten tragedy. I had been the tenant for two years now—before I became a star," with a theater of my own in Paris. I had had no fear of the ghost said to haunt the house. Indeed, I remembered thinking, andsaying that the story only made the place more interesting. But now I said to myself that I wished I had never spoken so lightly. Perhaps the ghost had brought me bad luck. I felt as if the murder must have happened on just such a still, brooding, damp night as this. Maybe it was the anniversary, if I only knew.

I went indoors, Marianne following. Henri, very thin, very precise, withered like a winter apple, had fallen into a doze in the hall, where he had sat hoping to hear the stopping of my carriage. He rose up, bowing and blinking, just as he had done often before, and would often again—if life were to go on for me in the old way. He regretted not having heard Mademoiselle. Would Mademoiselle take supper?

No, Mademoiselle would not take supper. She wanted nothing, and Henri might go to bed. "I thank Mademoiselle. When I have closed the house."

"But I don't want the house closed," I said. "I shall sit up for awhile. It's hot—close and stuffy. I may want the windows open."

"The visitor Mademoiselle expected did not arrive. Perhaps——"

"If he comes, Marianne or I will let him in. But he may not come, now it is so late."

When Henri had gone, I told Marianne that she might go, too. I did not want her to wait. If the person I had expected should call, it was a very old friend; in fact, Ivor Dundas, whom Marianne must remember in London. He was to call—if he did call—only on a matter of business, which would take but a few minutes to get through, and possibly he would not even come into the house. If the gate bell rang, I would answer it myself, and speak with Mr. Dundas, perhaps, in the garden. Then I would let him out and come straight upstairs. Marianne might go to bed if she liked.

"I do not like, unless Mademoiselle particularly desires me to do so," she said. "I do not rest well when I have not been allowed to undress Mademoiselle."

"Sit up, then, in your own room, and wait there for me till I ring for you," I replied. "I shan't be late, whether Mr. Dundas comes or doesn't come."

"Supposing the gate bell should ring, and Mademoiselle should go, yet it should not be the Monsieur she expects, but another person whom she would not wish to admit?"

I knew of what she was thinking, and of whom.

"There's no fear of that. No fear of any kind," I answered.

She took off my cloak, and went upstairs reluctantly, carrying my jewel box.

I walked into the drawing-room, which was lighted, and looked very bright and charming, with its many flowers and framed photographs, and the delightful Louis Quinze furniture, which I had so enjoyed picking up here and there at antique shops or at private sales.

I flung myself on the sofa, but I could not rest. In a moment I was up again, moving about, looking at the clock, comparing it with my watch, wondering what could have happened to make Ivor fail in keeping his promise to be prompt on the hour of 12.

Of course, a hundred harmless things might have kept him, but I thought only of the worst, and was working myself up to a frenzy when at last I heard the gate bell. I had been in the house no more than twelve or fourteen minutes, but it seemed an hour, and I gave a sob of relief as I rushed out, down the garden path, to let my visitor in.

Fumbling a little at the lock, always a little difficult, if one were in a hurry, I asked myself what if, as Marianne had suggested, it were not Ivor Dundas, but some one else—Raoul, perhaps—or the man who had been in her mind, Godensky.

But it was Ivor.

"What news?" I questioned him, my voice sounding queer and far away in my own ears.

"I don't know whether you'll call it news or not, though plenty of things have happened. I'm awfully sorry to be late——"

I wouldn't let him finish, standing there, but took him by the arm and drew him into the garden, pushing the gate shut behind him as I did so. Yet I forgot it, and naturally, it did not occur to Ivor that it ought to be fastened.

Once inside, in the garden, I was going to make him begin again, as I had told Marianne I would do. But suddenly I bethought myself that he might have been followed; that there might be watchers behind that high wall, watchers who would try to be listeners, too, and whose ears would be very different from old Henri's.

"Come into the house," I said, in a low voice, "before you begin to tell anything." Then, when we got inside, I could not even wait for him to go on of his own accord and in his own way.

"The treaty?" I asked. "Have you got hold of it?"

"Unfortunately, no."

"But you've heard of it? Oh, say you've heard something!"

"If I haven't, it isn't because I've sat down and waited for news to come. I went back to the Gare du Nord after you left me, to try and get on the track of the men who traveled with me in the train to Dover. But I was sent off on the wrong scent, and wasted a lot of time, worse luck—I'll tell you about it later, if you care to hear details. Then, when that game was up, I did what I wish I'd done at first, found out and consulted a private detective, said to be one of the best in Paris——"

"You told your story—my story—to a detective?" I gasped.

"No. Certainly not. I said I'd lost something of value, given me by a lady, whose name I couldn't bring into the affair. I was George Sandford, too, not Mr. Dundas. I described my traveling companions, telling all that had happened on the way, and offered to pay big if he could find them quickly—especially the little fellow. He held out hopes of spotting them tonight, so don't be desperate, my poor girl. The detective chap seemed really to think he'd not have much difficulty in tracking down our man; and even if he's parted with the treaty, we can find out what he's done with it, no doubt. Girard says——"

"Girard!" I caught Ivor up. "Is your detective's name Anatole Girard, and does he live in Rue du Capucin Blanc?"

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"I know too much of him," I answered, bitterly.

"Isn't he clever, after all?"

"Far too clever. I'd rather you had gone to any other detective in Paris—or to none."

"Why, what's wrong with him?" Ivor began to be distressed.

"Only that he's a personal friend of my worst enemy—the man I spoke of to you this evening—Count Godensky. I've heard so from Godensky himself, who mentioned the acquaintance once when Girard had just succeeded in a case everybody was talking about."

"By Jove, what a beastly coincidence!" exclaimed Ivor, horribly disappointed at having done exactly the wrong thing, when he had tried so hard to do the right one. "Yet how could I have dreamed of it?"

"You couldn't," I admitted, hopelessly. "Nothing is your fault. All that's happened would have happened just the same, no matter what messenger the Foreign Secretary had sent to me. It's fate. And it's my punishment."

"Still, even if Godensky and Girard are friends," Ivor tried to console me, "it isn't likely that the Count has talked to the detective about you, and the affair of the treaty."

"He may have gone to him for help in finding out things he couldn't find out himself."

"Hardly, I should say, until there'd been time for him to fear failure. No, the chances are that Girard will have no inner knowledge of the matter I've put into his hands and if he's a man of honor, he's bound to do the best he can for me, as his employer. Have you seen du Laurier?"

"Yes. At the theater. Nothing bad had happened to him yet; but that brute Godensky has made dreadful mischief between us. If only I'd known that you would be so late, I might have explained everything to him."

"I'm very sorry," said Ivor, so humbly and so sadly that I pitied him (but not half as much as I pitied myself, even though I hadn't forgotten that hint he had let drop about a great sacrifice—a girl he loved, whom he had thrown over, somehow, to come to me.) "I made every effort to be in time. It seems a piece with the rest of my horrible luck today that I was prevented. I hope, at least, that Du Laurier knows about the necklace?"

"He does, by this," I answered. "Yet I'm afraid he won't be in a mood to take much comfort from it—thanks to that wretch. You know Raoul hasn't a practical bone in his body. He will think I've deceived him, and nothing else will matter. I must——" But I broke off, and laid my hand on Ivor's arm. "What's that?" I whispered. "Did you hear anything then?"

Ivor shook his head. And we both listened.

"It's a step outside, on the gravel path," said I, my heart beginning to knock against my side. "I forgot to lock the gate. Somebody has come into the garden. What if it should be Raoul—what if he has seen our shadows on the curtain?"

Mechanically we moved apart, Ivor making a gesture to reassure me, on account of the position of the lights. He was right. Our shadows couldn't have fallen on the curtain.

As we stood listening, there came a knock at the front door. It was Raoul's knock! I was sure of that.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Cornell Men to Dine.

The Cornell University Club will give a dinner tonight at 6:30 o'clock at Levy's. Cornell graduates, and former students are invited. Special preparation has been made for a bounteous spread, and a good time is promised.

New Federal Grand Jury.

A new Federal grand jury will be selected today from a venire of over forty prominent business and professional men. A number of prisoners are in the custody of the United States Marshal awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Car and Cook Collide.

Thomas J. Hart, a cook, was struck by a street car at Fifth street and Central avenue last night. He sustained a scalp wound, which was dressed at the Receiving Hospital. Later he was removed to his home, No. 189 Franklin avenue.

Pictures of China.

"A General View of China," will be the topic of a lecture at the Young Men's Christian Association tonight, by Rev. L. A. Gould. The lecture will be illustrated with many stereopticon pictures and will be free. All young men are invited to attend.

Knocked by Unknown Assailant.

George Haley, a teamster, was knocked down by an unknown assailant on North Los Angeles street. He was found by a patrolman and taken to the Receiving Hospital, where a wound inflicted in the back of his head was dressed. Haley had been drinking.

Annual Fellowship Dinner.

The Los Angeles Fellowship will hold its annual dinner at Burbank Hall on Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock. There will be a number of brief addresses and readings. B. Fay Mills will be toastmaster, and Mrs. George D. Ruddy will tell of her trip to Europe.

Band Will Play.

Ocean Park wants a band. After two weeks of silence on the part of Gregory's band the merchants of the town have declared in favor of music. Money was raised yesterday to keep the band through the winter. The first concert will be given Saturday afternoon.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The Founders' and Employers' Association held a meeting yesterday and passed resolutions of sympathy and condolence with the widow and daughter of Sylvester Luther, who died on Tuesday, and who had been the secretary of the association from the time of its organization.

Builders Will Smoke.

Members of the Builders' Exchange and their friends will gather in the rooms of the organization in the Stimson building this evening to enjoy a smoker. The affair will be entirely informal, and no programme has been arranged. The builders, however, promise to make an effort to furnish entertainment for their guests.

Finds Purse, Cash Gone.

A. E. Nichols, manager of the California Dental Company, reported to the detectives last night the loss of a pocketbook containing $250. When Nichols discovered his loss he did some detective work for himself. About midnight he reported that he had found the empty purse in Central Place.

Laughing "Booster."

"The Elks' Booster," which its publishers modestly term the best paper on earth, by the "Best People on Earth," has just reached Los Angeles from Riverside, where the local lodge of Elks is planning its annual charity fund benefit, to be given on the evenings of the 21st and 22d inst., at the Loring Theater. There is a "josh" in every line of the "Booster," and many between the lines—both in advertising and reading matter. It should have a place alongside Joe Miller's joke-book in every home where there is liver trouble and dyspepsia.

Feast of Discovery.

This evening the Knights of Columbus will celebrate the feast of the Discovery of America at their clubhouse. There are to be addresses by Joseph Scott, Anthony Schwamm, Father John Caballeria and Paul J. McCormick. A piano selection will be offered by Martin F. Kerwin, and Señorita Marie Aspiroz will render a violin solo. Miss Lillian Scanlon, Mrs. Martin Polite and several others will sing. At the conclusion of these exercises will be dancing, and refreshments will be served. Delegations from councils of neighboring cities will attend.

Drawbridge Dispute.

Owing to delay caused by the addition of a supplemental report to the official statement of Capt. A. A. Fries, Corps of Engineers, U.S.A., the case involving the substitution of drawbridges for trestles over the west basin at Wilmington was not forwarded to Washington until yesterday. Capt. Fries says he does not expect any formal order for several weeks. A number of petitions were filed in the local engineer's office, requesting that the government compel the Pacific Electric and the Southern Pacific companies to replace the two trestles now in use with drawbridges. The railway companies assert that navigation is not important enough to require the change, which would entail an outlay of several hundred thousand dollars.

BREVITIES.

Women's special classes meet at Cumnock School of Expression today, as follows: Reading (Mrs. Grigg,) and training of the speaking voice (Miss Leonard,) 3:30 p.m. Physical culture (Miss Hogan,) 10:45 a.m. All invited to first lesson. 1500 S. Figueroa st.

J. W. Frey has moved his stock of mantels, grates, tiles and andirons to his warerooms, corner Los Angeles and Twelfth streets, where can be seen the largest assortment of black and brass fireplace trimmings to be found in the United States.

British subjects are requested to send their addresses to the undersigned. British-born persons owning property in California are advised to execute wills appointing resident executors. Forms gratis on application. C. White Mortimer, British Vice-Consul.

Extra-size men, extra-stout men, short, stout men, tall, slim men—all are specially provided for in our new fall stock of suits, overcoats and rain coats. Best values here always. Harris & Frank, 437-441 S. Spring st.

SHOCKING.

THREATENS TO BARE SECRETS.

BATONYI MAY REVEAL NEWPORT'S NAUGHTINESS.

Lawyer of Famed Whip, Whose Wife Seeks Divorce, Declares Client's Revelations of Skeletons in Society at Noted Watering Place Will Prove Very, Very Shocking.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Threats to expose the secrets of the gay society world of Newport in a manner that will shock those outside the "charmed circle," as well as many socially prominent, are made by Edward A. Alexander, counsel for the husband of Mrs. Aurel Batonyi, whom she has sued for divorce.

Mrs. Batonyi was Mrs. Burke-Roche, and her marriage to Batonyi, the professional whip, has never been forgiven by her millionaire father, Frank Work.

Though he at first believed her father's money had induced her to apply for a divorce, Batonyi is convinced, now that Work has declared he will never allow his daughter to return to his home, that other influences have been at work.

It is at the person who is responsible for this that his lawyer's threats are aimed. A jury trial of the divorce case is to be demanded, and Alexander promises that the revelations of Batonyi will be more shocking than those incident to the Thaw trial.

CLIF THREATENS TOWN.

Floods and Storms Cause Great Damage and Peril Throughout Southern Europe.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Southern Europe is in the grasp of a tremendous storm, accompanied by torrential rains. This, coming on the heels of the unprecedented rainfalls and floods of the last three weeks, is causing very great disturbance. The storm area extends from Morocco northward over Portugal, Spain and Southern France.

Warships off the African coast and the Spanish Peninsula have sought shelter.

The village of Olet near Barcelona, Spain, was literally washed away by a cloudburst and the River Llobregat south of Barcelona is described as being a raging torrent constantly claiming new victims.

The city of St. Sebastian, in the north of Spain, has been ravaged by a hurricane. The recent flooded rivers in the south of France are again rising.

In the Department of Savoie, a great overhanging cliff of 800,000 cubic meters is reported to be moving and in imminent danger of toppling over and crushing the village of Tormery, 1000 feet below.

A dispatch from Brest says several smacks have capsized and their crews have been drowned.

FAR-REACHING.

CLOUDS A MILLION OF SEWER MONEY.

Decision Stops Great Work in City, May Ruin Contractors.

Court Holds Mountain View District Assessment Invalid Because of Faulty Description in Ordinance, and Los Angeles and Many Southern California Towns Affected—Carelessness or Incompetence Somewhere.

SUPERIOR JUDGE HUTTON has thrown a cloud on almost $1,000,000 of sewer contracts and assessments in Los Angeles alone by a decision invalidating the levy for the Mountain View sewer district. Unless the decision is reversed by the Supreme Court it will mean financial ruin to a number of local sewer contractors, and heavy loss to investment companies.

The decision affects not only Los Angeles, but all Southern California. Sewer work here is practically at a standstill; the contractors will do no more work until they receive some assurance that their assessments will be valid. Judge Hutton's decision is based on alleged faulty descriptions of sewer districts in ordinances of intention prepared in the City Engineer's office.

Superior Court Judge George H. Hutton, whose decision in the Mountain View sewer district case may invalidate more than a half million dollars of sewer assessments, and has stopped work on many large jobs in the city. It may affect all Southern California.

Judge Hutton's decision means a direct loss of $13,000 to B. Derrania, the Mountain View contractor. It affects indirectly almost $1,000,000 of sewer contracts and assessments in the city, and it will be felt outside because most of the smaller cities have copied the forms for Vrooman act work used here.

The city will lose nothing; the gain will be that of property owners who will receive sewers free, and the loss will be that of sewer contractors and trust companies that have bought sewer assessments. Assessment Clerk Palomares, in the engineering department, said yesterday that about $20,000 of sewer work is in course of construction now. On about half of this operations have been suspended pending a final settlement of the Mountain View assessment.

Fifteen sewer contractors met yesterday afternoon in an attorney's office in the Merchants' Trust building to discuss the situation. Each of these is now engaged in building sewers under contracts which contain the same alleged defect that Judge Hutton considered sufficient to invalidate Derrania's assessment.

Most of them have laid off their crews, and will do no more work until assured that the assessments will be valid.

If Judge Hutton's decision is sustained by the State Supreme Court it will mean heavy financial loss for all contractors now doing sewer work, for it will mean bankruptcy.

THE POINT OF IT.

The point in the decision is this:

The ordinance of intention for sewering the streets in the Mountain View district reads: "The public interest and convenience require, and it is the intention of the Council of the city of Los Angeles to order, the following work to be done, to-wit:

"That a vitrified pipe sewer be constructed in said city in Temple street from Oro stret to Union avenue.

A dozen other streets are named in the ordinance in like manner. Then the ordinance continues, "between the points on the lines at the elevations and on the grades as designated on the plan and profile in the records of said office of the City Engineer."

But the plan and profile in the office of the City Engineer show that the sewer was not to be constructed from Oro street to Union avenue, but from a point 300 feet east of Oro street to a point fifty feet west of Union avenue. Yet all the property between these two streets is assessed for the sewer.

Judge Hutton calls attention to the fact that the owners of the 300 feet of Oro street frontage where there is no sewer have been prevented from protesting, possibly, because they read in the ordinance of intention that they were to receive a sewer.

In response to a question from the attorney for the plaintiff, Judge Hutton said that the ordinance of intention on its face appears to be framed for the intention of deceiving certain property owners in the assessment district until the time provided by law in which they may protest has expired.

In eleven of the twelve streets of the Mountain View district, the sewer does not extend to the points named in the ordinance of intention.

CAUSTIC STRICTURES.

During the progress of the suit there were some caustic strictures on the city's engineering department for sending forth so faulty an assessment. The decision becomes one of prime importance for the reason that all the sewer contracts made during the last three years have contained this identical defect. The only exception is that in ordinances of intention published since the Derrani suit was filed the wording "in Temple from Oro to Union" has been changed to "in Temple between Oro and Union."

The attorneys for both plaintiff and defendant in the Mountain View case allege that the substitution of the words "in" and "and" for "from" and "to" does not affect the legal point in controversy.

A week ago Derrania stepped from under a $23,000 contract in the Clarence-street sewer district because of this alleged error in the ordinance of intention.

NOT ACCOUNTED FOR.

At the City Hall no one seems to know just where this apparent error in the ordinance of intention for sewer work originated and why it has been continued for so long. The City Attorney's office claims an alibi. Contracts for Vrooman Act work are not passed on by the City Attorney.

Contractors suffering from the sting of Judge Hutton's decision are now clamoring for an ordinance requiring the City Attorney to pass on these contracts. They say that it is through lax inspection that this and other errors creep into the contracts, and it is the contractors who must bear the loss.

Engineer W. F. Knowlton is in charge of the sewer department in the Engineer's office. It is through this department that the ordinances of intention issue. The attorneys for Derrania say that neither City Engineer Hamlin nor the Board of Public Works are to blame.

Engineer Knowlton said yesterday that the form of ordinance used in the Mountain View district is the same as that used in almost every other district. It is a printed form that was in the Engineer's office when he took charge of the department two years ago.

"We have had a number of consultations with members of the board and with our attorneys today," said Engineer Knowlton, "and we shall not send out any other sewer ordinances until we have a new form approved by the City Attorney. Our attorneys do not believe that the point advanced by Judge Hutton is well taken; they think the decision will be reversed by the State Supreme Court."

"We have followed the forms have been used here for millions of dollars of sewer work; this is the first time they have been challenged. I was given to understand that the form of the ordinance was approved by former City Attorney Mathews, but I do not know that this is so."

CARELESS OR INCOMPETENT.

The assessment for the Mountain View district, bears on its face evidence of gross carelessness or rank incompetence in the engineering department. There may be some excuse for the manner in which the route of the sewer is described, but there can be none for the more glaring error which places a part of the sewer outside the assessment district.

The sewer extends along First street from Pacheco to Bonnie Brae streets. But none of the frontage on this part sent here from Kansas City to be assistant general agent of Wells, Fargo Company.

EXPRESSIVE.

CITY IS THIRD FOR BUSINESS.

WELLS FARGO SENDS AIDE TO GENERAL AGENT.

After New York and Chicago, Los Angeles Has the Palm, and Kansas City Man Comes to Help Handle Great Traffic—Shows How We Grow.

Owing to the enormous growth of the express business in this city, Wells-Fargo & Company has found it necessary to appoint an assistant general agent here, placing Los Angeles in a class with New York and Chicago, those being the only other cities where assistant general agencies exist.

The company now ranks Los Angeles third in point of business importance. The company's offices in New York City hold the record, Chicago comes next, while third on the list, with a total that far overshadows those lower on the ladder, comes Los Angeles.

The newly-appointed general agent is Elmer R. Jones, formerly in charge of the business of Wells-Fargo & Company on the Santa Fé lines from Emporia, Kan., to Holly, Colo. He has been in the employ of the company for fourteen years, having entered in 1893. He was for several years route agent with headquarters at Joplin, Mo.

Los Angeles is the headquarters through which all of the business transacted on the lines of the Pacific Electric Company is handled. This means an enormous volume of work, and General Agent C. N. Campbell found it necessary to apply for an assistant. The business is growing rapidly, and officials of the company confidently believe that before long Los Angeles will closely press Chicago for second place.

The business transacted over the electric lines will come directly under the supervision of the new official, and he is rapidly making himself acquainted with Southern California and the conditions existing here. He is very enthusiastic over the conditions, and says that nowhere in the country is the service better.

"I find that there are hourly collections in the downtown district," said Mr. Jones last night. "There is no other city in the country where this rule is in force. Usually a wagon calls only in response to an order, but so great is the business here that it is found necessary to send wagons around to call upon the shippers.

"Of course I knew of the wonderful strides which Los Angeles was making and was prepared to find a thriving metropolis, but I was by no means prepared for the great shipping business that I find. My company considers this city one of the most important centers and since coming here I can readily appreciate the reason why."

PUMPING OIL BACKWARD.

Union Company Reverses the Order of Things in Pipe Line to Rush Fuel Here.

The Union Oil Company of California has reversed the intended order of things and is using its pipe line from San Pedro to Los Angeles to pump the oil brought to the harbor town by tank steamers from the Coast fields. This pipe line was to be connected with the Fullerton field to convey oil from there to the Coast, and was later switched to the Whittier field. The company is rushing oil to Los Angeles at the rate of from 20,000 to 30,000 barrels a month to relieve the shortage of fuel oil now apparent, and the pipe line to the Coast comes in as a handy factor of transportation to their storage tanks in this city. The fact that a pipe line intended to transport surplus oil from Los Angeles county fields to the Coast and abroad is used as a means of rushing oil into Los Angeles is a part of the new order of things lately developed.

ROOSEVELT-TAFT CLUB.

Strong Organization Started at Huntington Park—One Hundred Members at First.

An enthusiastic Roosevelt-Taft Club has been started at Huntington Park, including several former Democrats, as well as the bulk of the leading Republicans of the town. One hundred citizens have already joined. A preliminary meeting was held last evening. Col. W. P. Moss was chosen temporary chairman, and C. J. Johnson, temporary secretary. The following committees were appointed: On organization, A. A. Webber, F. M. Steele, Commodore A. H. Nutt, I. C. Ulrich and F. C. Cremer; on resolutions, Louis Webber, John Pinkham, C. J. Johnson, E. K. Allen and W. C. Morse. The organization will be perfected next week. As these clubs adopt a broad platform on which every true-blue and self-respecting Republican can stand, and are in accord with the Republican spirit of the day, they make a hit everywhere.

PSYCHIC.

AFFINITIES GO IN BACK ROW.

"Soul's Delight" Now Rules Marital Affairs.

That's What Husband Claims in Domestic Row.

But Court Frowns on Spirits in the Smith Case.

Affinities hereafter will kindly take a back seat. A "soul's delight" in the shape of a disembodied spirit is now the proper thing.

The latest psychological spiritualistic travesty on matrimony is to go into a trance and communicate with your "soul's delight."

But Judge Monroe in the Superior Court yesterday would not permit any testimony in a divorce case as to love making by spirits.

Even a husband has to play second fiddle to a "soul's delight"—lucky, even, to be allowed to live in the same house.

"Did the spirits tell you not to live with your husband?" asked the husband's attorney of Mrs. Martha Jane Smith, who was testifying in her suit for divorce against Charles H. Smith.

Mrs. Smith said they had not, and Judge Smith ruled that it did not make any difference, anyway, as the fact remained that the witness acknowledged she had refused for two years to live with her husband, although residing in the same house with him.

It was one of the most curious cases tried in the Superior Court in a long time. Mrs. Smith charged her husband with cruelty, claimed that the choked her, and struck her on the head with a big knife.

Smith keeps a corner grocery on Pico Heights, and is well-to-do. The couple have a son 18 years old, and it was on account of this son that Smith opposed the divorce. Otherwise, all arrangements had been made for a division of the property.

Mrs. Smith testified in her own behalf that one night her husband tried to enter her room, and that in self-defense she got a large knife, an old Filipino bolo or dagger, but that Smith opened the door of her room just the same, dragged her out into the hall, and struck her in the face and cut her forehead.

When Smith took the stand he testified that Mrs. Smith had got this knife and threatened him with it; that it was dark, and that in the effort to disarm her the knife must have cut her on the forehead. He denied absolutely that he struck his wife or that he attempted to cut her.

"The knife is a very heavy one," said Smith, "and if I had really struck her on the head with it I would have killed her."

When Mrs. Smith's attorney announced that their evidence was in, apparently showing that Smith had assaulted his wife, counsel for Smith stated that he intended to place character witnesses on the stand to show what a good man his client is.

"I don't care anything about the character of a man who strikes a woman," declared Judge Monroe. He held that the question was whether the woman was struck or not.

In describing the struggle in which she was cut, Mrs. Smith testified that "it was a terrible fight; it was fierce. We struggled together in the dark."

It was claimed by the defense, although not allowed as evidence, that Mrs. Smith is really a sort of amateur medium and goes into trances; that she has a "soul's delight" with which she communicates, and that this is one of the reasons why she has boycotted her husband for two years.

At the end of the trial Judge Monroe denied Mrs. Smith a decree. It is probable that the husband will now bring suit for a divorce on the ground of desertion.

REAVIS SMITTEN.

Rhyolite "Judge" Punches Local Real Estate Man in the Face in Alexandria Lobby.

It was in the big lobby of the Alexandria last evening, when the ante-dinner crowd was at its height. "Judge" V. T. Hoggatt of Rhyolite was talking with a number of friends. J. D. Reavis, a real estate agent of Los Angeles, walked into the lobby and Hoggatt called to him jovially to come up and shake hands.

Reavis, who is about half the size of Hoggatt, stepped up at a lively gait and shook hands warmly with the big man from the desert town. Everything seemed lovely. Not a cloud was on the sky. Suddenly Hoggatt asked Reavis something. Like a flash, Hoggatt's hand shot out and with a loud smack that could be heard all over the lobby he smote Reavis full on the cheek.

Hoggatt is considerably over six feet in height and built in proportion. His "smites" carry weight. Reavis, staggering, exclaimed: "Now, Judge; now, Judge," but to no avail. He picked up his hat and rushed out of the lobby, his face pale with anger.

Hoggatt refused to explain his actions and Reavis also was mum. It was reported that some sort of real estate deal had caused the ruction.

Hoggatt left an hour afterward for San Francisco.

REVERED MAN PASSES.

Philanthropist Who Was a Political Light in the Lone Star State Is Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late ex-Judge D. S. Carnahan, was held yesterday in Pasadena. He had been a resident of La Cañada for twenty-four years, at the time of his death, which came at the age of 71.

Before coming to California Mr. Carnahan was district attorney of Shelby county, Texas, and later became judge of the Superior Court of the same county. He was for many years a prominent figure in the political life of the Lone Star State.

Upon coming to California he made his home in the beautiful foothills. He became interested many years ago in philanthropic work in Los Angeles and devoted much of his time to helping the poor. His wife died several years before he left Texas. Surviving him are a son, D. S. Carnahan, Jr., of San Francisco, who was called to his father's bedside just before the end, and two daughters, Miss Lorene Carnahan and Mrs. T. W. Burke, both of Alameda.

Le Grand Parker,

oil magnate and former Police Commissioner, who died yesterday.

PIONEER OIL MAN NO MORE.

President of Parker Company, and Former Police Commissioner, Dead After a Long Illness.

Le Grand Parker, former Police Commissioner, president of the Parker Oil Company, and one of the pioneer oil men of the local field, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at his home, No. 1134 West Eighteenth street. He had been confined to his home for three years as the result of a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Parker was a native of Iowa and was 63 years of age. He came here in 1892, and in 1894 when oil in paying quantities was first developed in the local fields, he saw the possibilities of the industry and became associated with it. He secured leases on valuable property and sunk wells, at one time having more than 100 in operation.

Under Mayor Snyder's regime, Mr. Parker served as Police Commissioner and later was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Mayor. At the close of his term as Police Commissioner, he devoted all his efforts to managing his oil properties. He always took keen interest in municipal affairs, however.

As the oil industry became centralized, Parker disposed of a part of his holdings and organized the others on a firmer basis. He organized the Parker Oil Company and at the time of his death was the principal stockholder in the corporation. He owned considerable property in addition to his oil holdings, and was rated a wealthy man.

Mr. Parker leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. John R. Ott and Miss Nellie L. Parker, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Orr & Edwards.

UNIONITES UGLY.

National Federation of Bricklayers, Crowded Out Here, May Try to Call General Strike.

In a last mad effort to force the union-labor collar upon the builders of Los Angeles, the National Federation of Bricklayers has voted an assessment to wage warfare against the Bricklayers' Association, the local organization of non-union bricklayers, lately founded. They may attempt to call a general strike in the building trades.

Much of the strength of the unions in the building trades is due to the fact that contractors are often unable to secure competent non-union help at short notice. It was to remedy this condition that the Bricklayers' Association was formed. At the very beginning many union men seseded and joined the independent organization.

At a recent meeting of the association a walking delegate of the Bricklayers' Union announced that the independent organization would be broken up and the members driven out of the city. The threat made no impression, however, and the matter was taken before the National Federation.

The National Federation of Bricklayers having been admitted to the Building Trades Council, it is thought a sympathetic strike may be called in an attempt to force the contractors to dispense with the services of the non-union bricklayers and employ unionites. The Bricklayers' Association is making preparations to fight such a step. An effort will be made to induce the non-union plumbers, carpenters, tin workers and others to form organizations similar to the Bricklayers' Association. This would make it impossible for the National Federation, no matter how large its war fund, to make an impression in Los Angeles.

Contractors do not sympathize with the attempt of the union bricklayers to force the collar upon the mechanics of this city, and they are ready to back up the independents. Most of the money to carry on the fight against the independent bricklayers of this city will be raised in the East. Local workmen will give little assistance.

WE BOYS MEET.

Hear Interesting Talk from Korean Student at the University and Fill a Vacancy.

An interesting meeting of We Boys, a young men's society of the First Methodist Sunday-school, was held at the home of Dr. Robert McIntyre, pastor of the church. Hugh Cynn, a Korean student at the University of Southern California, and in whose education the society has taken an interest, spoke sensibly and at length of the social and political conditions of his country. He spoke without bitterness or censure toward the Japanese, and without appeal for his own countrymen, but his talk nevertheless was a strong plea for the preservation of the Korean nation.

Carl W. King, vice-president of the society, has gone to Washington as assistant secretary of Senator Flint, and Haven Hearst was elected to fill the vacancy.

IN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The membership of the Chamber of Commerce is increasing every week. At yesterday's meeting of the directorate, the following-named were admitted to membership: Charles A. Baldwin, paving contractor; P. B. Cross & Co., real estate; A. L. Selig, Edison Electric Company; W. A. Hardman, broker; J. C. Forkner, real estate; John H. Brource, building contractor; Railsback-Claremore Co., importers and decorators of china; Star Piano Company and Albert Vignolo, teller of International Bank

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council yesterday adopted an ordinance providing for a general cleaning campaign throughout the city for a period of thirty days. It is estimated the cost will be kept within $12,000.

The city's cement expert yesterday stated that he believes cement can be produced at the plant at Tehachepi within nine months.

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded to the Wood Lumber Company the contract for furnishing lumber for camps and bunk houses along the Owens River aqueduct.

Walter Cosby, who blockaded Fourth street with his automobile, was placed on trial yesterday in the Police Court, and war between trolley line and autoists will end only with jury decision in his case.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CITY TO HURRY CEMENT PLANT.

MACHINERY SOON DUE FROM FACTORIES EAST.

Contracts Awarded for Hundred and Sixty Thousand Dollars' Worth of Equipment, and Prospect for Making Within Nine Months. Present Supply Assured.

Construction of the city's cement plant at Tehachepi will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, say aqueduct authorities, notwithstanding reports that the municipality has given up its plans for the manufacture of its own cement, and will depend upon a private corporation for its supply.

It is now declared that the negotiations which were under way by which it was believed the city would be relieved from embarking in the cement-making enterprise have practically fallen through, and Los Angeles will be the first municipality in the country to undertake a proposition of this character.

Within seven weeks machinery will commence to arrive, and it is pointed out that should the aqueduct officials eventually decide to dispose of the city's cement deposits and machinery to private parties, this could only be done in the regular way—by advertising for bidders on a definite proposition.

In this event, says the legal department of the Los Angeles aqueduct, delays and complications would result, and bids perhaps higher than those of parties claiming to be "on the ground-floor" might be submitted.

Aqueduct engineers are desirous that the plant shall be placed in operation at the earliest possible moment, and E. Duryee, the cement expert who carried on the cement investigations and who will have charge of the cement mill, believes that with no unforeseen delay the plant will be producing cement within nine months from the present time.

The Board of Public Works has signed contracts calling for the delivery of mechanical equipment to cost $33,424. The Diolier Engineering Company is given the contract for furnishing two steam turbo sets, with complete installation of the engine room, delivery to be made in six months, for $50,830. The Pacific Coast Manufacturing Company is to furnish twenty-six motors for running the machinery of the cement mill, at a cost of $13,044, and boilers for the turbo sets for $15,550.

In addition to this the board has awarded contracts for cement making machinery aggregating more than $90,000, thus bringing the total amount of awards up to more than $160,000. It is said that these purchases have been made at a price that is fully 10 per cent. less than the estimates originally made.

It is believed by the aqueduct engineers that the 30,000 barrels of cement contracted for from the California Portland Cement Company of Colton, last July, will be sufficient for aqueduct construction until the Tehachepi plant is completed and in readiness for operation, when the city will be in a position to manufacture its own cement at the rate of 1000 barrels per day.

The city owns 2300 acres of land within five miles of Tehachepi, containing what are said to be the finest deposits of cement-making materials in the West.

CAMPAIGN ON.

THIRTY DAYS' CLEANING.

In special session, yesterday afternoon, the City Council adopted as an emergency order an ordinance providing for a thirty days' cleaning-up campaign throughout the city.

This is to be carried on in accordance with the plan formulated by the City Health Officer, in conjunction with the Los Angeles County Medical Society. Three days were spent on the details of these plans by the physicians, before they were submitted to the City Council; and practically no changes are to be made, except in the number of men to be employed as laborers.

The proposed ordinance brought forth a long discussion, in which the various physicians present urged the immediate adoption of the provisions, and finally the Council, by a unanimous vote, adopted the ordinance.

The entire campaign, which is limited by the ordinance to a period of thirty days, is to be under the supervision of the City Health Officer.

The ordinance provides that there shall be employed in the health department for the period of thirty days from the 25th of October, medical inspectors not to exceed nine in number, who shall receive salaries of $150 per month each; sanitary inspectors, not to exceed eighteen, at a salary of $3 per day each; assistant sanitary inspectors not to exceed eighty-one at a salary of $2.25 each; laborers, not to exceed 140, at a salary of $2.25 each; drivers, not to exceed forty, furnishing two-horse teams with wagons, at a salary of $4 per day each.

The medical inspectors and their assistants are empowered to enter upon, examine and inspect any premises in the city for the purpose of determining whether the place is in proper sanitary condition, and if needed notices are to be served upon the owner or occupant of the premises to clean up the property within five days.

In the event the owner or occupant neglects to destroy or remove from the place the offending conditions, then these officials shall have power to enter upon the premises and do the work themselves or superintend its being done by the laborers.

A special campaign is to be made against rats, and the ordinance provides that the medical inspectors or their assistants may enter upon any premises at any time for this purpose.

The general plan is to divide the city into wards, in conformity with the regular wards, and to place a medical inspector at the head of each of these subdivisions. Each inspector is to have two sanitary inspectors and a corps of nine men whose duties shall mainly be rat-catching. The corps of laborers and teamsters are to remove the accumulations of rubbish on lots where there is no possibility of reaching the owners.

A quick, sharp campaign for cleanliness is planned, and it is estimated that the cost will be kept within the sum of $12,000.

The ordinance will be signed by Acting-Mayor Pease today.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

WORKS BOARD'S PROGRAMME.

The Board of Public Works has set dates for hearings on four matters which have an interest to a large number of citizens. These hearings will be public, and will be for the purpose of receiving evidence on both sides of the questions involved.

At 2 o'clock on tomorrow afternoon the board will consider the petition of U. C. Deming and others, asking for the improvement of Grand avenue, between Seventh and Pico streets, and requesting that the trees shall be removed from the street.

Tomorrow afternoon is also the time set for hearing of the petition asking that proceedings for the widening of Sixteenth street from Main to Figueroa street be recommenced, and that the assessment district to pay the cost of this improvement be fixed to include the property on the street between Main and Hoover streets.

At 2 o'clock on Friday, October 25, there will be a hearing on the petition asking that Royal street, now known as Zalvida street, be closed from Bellevue avenue to Alvarado street, and made into a fifteen-foot alley.

A hearing will also be given the same afternoon to the proposition of continuing Hoover street on its present lines through to Jefferson street, cutting through Kingsley street, and that the same be paved to Jefferson street.

Budlong's Improvement.

Property owners on Budlong avenue, between Santa Monica avenue and Forty-sixth streets, have petitioned for the improvement of the street under the bond provisions of the Vrooman act.

Lumber Contract Awarded.

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded to the E. K. Woods Lumber Company the contract for furnishing lumber and building materials to be used in establishing various camps along the Owens River conduit. The amount of this contract is $5194.75.

Only Six Accidents.

The accident report for the last half of September, filed at the City Clerk's office, yesterday, by the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway, shows that there were only six accidents on that line in the city during that period, and that three persons were injured. There were no fatalities.

Want Private Contract.

Property owners on Naomi avenue have petitioned the City Council to allow them to improve that street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets, by private contract.

Protest on Magnolia Avenue.

A street frontage of over 1100 feet is represented on a protest filed yesterday with the City Clerk, against the proposed widening of Magnolia avenue, from Adams to Twenty-seventh street, to a width of fifty-two feet.

Next Land Sale.

The next auction of lands held by the city through purchase for unpaid taxes will be held at the City Hall on October 29. There will be sixty-eight parcels of land offered for sale, and the description of these will be ready for distribution at the City Clerk's office today. Judging by the interest manifested in the land sale of Tuesday, the second auction is likely to attract many investors.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

KISS FESTIVAL, THEN DIVORCE.

ROMANTIC FEELINGS TOO MUCH FOR HUSBAND.

Moonlight and Affinity a Strong Combination and Mrs. Peebles Is Granted an Interlocutory Decree With Alimony on Statutory Grounds.

Moonlight kissing festivals in which her husband was a principal was one of the charges made by Mrs. Mae Peebles in her suit for a divorce from Charles Peebles, former manager of the Oakwood Hotel at Arcadia, which was tried before Judge Monroe in the Superior Court yesterday. Mrs. Peebles charged adultery, and was granted a decree and $25 a month alimony.

Mrs. Peebles recently filed a suit for alienation of her husband's affections against Mrs. Treadwell Hall, claiming $50,000 damages, but yesterday this case was settled out of court and dismissed. It is stated that no money passed in the settlement.

The testimony was to the effect that Charles Peebles was addicted to automobile drives by moonlight, as well as at other times, and that Mrs. Treadwell Hall was his companion. The whizzing automobile, the moonlight, the shadowy mountains, a beautiful woman and the general surroundings induced romantic feelings for the nearest affinity in the heart of Mr. Peebles, which were reciprocated by Mrs. Hall, and these long rides were a continuous hugging and kissing festival.

Mrs. Peebles is now a resident of Pasadena, and Mr. Peebles is no longer manager of the Oakwood.

CASE DISMISSED.

REYMERT DISCHARGED.

Justice Stephens in the township court has dismissed the charge against Attorney James D. Reymert of subornation of perjury in connection with a criminal suit before Judge Smith in the Superior Court, in which a Mexican was charged with grand larceny and acquitted upon perjured testimony, claimed to have been secured by the attorney. In discharging Mr. Reymert, Justice Stephens said:

"I have given the evidence considerable attention, and I find that the evidence consists exclusively of that of a rather ignorant Mexican, and our code specifies that where the charge of perjury or subornation of perjury has been brought we must have either two witnesses or one witness to the fact and corroborating testimony. Instead of corroborating testimony, I find the testimony rather corroboration of the defendant's version of the matter. I think the people have wholly failed in establishing the charge."

The justice ordered the dismissal of the case and exoneration of the bail bond.

THE LAST STRAW.

SUES HUSBAND FOR CHILD.

Drink was the nemesis alleged by Mrs. Sadie Hampton to have wrecked her home and forced her to leave her husband, Thomas Hampton, and yesterday she brought suit in the Superior Court against him for maintenance and for the custody of her only son, Leonard Ray, 7 years old. She asked a court order for $25 a month.

The couple were married in Denver, Colo., March 6, 1898, and Mrs. Hampton states in her complaint that her husband soon afterward became addicted to intoxicating liquors and a confirmed drunkard. For two years, she asserts, prior to May 8, 1907, Hampton was drunk most of the time, and always on Sundays and holidays.

When intoxicated, she says, he abused her, and finally she was forced to leave him on May 8, last, with her child. On October 5, she claims that Hampton took the boy away from her and is keeping him hidden from his mother. This act it was that aroused her to legal action.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HIS OWN ANGEL. George Franklin had an ambition to own a theater, even if it was only a moving-picture one, so he traded three nice lots for the lease and good will of La Petite Theater at Long Beach, with its picture machinery and all its fixin's, when assured that the place was free of debt. Yesterday he began suit in the Superior Court against Harry M. Lawson and H. B. Johnson, who traded the theater, for $1000 damages, claiming the landlord closed the theater on account of debts.

NEW STORE. Long Beach is to have a department store. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Meyer Department Store Company, with a capital of $25,000, fully subscribed. The trustees are George H., Henry D. and H. O. Meyer, with headquarters in Long Beach.

NOT GUILTY. Ramon Aguilar, a Pomona Mexican, was acquitted by a jury in the Superior Court yesterday of a charge of attempted burglary. The verdict was a surprise. Aguilar tried to break into the home of Z. L. Goulledge at Hollywood on September 12. Mrs. Goulledge was alone, and Aguilar was drunk. When he tried to break down the door, Mrs. Goulledge threatened to kill him if he didn't go away. He hung about the place, and a neighbor came along and knocked him down with the butt of a shotgun and captured him. Aguilar's defense was that he had no intention of committing a crime.

SUES FOR POLICY. The Metropolitan Bank and Trust Company began suit in the Superior Court yesterday as administrattor for the estate of the late William J. Benjamin against the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company to recover $10,000 on an accident policy. This was taken out November 21 last, and it is claimed that Benjamin slipped and fell in the Grosse building February 1, and was badly hurt, and again fell near his home on Twenty-first street March 15, and that these falls caused his death. A widow, Mrs. Ruby Benjamin, survives.

GRANTED DECREE. Ellis L. Terry was granted a decree of divorce from Mrs. Mertice J. Terry by Judge Conrey in the Superior Court yesterday on charges of cruelty. The principal charge was that Mrs. Terry often left her children to the care of her husband or strangers and spent her time at downtown cafés drinking.

DOUBLE DOSE. Justice Pierce in the Township Court yesterday imposed a fine of $10 on Loo Yon and another of $20 upon Loo Wan, his partner in a truck farm near El Monte, on charges of cruelty to animals made by officers of the S.P.C.A. The two Chinamen were caught driving horses unfit for work, which were shown to the justice as exhibits in the case in front of his court, which adjourned to the sidewalk to take the evidence.

OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN. P. J. Flynn, the convicted Sawtelle "blind pigger," is again in the County Jail. He has been in twice before, and each time Attorney Chester Smith got a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Monroe, and each time before it could be served Flynn was set free, and later arrested on another charge. Yesterday Attorney Smith got his third habeas corpus and Judge Monroe wanted to know when this was going to stop. The one signed yesterday is made returnable before Judge Smith tomorrow morning.

ON PROBATION. Judge Smith yesterday listened to testimony regarding the former good character of A. H. Ames, who pleased guilty to a charge of burglary for entering the room of P. Daniels. Ames was placed on probation for one year to report to Probation Officer A. C. Dodds.

OLD ESTATE. Frederico Pena, a son of Francisca R. M. de Pena, filed a petition in the Probate Court yesterday for letters of administration upon the estate, and that the case be reopened. "Shadowy" charges are made against the former administrator, P. M. Badillo, and it is claimed that about $10,000 worth of real estate is not accounted for. Judge Conrey set the case ahead for two weeks to give Badillo a chance to appear in court.

AUTOIST FIGHTS BLOCKADE LAW.

BATTLES WITH TROLLEY LINE IN POLICE COURT.

Stopped His Machine on Fourth Street, Tying Up an Electric Car for an Hour—Claims He Had Equal Right to Use of Street—Case Now Up to Jury.

The fight of the two great factions of municipal travel—automobiles and street railways—for possession of the city streets, waged fiercely yesterday in Justice Fredericksen's Police Court.

Walter Cosby, a well-known automobile dealer, had been arrested on a charge of blocking the cars of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company. It was alleged that for more than an hour his staunch little runabout held its own squarely on the Fourth-street tracks of the trolley line between Hill and Broadway. He fought the case bitterly, and almost every automobile man in the city was willing to lend him aid. The courtroom looked as if the motormaniacs had gathered to watch Barney Oldfield or some other celebrity.

The offense for which Cosby is on trial occurred several weeks ago. For months past the street cars and the automobile men had fought for the possession of that one block on Fourth street. It is directly in front of the depot of the Los Angeles-Pacific line and the cars from Santa Monica, Hollywood, Colegrove, Venice and Ocean Park all switch in at that point. The side entrance of the Broadway Department Store always has one or two wagons backed up to it, and an express stand is on the opposite side of the street, making the blockade complete.

The wrangle for right of way came to a head when Cosby in his runabout swept around the corner from Broadway, one evening, and sent his machine spinning westward on the north track. A car from Santa Monica was coming in on the south track at the time, and switched to the north track just in time to head off Cosby.

Cosby threw on the brakes and stopped his machine. For an hour he kept the machine there, refusing to move it. A big crowd collected and cheered him. The blockade was broken only by his arrest and the moving of the automobile.

Now Cosby is charged with violation of a city ordinance which prohibits unnecessary blockades. Yesterday he demanded a jury trial, and got it.

The railway company alleged that Cosby had sent his machine on the track, knowing that a car was switching at that point. It further alleged that the car had switched on a spring switch, and that it could not back out.

Cosby denied knowing what kind of a switch the car used. He told the jury that he had attempted to send his machine through a public street, and, finding a car in front of him, his way blockaded at both sides, and a crowd back of him, he waited until the way was cleared.

The case will be resumed this morning, and, after the cross-examination of two witnesses, the fate of the automobile man will rest with the jury.

Kan Kan in Court.

S. Kan Kan, proprietor of a Japanese restaurant, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of keeping unsanitary premises at the Korean Chop House. Kan Kan was sent to jail to await sentence today. It is his third offense. Y. C. Yam, arrested for the first time on that charge, was arraigned in court, and will be tried Friday by Justice Fredericksen.

TO COME IN, OR NOT.

Opposition Active to Plan for Annexation of West Arlington Heights to Los Angeles.

The plan by which certain members of the Arlington Heights Improvement Association would bring West Arlington Heights into the city, has struck a snag. W. S. Frye, president of the association, said yesterday that it is meeting with fierce opposition. At a meeting held a few nights ago only five persons were present. The "knockers," according to the president, had "queered" the meeting.

Mr. Frye, who is assistant cashier of the Bank of Southern California, is a resident of the territory, which is about a mile wide and two miles long. Though the district is out of the city, it recently has been admitted for school purposes, and children of West Arlington Heights can attend the Twenty-fourth-street school. Mr. Frye and others want to bring the section from Jefferson street on the south, to Wilshire boulevard on the north, into the city, but they are strongly opposed.

Undismayed by the objection, Frye is detrmined to press the battle. He hints of many things he intends to do to push the plan forward. Another meeting has been called for Monday night in the hall at Van Ness avenue and Washington street. Frye hopes the "boosters" will attend in force.

"This thing is fierce," said Frye yesterday. "I am meeting with all kinds of opposition, and from the people from whom I least expect it. I've got something under my hat which I cannot give out just now. Just wait awhile and I'll be able to talk."

Residents of Pico Heights, the territory inside the city immediately adjoining the tract in question, oppose the annexation scheme. They say it would still further limit their supply of gas and water, already too short.

The Treasury Department at Washington yesterday made its first purchase of silver in over a month. Two hundred thousand ounces were purchased at 61.626 cents per fine ounce, one-half to be delivered at New York and half at San Francisco.

PROGRESS.

LONG SERVICE IN OLD CHINA.

Secretary of Legation Tells About Reforms.

Schools and Opium Suppression There.

Is Agreeable With the American Colony.

The last thirty years, Edward T. Williams has spent twenty in China, his genial wife, seventeen. Having been members of the American colony living at the United States legation, they have seen the best side of life in China, and they freely say they like it.

They were interviewed yesterday at the home of Mr. Williams's brother, Frank Williams, on West Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles, where they had come direct from their post of duty. Edward Williams was first sent to China by the government in 1876, as an interpreter, later he became United States Vice-Consul, and after a period of years was appointed secretary of the legation at Peking, which place he now occupies. He is on leave of absence until January, and after a few weeks spent on the Coast, will go East to the old home of Mrs. Williams in Scranton, Pa., and to his own home in Ohio.

Of the Peking legation, he explained: "It is not a life so entirely among Europeans as many people suppose, for of the 1700 soldiers on duty there the colony consists of 2500 Europeans making people.

"When we were home five years ago, I said, 'we thought we would not make the trip again, as it is tiresome, but at the end of five years it looked pretty good,' and we have been on our third visit."

GREAT REFORMS.

"I said that China is making remarkable strides in advancement, and that of the thousands of years of history behind them, the people are moving as fast as it is safe to ask them to.

"We are just now for the first time in the way of self-government. In the recent municipal reform that has swept over the empire, and it promises good, instead of a city being governed by a prefect appointed by the emperor, as has been the case from time immemorial, it is now governed by a council of eight men."

Mr. Williams explained the intricate method for the selection of these councilmen, which is characterized by Chinese "puzzleology." Thirty-six are first selected, to which are added by a system of district representation, 126 others are added. This formidable body of representatives elect thirty of its number by ballot, and these thirty thus chosen select the eight members forming the council. The right to franchise is enjoyed only by those who own a stated quantity of real estate, and by those who bear a certain reputation of certain educational qualifications.

"The other great reform," continued Mr. Williams, "is that of the establishment of free public schools, somewhat after the plan in this country. Provision is made for teaching English, German and Japanese, but it takes time to bring that about. There has many hundreds of students scattered all over the world, preparing themselves for teachers in the public schools, and in time all these languages will be taught.

SUPPRESSING OPIUM.

"I believe the greatest reform is the effort to suppress the opium trade. In the province in which I live all the places where the drug is sold have been closed, but I do not think that has entirely stopped the use of opium. All the opium joints have been closed, and it is only sold at stores licensed for the purpose, and controlled by the government.

"Many persons among the common people who wish to use opium are required to register, and only those holding certificates of registration can purchase it, and they are limited to a stipulated portion. The store in their district is only given sufficient to supply the number of registered users in its district, and 10 per cent. will be deducted from this amount each year, so that at the end of ten years the number will be considered extinct, which will be hardly possible to suppose as it will be law permits persons over 60 years of age to smoke opium at home, but they are given six months in which to cease its use entirely. I know of many who have just lost their jobs because they did not stop in the required time. The law will operate hard on the poppy-growers in the districts, where the only means of transporting produce is on the backs of men. A man can carry down a thousand dollars' worth of opium, which could not transport much cheaper by any other kind. Hope lies in the extension of the railroad which is being built, which will give a market for their produce." Mr. Williams says that the boycott of American goods has gradually died out, and that conditions are now satisfactory. He also referred to the reform in the Chinese army, which is giving good results.

SHOTGUN DEEDS.

Certain Miners Ready for Claim Jumping—Rich Embryo Mines Bonded.

There is a lot of interest and activity in the desert, at what is known as the Bagdad section of the Belleville district of San Bernardino county, which has been shown surprisingly in the past few weeks by the rapidity of shaft sinking and invasion by engineers, miners and prospectors. Within the past two weeks more than a dozen claims have been bonded, disputes have resulted from the overlapping of claims, and a few men on the ridges have threatened to have resorted to shotguns to settle the question where their rights are disputed by interlopers.

The mineral aspect, Ord Mountain has been examined by experts to be extremely rich in gold and copper. Their reports are based chiefly on the discoveries made this month in the shaft on the Bagdad property and the examination of the ore found in the workings of the Bagdad Mining and Smelting Company. Col. J. B. Osborne, one of the capitalists have offered large sums for bonds of the claims and the Bagdad Mining and Smelting Company has turned down an offer to purchase the property at a million. Chicago capitalists, who recently has sunk a shaft 108 feet, cutting a tunnel of eighty feet, which will crosscut thirty-five feet. The report from the superintendent can be traced on the ledge which can be seen striking a ledge four feet wide of rich ore in gold and silver.

Years ago George O. Kilpatrick, a mining expert,

GOOD REALTY SALES.

Active Movement of Ranch Property and City Houses and Lands Reported by Dealers.

T. G. Clem has sold a ten-acre ranch, about a mile and a half southwest of Corona, to a local investor, through the agency of H. R. Cowan & Co., for a reported consideration of $12,500. The transaction included eighteen shares of water stock. The ranch is set to ten-year-old Washington navels. The same agent reports the following sales: A lot on the east side of Cimarron street, between Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets, 60x80 feet, west front, for Henry C. Jensen to Dr. Wismar, for $1625. A lot 50x145 feet on the east side of Crenshaw boulevard, north of Pico street to William Tuttle and E. J. Elson, for $1400. A lot 50x150 feet on the south side of Oakwood avenue, between Gramercy and Wilton place, for Gretta Rowell to a local investor, for $1050.

A movement is on foot in Hollywood to acquire the old Cahuenga schoolhouse property, between Prospect Park and the Cahuenga Pass, for a public park. The Grider-Hamilton-Oswald Company reports that options have been taken on about ten acres of land surrounding, and adjacent to, the old school property, and the probability is that negotiations will result in the purchase of the entire area, and the transfer, by the school trustees, of the five acres of school land to the city of Hollywood.

J. E. Martin reports sales as follows in the northwest section of the city: Leta A. Hall to Ella F. Morgan, two lots 60x165 feet, on Melrose avenue, between Hoover street and Burlington avenue, in the Ford's Temple-street addition, for $2000; George Crump to Sarah Jacobs, a lot onAllen street, in the Vermont and Melrose-avenue tract, southeast corner of those two streets, 50x150 feet, for $800; B. C. Baker to W. B. Doolittle, a lot 50x150 feet, on Allen street, same tract, for $825; Florence Baker to Mary E. Pollak, a lot on Allen street, same tract, 50x150 feet, $825. The last two buyers plan to build six-room bungalows.

Dickinson & Dezendorf and Charles McKenzie & Co. have sold the property on the northwest corner of Eighteenth street and Naomi avenue, consisting of a two-story, flour-flat building and a lot, 50x112 feet, for $5200. The grantor is the McKenzie-Meyer Investment Company. The buyer is a local investor.

H. G. Hildebrandt has sold to B. E. Vaughn, through the agency of Althouse Bros., a six-room modern bungalow at No. 2532 Powell street. Lot 50x150 feet. It was bought for a home; consideration $5250.

Through the agency of Will C. Prather & Co., the following sales are reported: Mrs. Louie H. Davis has sold, to Rev. John Freeborg a five-room story-and-a-half cottage at No. 1710 Berendo street; price $3250; lot 40x114 feet. A. W. Wright, ten acres of improved land near Gardena to William O'Harrell, for $7000. Dr. J. T. Stewart, a six-room bungalow at No. 1036 West Twenty-second street, to Frank N. Greely, for $5000; lot 50x150 feet. William F. West, ten acres of full bearing oranges, at Charter Oak, to R. M. Caldwell, for $8500. Mary Caldwell, the property at Nos. 1287 and 1291 Garfield avenue, Pasadena, improved with an eight-room and a five-room cottage, to O. P. Clark; price $9500; lot 90x330 feet.

The Jones & Ryder Land Company reports the sale of the property owned by R. H. Howell at No. 1533 Hoover street, consisting of a seven-room house and lot 45x150 feet, for $3500 cash. The property was bought by A. M. Luce, who intends to build an apartment house on the property.

George J. Cote reports the following sales: E. M. Larson to Jacob E. Hime, a modern six-room bungalow, No. 2919 Hobart boulevard, lot 40x140 feet; $5000. Mrs. F. C. Howes to Mrs. Mary Hunter, a corner at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 46; lot 126x250 feet $5000. Western California Land Company to Mrs. Fay Sudow, a lot on the east side of Crenshaw boulevard, 100 feet south of Washington street; lot 50x168; $1500. Harry Jackins to William E. Ransom, two lots on the east side of Crenshaw boulevard, 185 feet south of Washington street, $3000; lot 50x168 feet. To Jacob Fieber, six lots on East Fourth street, 85 feet east of Pecan street; $7000.

Reverend Sam Jones's Widow Gets $1,000 per Year for Life
The name and the fame of Rev. Sam P. Jones have gone over the nation. While the noted evangelist preached the Gospel with great power, it now transpires that he provided for his wife with great good sense. As a result of this foresight and self-denial is now paying Mrs. Jones $1,000 per year, and will continue to do so during her life. In a recent letter Mrs. Jones thanks the Company for the way in which this matter has been handled. This is all good for Mrs. Jones, but how about the woman yet unprotected and the man yet uninsured? The need is great and certain. The Company is strong and ready. Write and learn more about how such protection can be secured.
The Mutual Life Insurance Company

Pen Points

This seems to be an off year for the Ryans.

A touch of rain makes the brown fields green.

The "affinity" idea shows evidence of being overworked.

Great national expositions seem to leave great national debts.

Have a care, Lummis! You may get into the ranks of the mollycoddles and prevaricators.

Bogus check men and burglars like California climate as well as the people of more sober ways.

Railroad improvements are to wait till public confidence is restored—that is, till the public purse is replenished.

Let us cultivate a cordial spirit toward the thousands of people arriving in our sunshiny and showery land.

The Espee is teaching its employés that obedience to orders and loyalty to the road are not among the lost arts.

Two bears are loose in the streets of Stockton and people are hiding under the beds. And Teddy 2000 miles away.

China imported over $150,000 worth of pianos in 1906, but the songs one hears among the Chinese cannot be imported.

When a powder mill decides to let loose there's something doing. A new village will have to be built at Fontanet, Ind.

Col. Watterson says he is out of politics. Is there any connection between this and the prohibition movement in Kentucky?

The reception to Secretary Taft at Manila began with a water parade. The menu of the closing demonstration has not been published.

A chance to get hold of an apparently valuable mining claim for a pittance looks good to many men usually shrewd in business matters.

There is solid comfort in the annual report of the local Board of Trade. The percentage of loss is small for those doing business in Los Angeles.

It beats all how some men and women succeed in keeping in the limelight, while other publicity-thirsty souls can't even have a bomb or a box of "pizen" sent to 'em.

All the financial men are talking of the Hamburger loan. It was one of the greatest achievements of the year, and speaks volumes for the good repute of Los Angeles.

The Vanderbilt millions have caught two more foreign titles. If the rough old Commodore were living something interesting might be heard about such goings on. Nor would it be altogether complimentary.

The United States courts refuse to help the Pullman company evade the payment of State taxes, and the public, who have been mulcted for sleeping-car fares and porters' tips, applaud the decision.

The St. Louis shoe factory strikers have lost not only their strike, but many of them their opportunities for work. Such vacations are costly to those who find the expense of living about all they can meet in ordinary times.

Whatever it is that Fish and Harriman are fighting about, couldn't they just as well take their troubles around in the alley and have it out there? Every one is sick of them and their proxies.

Ambitious Dannie Ryan is finding out early in life one of the bitterest facts about a "career"—and that is that when a leader's a loser his troops desert. How the same gang would be cheering for "Dannie" today if his star were in the ascendant!

If there is anything calculated to make a man uncomfortable, it is to know that an earthquake so big that it jerked the handle out of the register, is wandering around somewhere. We don't really need that vagrant in these parts. We are busy catching rats.

It's bad enough to be awakened in the middle of the night by a real messenger boy with a telegram that arrived the morning before. But when he turns out to be a robber and points a gun at your vitals and scares your wife into fits, why it is almost enough to make a man feel impatient.

Butte, Mont., is the most striking example of drunken improvidence that we can call to mind. One week's idleness in the mines lays the camp at the verge of starvation. The people there spend money like water when they have it, and when they have it not they are indeed pitiable spectacles.

The Times cannot conceive of such a thing as there being too many Roosevelt Republicans or Taft Republicans in this neck of woods. If they get too thick for the comfort of a few swollen-headed young zealots, we reckon the swollen-headed young zealots better take to some other timber and enjoy themselves as best they may.

A SPELL OF THUNDER.

Prof. Brander Matthews and Charles F. Lummis, our own "Lum," have taken each other by the hair on the subject of reformed, or deformed, spelling. The Chicago pundit dogmatizes as a college professor does, must and can; while the Out West lion roars from out his den as gently as "any sucking dove." An angry walking delegate in a San Francisco gathering cannot talk more volubly, nor Ambrose Bierce write more bitterly than these two literati, as they hurl phrases at each other. To be sure it is all done in that divine spirit of loving kindness which the Lord always displays when He sends a shower of fire on sinful Sodom, or "comes to strike the earth with a curse" at some other point.

Simmered down to a practical point, useful in everyday life, as to a newspaper man writing the language as "she is spoke," to the people who read newspapers, or as to the business man or other "ready writer" who "takes his pen in hand" to give the price of pickles, of flour or flowers, it seems to The Times that the Los Angeles man of letters has the Chicago man on the run like a dry autumn leaf before a strong gale from Lake Michigan sweeping down one of the broad avenues of the Windy City.

The central idea of the reformed-deformed spelling of Prof. Matthews is phonetic. It is an appeal to the ear, not to the eye, not to the derivation of the word, nor to the memory as fed in the spelling book. But men have always depended on their auricular nerves as their only guide in reducing the sounds of the vernacular to terms of the alphabet. From Chaucer, and back to that wonderful attempt to reduce the Hebrew Scriptures to early English rhythm, down to Shakespeare and to the printing of Samuel Johnson's dictionary, the ear was the only guide which a pen-artist had in transferring his burning words (or freezing as the case might be) to mar the virgin page. Take "Canterbury Tales" and count how many various ways the single word "sudden" is penned, if you wish to know how misleading a guide the longest or shortest ears of the "literary fellow" may be.

As a matter of cold but important fact, the English tongue has been steadily in process of real reformation in the spelling, pronouncing, discarding of words and coining of words, every day since Caedmon. Never before the present day of grace and the advent on the linguistic stage of Prof. Matthews and the other spelling deformers has any of this useful and effective work been done by committees of professional reformers armed with a kit of tools like a carpenter intent on making a stool—and inspired with a fit of malice prepense to do bodily injury to our mother tongue—was any of this work done "a purpose." It was not done at all. Like Topsy, it "just growed," and thereby hangs a tale longer than that of the lion. By growing in this natural way the language was not "done" in the process.

We fellows whose beard is quite grown and somewhat gray remember the time when our spelling books forced us to commit to memory "labor" laboriously with the superfluous "u," and when the "music" of the word was marred by the useless "k" which some learned Doctor Syntax skillfully cut off. We often make use of the word "equinoctial." It is an adjective from "equinox." Why change the "x" into "ct"? "Noxious" is not so spelled. Perhaps the day will come when we shall care nothing about the conjugations of Latin verbs, and so shall spell all words ending in "ble" preceded by a vowel either "ible" or "able" and so make the language consistent according to the ideas of the reformed speller. But if this is ever to take place it will be as a tree puts forth its leaves, and as the leaves become modified by environment, as a natural development of the language by its own inherent laws of growth. It will not be by any "rule of thumb" made to fit a reform spelling book.

Language is a living, almost sentient thing. It is like a tree, or rather a forest of trees, and grows out of the natural life of man, not made "a purpose" like a watch or chest of drawers. No skillful tinker in word construction, be he Brander Matthews or other college professor, can take his ink pot and pen and make a language. He may make a jargon—witness "Esperanto." But you cannot write Hamlet in "Pidgin English," or "Chinook." For Dante, Shakespeare, Milton or Roosevelt to express himself, his language must pulsate with life. It is the production of centuries and of generations, not of committees or reform spelling books.

The reformed spelling book of Prof. Matthews may have an influence on the English of coming generations. But it will not greatly affect the tongue in our time. The reforms must be grafted on the living stock and given time to bud and grow. For this reason, if for no other, the whole business may be left to the committee as a child is let play with her doll. Busy writers will not try to force the graft into premature development, which will result in a puny growth.

Mr. Lummis refers in his answer to Prof. Matthews, to the word sumac as it is spelled and pronounced. A learned professor once told his class that sugar was the only word in our language in which "s" has the sound of "sh." One of the boys in the class said: "Are you SURE, professor?"

WOULD-BE BOSSES.

There are would-be bosses in Los Angeles who are pulling every wire to play the trick undertaken in San Francisco by Boss Dannie Ryan, vice-president of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. Here was a man hailed by the frantic faddists as the savior of San Francisco—the one righteous political leader in the city, free from self-seeking, guided solely by patriotic motives, devoted entirely to the public weal and the sworn foe of machine politics. Huh! But the moment Ryan got into a position of power he began to play machine politics with a craftiness creditable to the most accomplished Tammanyite—and what for? Why, to boost himself into office. This one righteous politician, this sanctimonious and unselfish reformer and "friend of the people" is now doing everything he can to make himself Mayor, to defeat the plans of the best men of the city for the political redemption of San Francisco, and to refasten the rule of graft on that distressed metropolis.

There are would-be bosses, we say, who have already started to play the same game in Los Angeles. Look out for them! One boss is as bad as another—"if not worse."

Ryan will be defeated and so will the local would-bes.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME.

The Los Angeles attorney who asked that no tears and no oratory be shed at his funeral, was ahead of his time. The custom of our day is to hire special experts to bring along paraphernalia to make the family of the dead feel just as miserable as possible. Black plumed hearses, crape, and such ghastly contrivances are relics of barbarism that make one think we are not a whit better than the savages who stick rings through their noses and blacken their teeth.

INCREASE IN DIVORCES.

Prof. Charles J. Bushnell of Washington, according to an article reproduced by The Times of Wednesday, presents views of our general retrogression economically and morally so sensational as to give even a man of steady nerves the nightmare.

Among other growing and crying evils of the day the divorce habit was treated, and with statistics. The Washington professor says on this subject:

"Fifty years ago, taking the country as a whole, there was not an average of one divorce to fifty marriages. Today there is an average of one divorce to every ten marriages. During ten years from 1895 to 1905 the number of absolute divorces granted more than quadrupled in Manhattan and the Bronx in New York City, and nearly or more than doubled in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit and Omaha."

Frequent divorces are a comparatively new thing in America, as the statistics referred to by Prof. Bushnell show. They are of still more recent development in England, and happily for that country they are not of American frequency there.

The older States of the American Union modeled their statutes generally on the common law of England, and English court decisions and views were often consulted and considered in interpreting our laws. Divorce was not made easy in any of these Eastern States of the Union; and few if any of the older States have as lax divorce laws as obtain in Western States generally, and none of them have laws at all like those of the most radical Western States. So fifty years ago the man or woman who had made a mistake and taken the wrong yokefellow for a life partner was likely to be bluntly told by the court that the contract was for life, and therefore until one party to it violated its terms both must abide by the agreement. "Incompatible temperaments" had to make the best they could of a bad bargain and go on pulling in double harness to the end.

Then came the western laws which took no account of English law, common or statute, and so the dissolution of a life contract was made easy when both or either one of the contracting parties found it convenient or desirable to break the bonds which had come to gall.

But all Europe did not have the same views on marriage and divorce which obtained in Great Britain. Laws as lax as those of Dakota in our day prevailed in parts of continental Europe 100 years ago. In 1828 Thomas Carlyle published in the Foreign Review an article on the life and writings of Frederick Ludwig Zacharias Werner, the fantastic German poet who was already dead some years at the age of about fifty. Werner's career, therefore, reached back to about the time of the Declaration of Independence in America. His death took place by this count nearly a century ago. But by the time Werner had reached his majority he had already made his second matrimonial venture and was on the lookout for a woman willing to join him in his third try. He did not seek long, nor did the third contract hold the fiery heart of the fantastic poet more firmly than either of the other two.

Carlyle, with his rigid English ideas touching divorce, expressed misgivings as to the effect of such sundering of the marriage ties altogether similar to those of Prof. Bushnell and of other moralists of our day generally.

Is it not as a result of the large immigration from continental Europe (which has poured into this country during the last fifty years and has gone largely to the making up of the population of many Western States) that we get the loose views on divorce which Prof. Bushnell thinks so dangerous to the stability of our civilization? Not that we are intrinsically better than others if we measure by a broad rule. No doubt this seed fell in fertile soil in many American hearts and soon bore abundant fruit in laws which would make the life element in the marriage contract a nullity.

But here we seem to have reached a parting of the ways again. An exceedingly large number of the best and most influential of our people are studying this subject patiently and wisely. They see there is a strong current of public opinion to be overcome and that it will take time to impress many of us with a due sense of the danger to our own happiness, to the successful bringing up of our children and to the general welfare of society which inheres in these laws which so easily permit the severing of the ties of wedlock. The evil seems to have reached high-water mark and we may hope to see a turn in the tide.

WHY NOT?

The mystery of the attraction of the girl for the actor has been brought home by the bitter sorrow of the family of C. W. Fleming of this city. The average actor is about the most tiresome, flat and uninteresting character of modern life. If a girl must elope and crush her family, why not with a policeman or a fire-engine driver or some one whose life experiences are worth while? However, Fate works out the punishment of the foolish girl. She has to sit around and listen to the actor.

SPILLING FAT IN THE FIRE.

There will be excitement in Morocco and enough to divide up among all the nations of Europe, with a remainder to carry, if the latest news from "the seat of war" is quite correct.

The news is that the Sultan, Abdul Aziz, has asked France to establish a protectorate over the country. This means that the Sultan's brother, the usurper Mulai Hafid, has made such headway as to have got beyond the power of Abdul to subdue the rebellion. Again, this means that the Moors are with the rebel against the ruling sovereign. That is a condition usually regarded as a crisis, and a grave one.

If France had a free hand to do what Abdul asks the task would not be without its difficulties, even with part of the people loyal to the Sultan. The mountains of the interior and the wastes of the desert are not good fields in which to subdue a large marauding force engaged in guerrilla warfare.

But the greater crisis arises out of the commotion that it will cause in Europe if France attempts the protectorate business in Morocco. It was to forestall just such action that the meeting of all the powers was held at Algeciras. The news item in question foresees this trouble and suggests another conference of all the powers.

PAWS, HUNTER, PAWS!

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEAS.

Coal Mining in India.

Coal mining has become one of India's great industries. The output last year was 9,784,250 tons, whereas the average annual production for the decade during 1896 was only 2,758,640. The coal now being worked is near the surface, and with the cheap labor employed, India is able to deliver its coal at the pit's mouth cheaper than any other country in the world. The average price a ton delivered on board freight car was $1.40 in 1906 and 1907.

An Ancient Guide to Rome.

In a collection of Egyptian papyri, Prof. Jules Nicolé is reported to have found among some Greek texts an ancient Latin guide through Rome. As it contains an inventory of sculpture and indicates the locality where each piece was located, as well as describes each, it may prove of importance in supplying us with data for the attribution of as yet nameless statues.

King Edward's Favorite Jewels.

The King's favorite gem, if one can judge by his scarf pin, is certainly the pearl. Often his only personal ornament is a plain, rather large pearl, so set that none of its mounting is visible and though he possesses a large number of jeweled shirt studs and sleeve links, almost all given to him on family festivals by near relations, he remains very faithful to plain black or white pearls.

Infants Fed With Alcohol.

According to recent French writers, infants in arms are fed with alcoholic liquors in Normandy, with the most disastrous effects. Dr. Brunon, whose efforts against the spread of alcoholism in that part of France have made him well known, writes: "In Normandy it is not unusual to see women mix coffee and cognac in nursing bottles. These women are employed outside their homes, therefore some means must be devised to keep their babies quiet in the cradles during their absence. The ingenuity takes this form: A bottle containing the mixture is placed under the pillow to keep it warm, and attached thereto is a long rubber tube which the child, once the nipple is placed between its lips, reluctantly gives up. Automatically it 'gets drunk.'

Tweeds Too Costly.

It is popularly supposed that most Scotch women, when in their own country, wear tweeds, homespuns and tartans. There never was a greater mistake. Unfortunately, the women of Scotland, like so many other women, have lost their appreciation of quality, and seek rather what pleases the eye for the moment. It is French and American women who show their appreciation of the homespuns of Ireland and of Scotland. Except in Edinburgh, where tailor-made tweeds are always in use, tweed is very little worn by women in Scotland. In the Highlands in summer and for sport, of course, everybody wears it, but as a material for ordinary dress it is rarely seen. The tweed coat and skirt, the Inverness cape and the big coat of tweed are, of course, the garb for wet weather. The fact that the women of Scotland do not wear homespuns is quite easily understood. They are expensive, for their nature makes the price more than the average material, which is loom-wrought, and they never wear out. The coat and skirt of homespun must be put together by a tailor, and cheap tailor work is not to be thought of. The distinction of the tweed suit is in its lines, in the quality of the workmanship put into it, and good workmanship can never be cheap.

Index Expurgatorious.

After a careful and impartial consideration of all the evidence bearing on the subject, the investigating committee reports that, notwithstanding their long life and apparent respectability, the following are undoubtedly nature fakes:

The bull in the china shop.
The wolf at the door.
The fly in the ointment.
The dog in the manger.
The fish out of water.
The bee in the bonnet.
The flea in the ear.
The rat that was smelled.
The chorus girl's lobster.
Pigs in clover.
Horse and horse.
Time flies.
The Welsh rabbit.
The man on a lark.

They are accordingly deleted from the White House phrase book and will receive no further official recognition.—Indianapolis News.

Notes from Abroad.

The Cape Colony (South Africa) Assembly has passed the bill imposing a profit tax of 10 per cent. on diamond and copper mining companies earning over $250,000 a year. In spite of the financial depression both houses rejected motions for curtailing members' privileges on the ground of economy.

In the past fiscal year the revenue of South Australia exceeded the expenditure by $1,500,000. The estimated surplus for the current fiscal year is $340,000.

India, now (since October 1) has the cheapest letter postage in the world, the rate being 1 cent for two-fifths of an ounce for inland letters, or 2 cents for ten tolas (over a quarter of a pound.)

Edicts have been issued by the Chinese throne, appointing commissioners to visit Great Britain, Germany and Japan, to study the constitution of systems of those countries. Already thousands of Chinese students are coming and going from the Tokio University, hundreds to the American universities, and a few to England. Three causes have led to this great change in conservative China. First, the failure of the Boxer movement; secondly, the success of Japan. Lastly, the work of the Catholic and Protestant missions. Speaking of China's future in a recent article in an English paper, Rev. Lord William Gascoyne Cecil says: "China's future influence will be felt in the industry of her people—the low standard of comfort which exists among her workers will enable her, as soon as the country is opened up by railways and has an efficient system of government, to compete at such advantageous terms with European nations, that she will command all neutral markets."

Mr. Nosse, the Japanese Consul-General at Ottawa, Can., estimates the number of Japanese now in British Columbia at 6000.

The revenue of Canada continues to show an extraordinary increase. In August, 1907, it was $2,264,000, an increase of 24 per cent. over August, 1906.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce of Toronto estimates the value of the wheat, oats and barley of Western Canada this season at $100,000,000.

While drilling for water at Wetaskiwin, province of Alberta, Northwest Canada, an eight-foot seam of coal was struck at a depth of 400 feet. A new and rare metal called tromeyrite has been found at several mines in the Ontario cobalt belt.

Last year the State of Queensland, Australia, had a surplus over expenditure of $1,980,000. The State is still enjoying unexampled prosperity.

The numerical strength of the personnel of the German navy has doubled in ten years, the figures being 23,402 in 1897, against 46,951 in 1907. This fiscal year the figures will exceed 50,000.

The United States is represented in Hongkong in an industrial way by two companies, the Standard and the Vacuum, the International Banking Corporation; some eight or ten American flour milling companies, of California, Washington and Oregon; a British-American sewing machine company; half a dozen export and import houses—two of them part Chinese and part American; the British-American Tobacco Company (partly American;) four steamship lines—Pacific Mail, Great Northern, Boston Steamboat Company, and the Portland Asiatic Steamship Company; half a dozen life and a considerable number of fire insurance companies. These concerns are actively at work, and some American houses are (weakly) represented by Hongkong houses. The Germans, in comparison, have thirty-five Hongkong activities; the English have 124; there are 111 other mercantile establishments under Parsee, Japanese, Spanish, Italian, French, Portuguese and Norwegian auspices. EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

Word from London tells of the wedding of Alfred Henry Scott, the Liberal member of Parliament for Ashton-under-Lyne, to Mrs. Duncan Lewis, daughter of Mr. Thurston Duncan of Los Angeles and the divorced wife of Col. Lewis, whose beauty and social graces were once the talk of the doves perched among the blossoms. Palms and Boston ferns were banked about the room, and large bunches of carnations also added to the attractiveness of the scene. The reception room was entirely in yellow, chrysanthemums being used, while the library was decked with pink chrysanthemums. The dining-room was aglow with pale pink chrysanthemums and pink roses. The bride's table was ornamented with a center-piece the shape of a wedding ring. This was filled with Cecil Brunner roses and Maidenhair ferns. A large shower of pink ribbon and pink Madame Chateney roses was suspended from the chandelier and the buffet was banked with pale, pink, baby roses and greenery.

At the conclusion of a wedding trip the young people will make their home at No. 1505 Vermont avenue, where they will receive their friends after December 1.

—o—

Informal Luncheon.

Mrs. Frank Fay and her daughter, Miss Cynthia Fay, of Orange and Witmer streets, entertained yesterday with an informal luncheon in compliment to Miss Nan Marsh, whose engagement to Bernal Dyas was announced last week.

—o—

Wedding Announcement.

Announcement is made of the wedding of Miss Fanny Bess to H. H. Jewett of Fullerton.

—o—

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Lillian A. Lindenfeld to Herbert Lyman Emerson. The wedding, which will take place the latter part of this month, will be a quiet [illegible] recent bereavement in the bride's family.

Leaves for New Mexico.

Mrs. Walter A. Bayley, formerly Miss Ruth A. Chase of No. 1620 South Grand avenue, left Pasadena recently for her home in Dawson, N. M. Dr. and Mrs. Bayley, who were married in July, spent several weeks touring Southern California, and later Mrs. Bayley enjoyed a delightful visit in Pasadena. After a year or two, Mr. and Mrs. Bayley expect to return to Los Angeles to reside.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Hanlon Honored.

In honor of the birthday and wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hanlon, their friends entertained recently with a surprise party at their home on Forty-second street. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hanlon, Mr. and Mrs. Denning, Mrs. Harry Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Coonse and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brener.

HELD FOR MURDER.

Coroner's Jury Says Chauffeur Henderson Must Answer for the Killing of Oscar Otto.

J. C. Henderson, a chauffeur, was held yesterday by a Coroner's jury for the killing of Oscar L. Otto. Henderson was taken to the City Jail after the inquest at the Bresee morgue and a complaint charging him with murder was filed in the court of Justice Chambers. The chauffeur was arraigned and held for preliminary examination without bail.

At the inquest, employés of Henderson at the garage, Tennessee and Ninth streets, where the shooting occurred, testified that Otto entered the garage Sunday night and accused Henderson of having been a visitor at Mrs. Otto's rooms. In the argument that followed, Otto is alleged to have struck Henderson, whereupon Henderson fired and killed Otto.

Detectives are seeking Mrs. Otto, who will be an important witness at the trial.

ENTERTAINMENT A SUCCESS.

The musical and dramatic entertainment, given last night by the Sons of St. George in the auditorium of the Garnut Club House, was successful, both artistically and financially, and the lodge realized a handsome sum. An excellent programme was rendered. Capt. Leslie Tufnell Peacocke recited Kipling's "Gunga Din" to the complete satisfaction of the Englishmen present. Two sketches, "The Syndicate," by Capt. Peacocke, and "Chiseling" a farce, were also presented. A number of musical numbers brought the programme to a close.

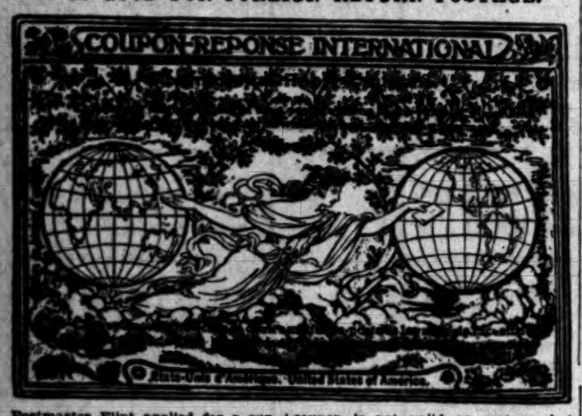
IT IS GOOD FOR FOREIGN RETURN POSTAGE.



Postmaster Flint applied for a supply of the new international reply coupons, some time ago, and expects to receive a bundle of them today or tomorrow. These coupons will be welcomed in this city, where so many foreigners pass the winter. It is impossible to purchase foreign stamps at American postoffices, and the stamps of this country are not good abroad any more than are foreign stamps here. The new coupons will be recognized in nearly every civilized country, and are exchangeable for stamps of equivalent value. The coupons cost 6 cents, and will be on sale in postoffices under the jurisdiction of the universal postal regulations.

"Of course, it is too early to state whether there will be much of a demand for these reply coupons in this city," said the postmaster, yesterday. "Their great convenience to persons wishing a reply from a foreign correspondent will be at once apparent."

Persons sending these coupons to correspondents in other countries should be careful to explain that the coupon is not valid as postage, but must be exchanged for stamps of the country where the reply is mailed.

The size of the coupon will at once attract attention, being four and one-fourth by three and one-eighth inches. It is printed on thin white paper in blue ink over a background of clouds and vines in olive green. At the top, in heavy capital letters, are the French words "Coupon-Response International." Underneath, in smaller type, is the English equivalent.

Next appear the instructions: "This coupon can be exchanged for a postage stamp of the value of 25 centimes or the equivalent of that sum in the countries which have adopted the arrangement." This inscription appears in French at the bottom of the coupon, and on the reverse side in Spanish, German, Italian and English.

The face of the coupon shows the figure of a woman clothed in a robe. On one side of the figure is a representation of the Eastern Hemisphere, with instructions in French that the name of the issuing postoffice is to be stamped therein. At the right of the figure is a representation of the Western Hemisphere, to be stamped with the name of the redeeming office.

NAVAL EMERGENCY RATIONS.

An Order for a Hundred Thousand Being Filled for the Navy.

[Kansas City Star.] The Armour Packing Company at its plant in Kansas City is now filling an order for 100,000 emergency rations to be delivered to the United States navy at the Brooklyn navy yard by November 1.

The Armour company has been making and putting up emergency rations for the United States government for two years, and the success of experiments made by the government show that such a ration is almost indispensable for army use. This has decided the War Department to introduce the emergency ration for the use of the navy. The order, now being filled by the Armour company is the first to be placed for the navy.

The emergency ration is intended for use only when all other supplies of food fail. It consists of parched wheat, dried beef (free from fat or muscle,) chocolate, with salt and pepper for seasoning, in the following proportion:

Beef	2 oz.
Parched wheat	4 oz.
Chocolate	3 oz.
Salt and pepper	1 oz.

This ration is put up in cans and sealed under vacuum. Each can constitutes a day's rations for one person, three cakes of the meat and wheat compressed and three cakes of chocolate, besides the salt and pepper. The meat is stripped of fat and muscle and dried under a temperature of 115 degrees, so as to leave less than 5 per cent. of moisture. By this process the shrinkage of the meat is more than 100 per cent., hence it is easily seen how a can containing less than one pound of food can furnish subsistence for a man for twenty-four hours.

An instance is recorded where a squad of men in the Philippines, having no other food, subsisted for twenty days on this emergency ration.

BURGLAR'S NEW EXPERIENCE.

While Robbing a House He Was Himself Robbed and Prayed For.

"Years and years ago, when I was a bad man," said the reformer, "I was knocking about the State of Kansas and heard of a wealthy farmer who always kept his money in his house. It was in my line of business to relieve him of it. I spent a month preparing the plant and then started out to do business. On the way to the farmer's I held up a traveler and took $200 off of him. An hour later I had effected entrance into the house and was spooking about when some one suddenly grabbed me, and two minutes later I was bound hand and foot. It was the old farmer himself that got me and after he had turned me over he said:

"'My son, this is bad business.'

"'I was driven to it by poverty,' I replied.

"'You should have depended upon the Lord to see you through. I am afraid you have little reverence for Christianity and I shall pray with you.'

"Thereupon he knelt beside me and held forth for two mortal hours without a break. When he finally let up he asked if I felt as sinful as before. I gladly replied that I didn't, whereupon he proceeded to go through me and rob me clear down to the key of my trunk. When he had finished he unbound me and said:

"'I am glad you came. I think I have done you good. In fact, if you will come back a second time I believe you will see your way clear to becoming one of us.'

"He had $360 of my money, but I never went back for it. I have often wondered over the affair, however. I thought I knew all kinds of religions by name, at least, but one that permitted a man to pray over a robber for two hours and then do him out of his last copper was a new one on me."

An Untaught Cow.

Down on a southern plantation the dairy hands were accustomed to do the milking squatting down in a primitive fashion, until the owner introduced milking stools with other improvements. But the initial experiment with the innovation was not exactly a success. The darky who first sallied forth with the stool returned bruised and battered and with an empty pail.

"I done my best, sah," he explained. "Dat stool looked all right to me, but de blamed cow she won't sit on it!"—[Woman's Home Companion.

ELDERLY FOLKS VALUE RECIPE.

KIDNEYS BECOME INACTIVE AND FEW PEOPLE KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Prescription Which Is Valued by Elderly People. Fix It at Home. Harmless and Inexpensive. Relieves All Forms of Kidney and Bladder Trouble and Rheumatism Without Injuring the Stomach.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable, yet simple and harmless, prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Something to talk about —this

Brown Plan

New Railroad Official.

The seaside hotelkeeper, after turning away three guests for lack of room, began to talk complacently about the secret of his unusual success.

"My unusual success is due," he said, "to that tall handsome man conversing with the aged couple over there. He is my complaint spotter.

"My complaint spotter is engaged, at a liberal salary, to fraternize with the guests, and by clever questioning to find out what they dislike about my place. Their dislikes, if reasonable, are remodeled at once.

"You'd think there was no need of a complaint spotter. You'd think the average guest was too ready to come to the office and register his kick. This, though, is not the case. The average guest kicks vigorously, but not to the office. Through cowardice he is mild in the office, pleased with everything. He does all his growling to his fellow-boarders, where it does no good, but only creates a nasty spirit of discontent.

"But my spotter gets hold of these soreheads at once, we remedy their grievance at once, and so, instead of harming, they help the hotel—instead of knockers they become boosters."—[Philadelphia Bulletin.

Reversing a Church.

The Second Congregational Church at Falmouth, Mass., built in 1821, was turned end for end twenty years later to get a bequest of $10,000 left by a member who did not like the way the church stood, and a monument has now been erected with an inscription stating these facts.

Final Wind-Up of the FIRE SALE

At the Paris Cloak and Suit House Today

The fire in the Rindge Building, Saturday, October 5th, caused considerable damage to our stock of women's wearables, and we were forced to turn our attention right in the busy season to selling all the goods that were smoked and wet. The greater portion of the stock has already been sold, but there are still a great many rare bargains left. This fire sale must positively be brought to a finish at once. We will give the public one more opportunity to snap up these rare bargains in damaged goods. After today every article that is at all injured will be sold to dealers. But we would rather give our customers a chance to secure these great values, therefore we hold the sale over today.

Remember, Today is Your Last Chance Don't Miss It

Waists

We have just 85 waists, including lawn, batiste, taffeta, messaline and net waists, slightly damaged by smoke. They all must be sold at once. For the final windup—

$3.50 to $5 lawn waists $1.50
$5.00 net waists $2.63
$6 to $8 taffeta waists $3.75
$6 to $8 net waists $3.75

Skirts

We have about thirty-five dress skirts and walking skirts, very slightly damaged; so little you would hardly notice it, priced as follows for the windup sale:

$7.50 to $10.00 skirts $5.50
$12.50 and $15.00 skirts $8.50

Coats

All the odd lots of coats, about 45 in all, including three-quarter length taffeta coats, some 50-in. broadcloth coats, some 50-inch coats in handsome mixtures, all stylishly tailored and carefully finished. Very slightly damaged—the majority are just smoked and a few were somewhat soiled by water. These will go at ridiculously low prices.

For instance, a lot of fine 50-inch broadcloth coats, worth $22.50, will be closed out today at..... $14.75

Other coats as low as..... $3.95

Tailored Suits

Every woman who needs a new suit should come to the Paris today. We will place on sale three lots at the following special low prices. Come early this morning to get the best selection. As the rush of the big sale is over, we will include all alterations free today, guaranteeing every suit to fit perfectly.

LOT 1.—About 25 tailored suits in fancy broadcloths, plaids, stripes, checks and mixtures, all popular shades for this season. They don't show any defects whatever, only smell slightly of smoke. None in the lot worth less than $25—our price today, alterations included $14.85

LOT 2.—About 22 suits in all the different styles, including many three-quarter length, semi-fitting coats. They come in various shades of the popular plain broadcloths. Damaged so slightly you can not notice it at all. Regular $27.50 to $30 values, today $18.85

LOT 3.—About 20 high-class very stylish suits, in plain broadcloth, high-class mixtures, striped effects, and black broadcloth, no damage whatever, except a little smoke, regular $35 to $45 suits, your choice today $25.00

A SALE WITH A REASON THAT RINGS TRUE

Sale Begins Friday, October 18th

A Bona Fide Sale of Such Magnitude as to Command the Attention of Every Man. The Boldest Piece of Merchandising Ever Attempted by Any Clothing Merchant in the United States.

THINK OF IT! A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF MEN'S CLOTHING IN A SINGLE PURCHASE

Nothing But High Grade Clothing No Matter How Low the Price We Have a Reputation to Maintain

The Hub Clothing Company has made an enviable reputation in the local clothing trade by carrying high-class ready-to-wear clothing for men, and in launching this sale we will not lower our standard. Every garment in our two stores is high class in all that the term implies. Every essential of high-grade tailoring and high-class fabric is embodied in each and every garment. Although some of the prices will be so low as to be almost beyond belief we will vouch for each and every garment that we sell.

Cash Did It!

A tight money market—manufacturers facing disaster for want of cash—no buyer in the market with unlimited cash—a ridiculously low offer made for $250,000.00 worth of high-class clothing—that's the story of this sale. COME AND SHARE IN THE PROFITS.

CASH DID IT!

Los Angeles cash in the hands of a Los Angeles merchant secured $250,000.00 worth of Men's High Grade Clothing at half.

CLOUDS SEWER MONEY.

of First street is included in the assessment district. The assessment gives to First street a free sewer and requires the property owners in the Mountain View district to pay the cost.

There have been a great many complaints about assinine assessments from the engineering department, but it has generally been supposed that enough care was exercised to see that the district covers the streets where the sewer is actually constructed.

Engineer Knowlton admits frankly that a serious mistake was made in this; he says that it is a mistake he cannot explain. The assessment was checked up by three departments and the error escaped them all. It was on this point that the attorneys expected Judge Hutton to attack the assessment. But in delivering his opinion Judge Hutton said that this point has not been considered; the ordinance of intention was incorrect and all subsequent proceedings are invalid.

DILIGENCE NEEDED.

Attorney Ross Hickcox, representing Derrania, says that a little more care on the part of the engineering department would have made the ordinance of intention conform to the plan and profile of the sewer. A little diligence would have given the exact location of the proposed sewer in place of lumping it off by making street boundaries.

But Hickcox does not accept Judge Hutton's decision as final. He says that the error, if error there be, is not sufficient to invalidate the assessment. Mr. Hickcox would not say yesterday afternoon whether the suit will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Attorney L. R. Garrett wrote the brief for the plaintiff in the Mountain View case. Garrett asserted yesterday afternoon that he has been aware of the alleged defect in the ordinance of intention for sewer work for several months.

"I warned some of my clients that the ordinances were defective," said Mr. Garrett, "and I called the attention of the Engineer's office to the defect. But the engineers declined to consider my protest; they said that the form had stood for several years and that it was not likely to be invalidated.

"My clients have declined to enter into contracts for a number of street sewers by reason of the failure of the engineering department to place a specific description of the route of the sewer in the first notice of intention. It is on the point which I raised that Judge Hutton rendered his decision."

HONOLULU'S FISH TRADE.

All Fish Daily Inspected—Prices Are Higher Than in United States.

All fish sold in Honolulu must be sold at the Market House, where they must pass inspection before being placed on the stalls. Fishermen bring their catch to the market at whatever hour is convenient to them, and the dealers sell for them on a basis of 10 per cent. commission. Fish brought in prior to noon must be sold before the market closes the same evening, but if brought in after noon and not sold before night they can be kept in cold storage at a cost to the owner of 2 cents a pound, and placed on the stalls again the next morning. In that event they are distinguished by a small placard bearing the words "iced fish." It is the custom to make frequent inspections of the fish after they are placed on the stalls, as they soon become tainted in this warm climate. The large fish are dressed and the small ones sold whole. There is no loss in dressing, however, as the head and entrails are sold. All except goldfish, and sometimes chinafish, are sold dead. Ti leaves, 10 to 15 inches long, oblong in shape and cut with a part of the stem left on, are used for wrapping the small fish, which is laid across the narrow part of the leaf, the end being turned slightly over it and wound around the stem, and then tucked in, the stem forming a handle by which to carry the package. The wrapping is done so skillfully by the Chinese vender that it rarely works loose. The ti plant grows on the mountain sides near the city, and is cut and brought to town by natives, who sell the leaves at 25 cents a hundred. From the ti root okolehao is distilled. A remarkable feature of the local fish trade is the price charged for all products, exceeding that of any other market in the United States, or possibly in the world. But few of the better grades sell for less than 25 cents per pound, some selling for as much as 35 cents. All fish are sold by number. Mullet, the commonest species, sell for an average of 25 cents a pound, or 8 1-3 cents each, and crawfish for 20 cents each, or 10 cents a pound. There are nearly 100 varieties exposed for sale in this market.—[Paradise of the Pacific.

You get up in the morning from a bed clothed in cotton; you step on a cotton rug; you let in the light by raising a cotton window shade; you wash with soap made partly from cotton oil product; you dry your face on a cotton towel; you array yourself chiefly in cotton clothing; the "silk" in which your wife dresses is probably mercerized cotton, at the breakfast table you do not get away from King Cotton; cottolene has probably taken the place of lard in the biscuit you eat; the beef and mutton are probably fattened on cotton seed meal and hulls; your "butter" is probably a product of southern cotton seed; the coal you burn may have been mined by the light of a cotton oil lamp; the sheep from which your woolen clothing came may have been fed on cotton seed; the tonic you take may contain an extract of cotton root bark; the tobacco you smoke not unlikely grew under cotton cover and is put up in a cotton bag; your morning daily is printed on cotton waste paper—and even in oriental skirmish it tells how contending forces who were clothed in khaki duck, slept under cotton tents, cotton was essential in high explosives which were used, and when at last, war had done her worst, surgery itself called it into requisition to aid the injured and the dying.—[New York Commercial.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

NEED THE MONEY.

BOND ELECTION LIKELY SOON.

THAT IS BELIEF OF MAYOR OF PASADENA.

Chief Executive of City Thinks Securities Must Be Voted Late in November or Early in December. Graduation of Nurses from Pasadena Hospital.

Office of The Times, No. 26 South Raymond ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 17.—Bonds must be voted late in November or early in December for the electric lighting plant. This is the opinion of Mayor Thomas Earley, although the matter has not yet been submitted to the Council. It is likely that the sewer bonds will also be included in this election and there is a possibility that some bonds may be also submitted to the people for school improvements.

Preparations for the bond election are now only delayed awaiting the report of Prof. Cory of the State University, upon the conflicting reports of Superintendent C. C. Glass and Ezra T. Scattergood, the expert called into the controversy at first. Mayor Earley has written to hasten this document as the city desires to take advantage of the low price of copper and get its estimates in shape to vote the bonds and save the city this money.

Superintendent Glass estimates that the municipal plant can be brought up to a state of efficiency for a cost of $194,000. Expert Scattergood says that it will take $350,000 to do the work. Prof. Cory has been asked to strike a balance between these figures and to report upon the present efficiency of the plant. He made his examination three weeks ago and his report is now expected daily. As soon as possible thereafter the advertisement of the election will be published.

In the matter of the sewer bonds which will probably be included in the election the sum required is $50,000. There will be no bonds issued for storm drainage as the Council has not abandoned the idea of doing this work under the Vrooman act by direct assessment on the property benefitted in the three storm districts heretofore mapped by the Council.

NURSES TO GRADUATE.

At the Shakespeare Club rooms, this evening at 7:30 o'clock, fourteen nurses will be graduated from the Pasadena Hospital. Their names are: Sophy Burns, Milwaukee, Wis.; Nell Roberts, Cannon Falls, Minn.; Laura M. Armstrong, Gallup, N. M.; Marie M. Lerch, Pasadena; Myrtle Overman, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Nellie M. Townsend, Howell, Mich.; Elizabeth M. S. Lane, Middlebury, Vt.; Ecka Musita Mazuka Hewitt, Chicago; Kate Tart, Los Angeles; Marie J. De Armond, Turo, Nova Scotia; Mary Gertrude Drady, San Francisco; J. Estella Timmers, Canton, O., and Kathleen C. Rolfs, Santa Paula.

Miss Anderson, head nurse at the hospital, reports that she has a class of probationers now enrolled to take the place of ten graduates. The addition of the Sprague memorial to the hospital makes a larger demand than formally for trained nurses. The programme for this evening follows: Prayer, Rev. Malcolm J. McLeod; president's address, C. J. Winet, president of the hospital; song, "When Celtia Sings," Mrs. Walter Raymond; address, Rev. Robert J. Burdette; songs, by Mrs. Walter Raymond, "When Love is Kind," and "An Elfin Lay;" address to graduating class, Dr. J. M. McBride and benediction by Rev. Malcolm J. McLeod.

NEW SCIENTIST CHURCH.

Preparations are being made and the preliminaries have been prepared by the local Christian Scientists to build a $100,000 church on the corner of Oakland avenue and East Colorado street, adjoining the structure now used. The lot is 170 feet on East Colorado and 180 feet on Oakland avenue. The church will be stone with a wide dome similar to the general designs of churches owned by members of this faith. The ground cost $18,000.

ASK STATESMEN TO TALK.

It is the purpose of the committee having in charge the preparations for the convention of California municipalities to ask the presence of Gov. Gillett and United States Senator Flint to address the convention. Rev. Robert J. Burdette has already signified his willingness to speak before the gathering and other distinguished men of the State and locality will be among the speakers.

GETS HEAVY SENTENCE.

Sentence of $500 fine or 180 days in jail was imposed yesterday morning by Judge Klamroth upon P. J. Flynn, who was convicted on Monday of selling liquor to members of the Soldiers' Home within one mile and a half of the institution. Flynn says he will appeal the case as it turns on the right of a club or incorporated association to sell liquor to its members. Judge Klamroth in imposing sentence severely lectured the culprit upon the evil of dispensing intoxicants to old soldiers.

BIG CITRUS PROFITS.

While the citrus industry around Pasadena is not so extensive, it is profitable, according to the figures given out by the Lamanda Park and Sierra Madre associations. Returns last year included $82,996.42 from 139 cars of fruit, containing 46,888 boxes. Of these 18,638 boxes contained lemons, which brought an average price of $2.39 per box, and 20,139 boxes of navel oranges, averaging $1.15 per box, and 2285 boxes of Valencias worth $2.40 per box, and 7177 boxes of seedlings at $1.35. The association also determined to invest 3 cents per box on every box sold in the next five years to form a fund from which to erect a box factory, as it is claimed that the box trust eats up too much of the profit on shipping citrus fruit.

PUTS ON MORE CARS.

Twenty new cars will be placed on runs on the short line of the Pacific Electric between Pasadena and Los Angeles on November 1. This big increase is to handle the increasing traffic. The officials of the road are preparing for one of the busiest winter seasons ever known in this section. Increases will also be made in the service on the Garvanza and Oak Knoll lines, and, when everything is in operation, it is expected that no passenger will ever have to wait more than three or four minutes to get transportation between the two cities.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Peace reigns in local Chinatown. Sergt. Reynolds and Patrolman Rice were detailed by Chief Favour to investigate conditions, and, although they placed under arrest and searched every Chinaman who appeared on the streets, no weapons of any kind were found. They also interviewed the local leaders of the celestials, but could find nothing in the way of guns, hatchets or knives.

Following the report of the City Engineer, the Council has adopted a rule by which monthly salaries will be paid to all employés, and the pay day system goes out of date. It is expected by this means to make a large saving in the city disbursements.

The Emergency League will hold its annual meeting at 8 p. m. today, at the residence of Mrs. William F. Knight, No. 392 North Los Robles avenue. The meeting will be an open one.

TOWN POLITICS.

REACHES INTO SEVEN WARDS.

LONG BEACH CAMPAIGN IS FORMALLY OPENED.

Mass Meeting of Voters Effects a Permanent Organization and Arranges for Making Nominations for City Offices to Be Filled at Approaching Election.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 16.—The opening gun of the approaching municipal campaign under the new charter was fired last night when, in response to a call for a public mass meeting, 300 voters assembled at Stewart Hall and effected a permanent organization of the independent party by electing S. L. Lent chairman, Fred McCullah, secretary, and J. R. Mason, treasurer. The chairman was instructed to appoint a general campaign committee of thirty-five members, five from each ward. This committee will select an executive committee of five members. Ward meetings to make nominations for Councilmen will be held next Monday evening at the following places: First Ward, corner First and Descanso; Second Ward, Atlantic school; Third Ward, boys' gymnasium; Fourth Ward, City Hall; Fifth Ward, Daisy school; Sixth Ward, Terminal school; Seventh Ward, northeast corner Sixteenth and Locust.

These nominations will be reported for ratification to the general city convention, Tuesday evening, October 23, at the Auditorium, when candidates for Mayor, clerk, treasurer, auditor, attorney, police judge and tax and license collector will be named.

REV. THORNTON'S STATEMENT.

In order to set aright recent inaccurate statements regarding his recent resignation from church work to enter the Sunday-school evangelistic field and his sudden dropping of this plan, Rev. E. W. Thornton, a Christian minister, has issued a statement. In it he says he intended to leave the pastorate to become a Sunday-school specialist, but, in its censure of a gift made by John D. Rockefeller, to the Christian Missions, the Standard, a publication under the auspices of which Rev. Thornton was to work, so offended the Christian church membership, that he realized its unpopularity would nullify his efforts. He, therefore, decided to give up his new intentions. He has refused to resume his pastorate work here because it is stated there is some opposition in his church and he wishes only a united support. At present, therefore, his future plans are unsettled.

OCEAN WHIFFS.

Several days ago Officer Fred Phillips noticed that one of the alligators in the city park was turning white and called Superintendent Buchanan's attention to it. No record of a white alligator could be found and the two officers decided they had a prize, and began writing letters of inquiry, meaning placing the changing alligator in a room above the whale house. This morning when he went to feed the pet Buchanan found the lock broken and the room empty. A few hours later in the mail came an offer for the animal from Ringling Brothers circus.

The victim of an acute attack of hysteria induced by worry about financial matters, Louis de Fabrity, a member of the Italian band, fell in the Pacific park last night and later lapsed into unconsciousness. He was given medical aid and later was removed to his boarding house where his condition is reported as serious. Reduction in his salary is said to have made De Fabrity melancholy for the last few days.

The offices of the Long Beach Hotel Company have been removed from the old quarters in the Bixby Block, to the bath-house, where are located the offices of Col. Charles R. Drake, who is president of the hotel company.

In stepping from a west-bound Alamitos Bay car at Lime and Ocean Avenues last evening, Mrs. C. E. Coombs was thrown to the ground, suffering a dislocation of the hip and many bruises of a painful nature.

Residents in the neighborhood of Sixth and Atlantic were sorrowing today over the loss of various articles of wear. Thieves visited their yards and from the clothes lines purloined several pieces of bed linen, a dozen shirts and numerous pieces of women's wearing apparel. Tracks were found which indicate that a man and woman did the stealing.

City tax collections yesterday were $1518.60, with indications of a larger return at the close of today's business.

Mrs. Harriet A. Whitney, a tourist from Minneapolis, died this morning at the home of a daughter on Magnolia avenue. She was 69 years of age and a widow.

The Lyceum, a vaudeville theater, is being erected at No. 237 Pine avenue, and will be opened to the public about November 15. Its manager is Peter Harrison, who represents eastern interests.

An emergency hospital is being fitted up in the City Jail and is to be complete and modern. Health Officer Dr. W. H. Jones will act as police surgeon. The object is to give first aid to the injured and to treat sick prisoners.

Juan Realva, an employé of the Salt Lake, leaped from a moving train at West Long Beach last evening, and as a result of a double somersault, is nursing a broken head and many bruises. It is not thought his injuries are fatal.

ALHAMBRA IMPROVEMENTS.

Contracts Let for Extensive Street and Sidewalk Construction—A Mile of Storm Drain to Be Built.

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 16.—The contract for the improvement of Marguerite avenue was awarded at the regular meeting of the Board of City Trustees last evening. This will add another mile of oiled roadway and two miles of cement sidewalk to the ten miles of roads and twenty miles of sidewalks completed during the past nine months.

Contracts for the laying of over a mile of thirty-inch vitrified pipe for storm drains were also awarded, and the successful bidders directed to proceed immediately with the improvement.

The bid of F. B. Elwood and others offering 13,800 square feet, with a frontage of 100 feet, at the northwest corner of Second and Main streets, was accepted, and the building of a new City Hall will begin upon the transfer of the property to the city.

PIERCE TREE COUNTRY.

RANGERS TRAIL BUILDERS NOW.

RAINS ELIMINATE DANGER OF MOUNTAIN FIRES.

Extension of Path for Travelers from the Valley to the West Fork of the San Gabriel River at Rincon Will Proceed—Important Protection to the Reserve.

MONROVIA, Oct. 16.—Danger of forest fires being terminated by the rain, which was much heavier in the mountains than in the lowlands, Forest Supervisor R. H. Charlton has transferred a part of the San Gabriel ranger force from patrol work to trail building. Heavy snow and long interruptions because of storms prevented the completion of the new trail from Deer Park, Monrovia Cañon, to Rincon, San Gabriel Cañon, last winter.

The extension of this trail will at once be commenced. It will be completed, together with a fire break paralleling it on the north, before patrol work begins next season. Rangers are anxious that this direct route across the crest of the range to Rincon be opened as soon as possible, as it will greatly facilitate concentration of the force in case of emergency. It will also effectually protect the entire southern side of the range from any conflagration beginning in the pine forests of the northern slope.

FOR NEW HOTEL.

W. B. Redburn, owner of "Gold Hill" hotel site north of the city, met by appointment last night prominent Monrovia business men to confer with them relative to the erection of a hostelry. The original plan of a half million dollar hotel is deemed too ambitious at the present, and the plans now prepared provide for a structure costing $125,000. Mr. Redburn affirmed his ability to finance the enterprise and his readiness to begin work at any time, conditional upon a bonus of $25,000.

Exclusive of the cost of the site, furnishings and other outlays, the building is to cost not less than $125,000. A committee was appointed to submit the proposition to local capitalists and business men and report to Mr. Redburn within thirty days. Apparently sentiment is in favor of the project and, should it be decided upon as the best of several of like nature now being considered, the 20 per cent. bonus will doubtless be subscribed.

FOOTHILL BREEZES.

The Granite Club, whose list of members includes many of the business men of the city, has inaugurated a whist tournament. The initial games are to be played on the night of October 22. About twenty teams will be entered and the contest will continue until after the holiday season.

W. A. Chess, cashier of the First National Bank of this city, has been granted a three weeks' leave of absence and is paying a visit to his brother at his home in San Francisco.

Brown Smith and his mother, Mrs. W. Judson Smith, who recently disposed of their residence on Primrose avenue, are preparing to build a home at Oneonta Park. They have leased the Bashford cottage on Encinitas avenue and will remain in Monrovia for the winter.

C. N. Whittaker, editor of the El Monte Gazette, has returned from a ten days' trip to San Francisco.

S. V. Riley has taken a cottage on North Charlotte avenue for the winter and has removed his family from Los Angeles.

R. D. Cowan has returned from a ten days' visit to San Francisco.

LA VERNE RANCHES SELL.

Trio of Transactions in Orange Grove Properties in the Citrus District.

LORDSBURG, Oct. 16.—J. I. Cumberland of La Verne has today sold a fifteen-acre orange grove without improvements for $20,500 cash. W. A. Fox of Pomona buys the south eight acres for $10,000 and W. H. Rosecrans buys the north seven acres for $10,500. Cumberland bought this fifteen-acre orchard about sixteen months ago for $8400, the former owner having "cold feet." He has realized about $3000 from the crops. Both the buyers are orchardists of experience and not tenderfeet. The trees were planted by S. F. Owen about six years ago.

H. Williams of La Verne has today sold his ranch to W. A. Fox of Pomona; stated consideration $7850. This property, better known as the Frase place, consists of seven acres in young orange trees, with farm buildings.

A. W. Richards of Pomona has sold his La Verne ranch to J. F. Beckerer of Pomona; stated consideration $12,500. This property consists of ten acres in oranges together with a neat cottage.

VETERAN AFTER RICHES.

Member of Soldiers' Home Believes He Will Soon Have Enough to Be Independent.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 16.—Capt. Henry O'Connor, who was for a term chief of the home police and later branch inspector, resigned recently, and on Tuesday departed for Nevada, where some mining interests in the neighborhood of Las Vegas required his attention.

While prospecting in that section several years ago, the captain ran across what seemed to him some promising claims, and at once located them. He has been in the habit, each fall and winter, of putting in what personal work he could with his limited means, and of returning each spring to this place to recuperate in strength and purse for continuing next season's labors on his prospective fortune. He has had some fairly liberal offers for his claims, but could not be prevailed upon to sell. "This trip," he confided to some of his friends, "I expect to bring my 'find' to a condition that will, when disposed of, assure me an ample competency and independence in my declining years."

Capt. O'Connor is a man of such tendencies, that it is believed he would not become dizzy should it be his good fortune to realize his expectations.

John H. Campbell, late Co. I, First Louisiana Cavalry, a native of Illinois, admitted from Los Angeles in 1901, died October 12; aged 64.

STUDENTS PARADE.

CLAREMONT, Oct. 16.—For the edification of the student body and especially the freshman class, just after the dismissal of chapel service today, the sophomores gave a grand street parade with takeoffs on the class of 1911.

Headed by a dish pan and wash tub band, the parade consisted of a waiter with milk bottles for the freshmen, a baby buggy placarded "Freshman omnibus," followed with a sophomore nurse in charge. A goat dragging a football was followed by a donkey labeled "I hate to be a Freshman." The animal pulled a wagon containing a miniature wash tub for the "tubbing" of the freshies. This bore the inscription: "1910 Board of Health."

Students, faculty, and townspeople lined the street and applauded the 1910 parade until the freshmen intervened.

CLAREMONT NOTES.

John Wallace Reeder of Haverford, has returned to Claremont and will spend the winter at the Claremont Inn. Last year Mr. Reeder did graduate work in the college.

Mr. George A. Gates has returned from a few weeks' outing at Long Beach.

The rainfall as registered by the government weather men here, up to this morning was .44 inch for the week.

The monthly meeting of the Board of City Trustees will be held next Monday afternoon.

The Men's Union of the Claremont Church will hold its semi-annual stag dinner on Monday, October 21. Toasts prominent members will follow the repast.

Mrs. Laura Holt has laid the foundati for a new house to be erected on Dartmouth avenue near Seventh.

Dr. Clare Jenks of Los Angeles is building on College avenue.

ALMOST READY TO BUILD.

Whittier Woman's Club Has Plans About Completed for Home of Organization.

WHITTIER, Oct. 16.—Members of the Woman's Club plan to put up a bungalow clubhouse here. The Building Committee announced at a meeting today that the final completed plans and specifications would be sent from the architect's office tonight, and would be ready for the club's inspection Friday afternoon. The contract is to be let immediately, and it is expected that the next week will see active work begun on the building. An auditorium, with maple floor, and with a seating capacity of about 300, will occupy the front, which is also to have club parlors, kitchens, a commodious stage and dressing-rooms and a couple of large porches. It is to be of bungalow style, and will be opened in the holiday season with a kirmess and bazaar. The club members, one hundred strong, are hard at work on plans for this event, which is to last several days, and have many unique features in prospect, among which will be a dainty entertainment by a score or more of little children, and a baby show. The meeting today was held at the home of Mrs. George E. Little, and a programme of nature study was given, among those contributing numbers being Mrs. Barlow, who gave a plea for the study of birds; Mrs. Lindley, who spoke of Lake Tahoe; Mrs. A. C. Johnson, who told of mountain climbing, and Prof. O. C. Albertson, who gave an instructive talk on the trees of California. A called meeting to be held at the same place for the inspection of the club plans was announced for Friday afternoon of this week.

POMONA.

POMONA, Oct. 16.—Plans are being drawn for a brick building to be erected on Third street between Main and Thomas streets, by F. H. Osler. Mr. Osler will occupy it with his pump, engine and automobile business, when it is completed, and will fit up the brick block he is now occupying to rent as a store and office building.

Miss Winifred Oren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Oren, and Percy S. Burke, were married at the home of the bride's parents on East Third street yesterday at noon, Rev. G. W. Riggs of Los Angeles officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Burke have gone on a short bridal trip, and upon their return will reside here.

E. W. Davies is enjoying a visit from his mother, Mrs. W. T. Davies of Sacramento.

The local High School Rugby team will play the Long Beach High School team Saturday.

Walter McDermid has been held to answer in the Superior Court to the charge of burglary. The young man's preliminary examination was held before Justice Barnes yesterday.

A. C. Gerrard and family have left for Santa Barbara, where Mr. Gerrard will engage in business.

TWO THOUSAND PER ACRE.

Covina Orange Grove, Consisting of Five-Year-Old Valencias and Navels Is Sold.

COVINA, Oct. 16.—Twenty thousand dollars cash has been paid this week for a ten-acre orange grove in Covina. The grove in question was the property of W. M. Warren on West Puente street, and the purchaser is W. P. Watts, who has owned several orange groves in Covina for the past ten years. Two-thirds of the grove consists of Valencia buds 5 years old, the balance in full-bearing navels. The house and other improvements on the place are estimated at $1000. The grove was purchased by Mr. Warren two years ago from M. Overholtzer for $11,000.

J. D. Crenshaw, aged 75, for years a resident of this city, died this morning after a few days' illness. The funeral will be at the family residence on Second street at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. He leaves a widow, one son, Robert Crenshaw, of this city, and several daughters.

Furnish Escorts for Women.

New York is to have something new in the line of business, which will at the same time prove a boon to lone females, and aid college students who do not have their education paid for out of a parental purse. The new idea is for a bureau of escorts, who shall act as guides, philosophers and friends to any woman in New York who happens to be without a protecting man. The idea has been suggested before and even tried in a tentative way by one theater, which offered to furnish its ushers to accompany to their homes such women as came to the theater alone. The plan did not go well, however, partly because of the personality of the escorts and partly for the reason that has kept messenger boys out of this field—the uniform. The new escort bureau, however, proposes to furnish young men, preferably college students of the best manners, education and character generally. All these points will be most carefully investigated, and in addition his wardrobe must be equal to any social demands. That there is room for some such plan, provided the escorts furnished can meet the women they are to look after on a basis of equality, is shown by the fact that many cafés and hotel dining-rooms exclude women unaccompanied by a man. Just how spinsterhood will take to the new idea, however, remains to be seen.

A Coroner's jury at San Francisco returned two similar verdicts yesterday holding the United Railroads responsible "through the negligence of the motorman" for the deaths of Fred Denison and Leon Blue, who were killed in street car accidents.

The personnel of the Ferris company will be about as outlined in a previous issue of The Times.

The leading man is Joseph Kilgour, while the "second woman" of the company is Eleanor Montell, daughter of Forrest Robinson and Eugenie Blair.

Sedley Brown will again direct the stage. Harry von Meter will return. Others in the company will be George Hart and Frank Bernish.

Friends of Florence Barker revive the rumor that she will eventually join as ingenue, but this report is not substantiated.

Here's a story of "The Undertow," Manager Blackwood's well-known production, which has never got into print.

As originally written, "The Undertow" was a unique and doubtless remarkable drama.

It contained no women characters. The plot was fought out to a bitter end between men only. And the finale was a legitimate one, for the reformer-reporter was deserted by his friends, overcome by his craving for drink, and at last, sickened by the struggle, slain by his own hand.

There you have a story, which, if not one of beauty, possesses astounding dramatic power. But it was taken to a great producing manager, and he, after reading it, pronounced it an insane venture, and one which, by no possibility, could succeed. There were no women! There was no happy love-story ending!

The author's protestations that the public demanded a change were met with scorn. He took his play from manager to manager, and at last, in desperation, he remodeled it.

The newly-constructed piece was tried out here, at the Belasco.

EXCITABLE MOB CHEERS "REDS."

NEAR RIOT WHEN PLOTTERS ARE TAKEN TO COURT.

Officers Prevent Outbreak Among Sympathizers With Mexicans, Against Whom Extradition Proceedings Were Dismissed—New Complaint Under Neutrality Laws.

Surrounded by more than two hundred shouting sympathizers, Villareal, Magon and Rivera, Mexican revolutionists and anarchists, were escorted yesterday afternoon from the County Jail to the Federal courtroom in the Tajo building. The prisoners were in irons under guard of Deputy United States Marshals Franklin and Durlin.

Only the coolness and courage of the two officers prevented an outbreak in front of the Tajo building, when it was whispered in the crowd that the "reds" would not be released, as their friends had boasted. The crowd swayed toward the resolute guards, and one word from a leader would have precipitated a riot. But the deputy marshals hurried their men into the elevator and the impulse of the fickle crowd turned in another direction.

Instead of engaging in actual combat, the excitable mob pelted the prisoners and their escorts with flowers and swung hats in the air, with loud huzzas for the men they regarded as martyrs. Scores of men breathing hard after their exertions clambered up three flights to the floor on which the United States office are located.

Outside the building, other agitators released tiny balloons on which appeared the words "Villareal-Magon-Rivera."

The expectations of those who firmly believed the revolutionists would be released, were not realized. As was outlined in The Times, yesterday morning, the extradition proceedings were dismissed, but United States Dist.-Atty. Oscar Lawler immediately filed a complaint charging Villareal, Magon and Rivera with violation of the neutrality laws in Arizona. The defendants will be given an opportunity to secure bail this morning.

De Lara, the fourth of the little group of revolutionists arrested in connection with the charges of plotting direct against the Mexican government, was not arraigned with the others. No reason was assigned for this action beyond the statement that De Lara had been arrested at the personal request of Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte and might be given a separate trial.

The deputies in the United States Marshal's office will take measures to prevent any demonstration within the precincts of the court when the men are arraigned this morning.

With the good-nature characteristic of officials in this country, little notice was taken yesterday of a demonstration that would have resulted in many arrests in foreign lands. The crowd gave utterance to sentiments expressing hatred for existing forms of government and shouted many Spanish epithets directed toward the authorities which hold in custody the leaders of a plot that is said to have aimed at the overthrow of the existing Mexican government.

The Federal officials in Arizona claim to have absolute proof that Villareal, Magon and Rivera were among the leaders in a conspiracy to march an armed band of revolutionists across the Mexican border. A time probably will be set today for a hearing before the United States Commissioner on an application for the removal of the prisoners to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court in Arizona.

TOO REALISTIC.

A fire scene was plunged into realistic vividness in a moving-picture theater at No. 255 South Main street about 6:30 o'clock last night, when a roll of film blew up in a fountain of flames. With a roar, the thing flared up, throwing the theater into darkness. A panic followed among the seventy-five persons in the audience, in which the screens at the entrance were carried away.

The performance had just begun when the film broke, and was ignited. The flames were confined to the asbestos box in which the picture machine is placed. When the blaze started the operator closed the screen and jumped from the platform to the floor, escaping without injury.

The theater is conducted by Thomas Warwick, who estimates his loss at $250. The building, owned by the Brockoven estate, was not damaged.

NEEDS HELP FOR CHILDREN.

Charitable people can perform an act of real mercy by sending necessary articles to Mrs. Petrovsky, No. 1552 Beale street, where she is living in a cottage given her rent free, with her five little children. She is strong and willing to work, though it is difficult for her to leave the children, the eldest being a boy of 9 years, but they are the brightest, happiest youngsters ever seen under such adverse circumstances. The woman is the widow of Peter Petrovsky, who was accidentally killed with a shotgun about a month ago at Calabasas, leaving her destitute. She may be found by taking the Eastlake and West Eleventh-street cars to Schieffin and East Main streets, and going one short block north to Beale street. The family were residents of this city some years before attempting ranching at Calabasas a few months ago.

WANTS TO BUILD PIER.

Anyone interested in the proposed new pier at Santa Monica will find maps showing the location in the office of Capt. A. A. Fries. The city of Santa Monica has made application for permission to construct a pier from the foot of Colorado street.

CRAFTY CROOK IS GENEROUS.

The dressing-room of the Los Angeles High football team was robbed, late Tuesday afternoon, while the squad was playing the St. Vincent's eleven at Fiesta Park. For the first time in the year the door of the dressing-room was left unlocked, and during the practice game somebody slipped in and interviewed all the pockets.

When the losses were totaled, it was found that $15 had been taken. It was a good-natured crook, inasmuch as he left every player car fare, and took no jewelry.

A Shoe Stock So Large That Two Weeks' Selling at Retail Made No Impression On It

The Trustee Couldn't Sell the Bon Marche Stock. It's Up to Us. Price No Object. The Shoes Must Be Sold

After a vain endeavor to close Le Sage Bros.' (The Bon Marche) shoe stock out at retail, the trustee sold the entire stock to The Mammoth Shoe Store at practically their own price. So large was the stock that two weeks' selling made little impression on it. The Bon Marche opened with nearly $70,000 worth of shoes—the largest stock of shoes ever opened at one time on the Pacific Coast. Le Sage Bros. were practical and well known shoe men, well versed in the requirements of the local trade. The Bon Marche stock was selected with the utmost care and the very cream of this magnificent stock (the reserve that was in the ware rooms) was not touched during the trustee sale. These goods will all be on sale, making the greatest shoe sale ever launched in Los Angeles. The MAMMOTH SHOE HOUSE has been headquarters in Los Angeles for popular priced footwear for many years and the absorbing of Le Sage Bros.' excellent stock will but add to their prestige. Remember the opening day—today—and come to The Mammoth Shoe Store expecting the greatest shoe values you have ever known.

HIT HARD BY CLOUDBURST.

Five Minutes' Precipitation in Highgrove Foothills Near Inch of Rain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A cloudburst descended with the fury of an avalanche in the foothills back of E. J. Oatman's "Sunny Mountain" orange ranch near Highgrove at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and an inch of rain is estimated to have fallen within five minutes. The water rushed in a torrent down the gorge in the hills. Frank E. Humphrey, who was working on the ranch, was caught in the cloudburst and narrowly escaped injury. The storm was confined to a very small area.

In Riverside the rainfall today was .07 of an inch, making a total of .71 of an inch for the season.

were questioned concerning the Santa Ynez bridge, while Boyd had some question to ask relative to the manner in which the Pacific Coast Railroad operates that alleged ramshackle affair. He told the jury that he was a shipper over the route, but that he had always received excellent treatment at the hands of the company's officials, and that cars were always available, and promptly, whenever he needed to ship stock.

EASTERN STAR.

The grand chapter of the Eastern Star, in session here today, transacted routine business, consisting of the introduction of memorials and resolutions and the appointment of committees. The gatherings declared to be one of the best attended and most enthusiastic ever held in the State, 210 chapters from the California jurisdiction being represented.

In the evening there was exemplification of pledge work, with corrections, given by the grand officers. Tomorrow the election of officers will be held. Alexander R. Fraser of Ocean Park, Past Patron of his chapter, is considered the probable choice for Grand Patron, Mrs. M. Johnson of San Francisco for Grand Matron; Mrs. Rose Burns, Esperanza chapter, Los Angeles, for Associate Grand Matron, and C. Hunt of San Francisco for Associate Grand Patron.

VEGETABLE DEAL.

WHO'LL SELL THE CELERY?

SPECULATION AT SANTA ANA ON ACTION OF GROWERS.

Indications That the California Vegetable Union Will Be Given Another Contract—Mme. Modjeska Will Build a Handsome Residence at Tustin.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 16.—This is the fifth and last year of the contract of the California Vegetable Union as the selling agency of the Celery Growers' Association, and growers here and dealers in the East are speculating on the likelihood that another contract will be signed with the vegetable union by the celery men. All the indications are that the California Vegetable Union will be given another contract, for the reason that it is likely that better terms will be offered, that the growers are pleased with the arrangements under which the selling agent has operated, and that the California Vegetable Union is one of the heaviest celery growers in the Celery Growers' Association.

For several years the selling agent has grown from 450 to 500 acres of celery, which is about one-tenth of the total acreage, and it does not seem likely that the association would care to split itself by the loss of the union's acreage.

Under the present contract the growers are put to little trouble. The union furnishes the crates. Its commission is 3½ cents when celery brings less than 18 cents per dozen bundles, and 3 cents when celery brings 18 cents or more.

ACTRESS WILL BUILD.

Mme. Modjeska will build a handsome residence in Tustin and will make her future home there. The world-famed actress has been spending the summer on the Byron Oliver ranch at Tustin, which her husband, Count Bozenta, has leased. Mme. Modjeska and her husband have purchased three acres from James S. Rice and plans are being considered for a spacious residence into which she will move the furnishings formerly in her mountain ranch home, "Arden," which is now owned by the Modjeska Country Club, composed of Long Beach capitalists.

SANTA ANA NOTES.

Sheriff Lacy today received a telegram from San Francisco to the effect that George S. Best, accused of bigamy, had been arrested there. An officer will leave at once for San Francisco. Best is complained against by Mrs. Anita Best, his first wife.

A fishing line and a barbed wire fence are the cause of the death of Roy Walton of Compton, who was drowned in Laguna Lakes yesterday morning. A fishing line was tied about his chest by Walton and his companion, Joseph Brassey, held on to it while Walton swam out after some ducks. The cord was too short to allow Walton to reach two of the ducks, and at Walton's request Brassey let go the line. This line caught on a fence that runs under water on the bed of the lake, which is often dry in summer, and dragged Walton to his death.

DIFFERENT ABOVE RIALTO.

RIALTO, Oct. 16.—Up to noon today the rainfall for Rialto has been .46 inch, while at the mouth of Lytle Creek Cañon the rainfall was 1.25 inches.

LOMPOC.

LOMPOC, Oct. 16.—The machinery of the Lompoc planing mill at this place has all been transferred this week to Santa Maria.

A. Lehman, Arthur Rudolph and George Owen are Lompoc men who are serving on the grand jury.

At the last meeting of the Book Club its members voted to donate fifty more books to the public library, making in all eighty volumes which they have given to that institution.

ROBBERS.

SAFE BREAKERS SECURE BOOTY.

CRACKSMEN MAKE SUCCESSFUL HAUL AT RIVERSIDE.

Burglars Operate Early in Morning to Disarm Suspicion, but Fail on Two Jobs—Orange City Man Gets Contract for Erection of Buildings at Sherman Institute.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—When they opened their stores this morning, three Riverside merchants discovered that robbers had been at work at their safes. The safe in E. Michelbacher's grocery store was broken into and about $130 in cash taken. Fifty dollars' worth of checks were untouched. Unsuccessful attempts were also made to break into the safes in the Russ Lumber Company's office and A. Difani's blacksmith shop. The safe breakers averted suspicion by doing their work shortly before opening hours this morning. Though the noise of chiseling and pounding was heard by those living near, suspicion was not aroused, because it was believed to be caused by workmen engaged in legitimate operations. The thieves used the same methods in each case, attempting to get into the safes by chiseling the locks. The police have no clew to the identity of the robbers.

INSTITUTE CONTRACT.

Against keen competition among Southern California contractors, Fred Peter of Riverside was awarded the contract yesterday for six new buildings to be erected at Sherman Institute by the United States government. The cost will be $30,000, exclusive of the machinery and plumbing. The contract calls for an addition to the dining hall, two new cottages for employés, stables, coal house and an addition to the steam laundry. Work is to begin as soon as the plans can be returned from Washington and the materials can be secured.

HOME WEDDING.

Miss Mae Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Andrews, was married to Charles E. Johnson, son of Mrs. E. M. Johnson, at a simple wedding last evening at the home of the bride at No. 1280 Mulberry street. Dr. B. S. Haywood, the former pastor of the bride and groom, was the officiating clergyman, and the marriage took place in the presence only of relatives and most intimate friends. The bride was daintily attired in white dotted mull and carried white carnations. There were no attendants. After November 1, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at No. 969 Chestnut street.

GETS ONE YEAR.

G. Thurston Russell, who pleaded guilty to the charge of having forged his father's name to a check which he presented at the First National Bank of Riverside for cashing, was sentenced this morning to one year at San Quentin. He was taken north this afternoon.

NEW CHURCH.

Grace Church, the new Methodist church on the East Side, was organized at a largely attended meeting last night. The organization starts out with a membership of 190. The trustees chosen were: C. F. Marcy, D. E. Fogleman, W. D. Ennor, J. A. Clendenen, H. L. Thomas, G. W. Prior, George Blackman, H. G. Koster and W. B. Laporte. The stewards are: A. L. Schoepf, H. A. Bagg, William McMahill, J. L. Dexter, C. Sarles, Mrs. Josephine Ogburn, Harry Hibbard, Mrs. J. A. Clendenen, M. G. Brown, George Gobruegge, H. G. Bandy, C. C. Van Fleet and V. E. Hulse. The new Sunday-school superintendent is W. G. Prior, and the class leader elected is H. A. Bagg.

VENTURA PIONEER DIES.

Former Business Man Passes Away. Manual Training to Be Installed in City Schools.

VENTURA, Oct. 16.—George Eastwood, a pioneer, passed away yesterday at his El Rio home, after a short illness. Mr. Eastwood was one of the best-known men in the county, having arrived here in 1875. He was born in London, England, in April, 1840. He married in that country, and came to America in 1870, and engaged in cabinet making in this city. While a resident of this city he was elected and served as a City Trustee. After leaving Ventura he removed with his family to El Rio, where he had since resided. He leaves a widow and nine children, George E., John, Ernest, Herbert H., James H., Frank, Mrs. E. S. Pickett, Mrs. Howard Hibbs and Mrs. Frank Gilger. All the children are residents of the county.

VENTURA NOTES.

The Board of Supervisors concluded that it can expedite business by the purchase of an automobile, and to that end a committee has been named to buy a machine. The Good Roads Commission will have the use of the auto for its purposes for the present.

The board has also engaged quarters in the new McGuire building, into which it will move in a few weeks.

City Superintendent of Schools Haydock has fitted up a large room in the Poli-street school, to be used as a manual training department. Great interest is being taken in this department by the boys of the sixth, seventh and eight grades. A class for sewing has also been started for the girls.

Neal Boker and Ethel Daugherty of Santa Paula were married in Santa Barbara yesterday. The wedding came as a surprise to the friends of the young couple. The groom is a brother of Dist.-Atty. Bowker and a merchant of Santa Paula. The bride is one of Santa Paula's best-known belles and a daughter of T. W. Daugherty.

Mrs. Evelyn Scarlett has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late John Scarlett, qualifying in bonds of $50,000.

SOUTHERN METHODISTS.

Annual Conference of Church in Session at San Diego—Nearly Eighty Delegates Present.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—The annual meeting of the Los Angeles Conference of the Methodist Church, South, is being held here, the first session having taken place last evening at the Keener Church, corner Eighth and C streets. Pastors and delegates from all the Southern Methodist churches in Southern California and Arizona, numbering nearly eighty, are present. The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. W. L. Douglass of Santa Ana.

After a long illness John F. Jaeger died yesterday, aged 45. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Anna E. Jaeger, three sons and two daughters.

Grant Conard, nominee for Mayor on the Independent ticket in the last general election, delivered an address last evening before one of the improvement clubs in which he declared against the present system of municipal government, favoring the commission form.

Don't Take Drugs!

Electricity Is the Only Natural Cure

As far back as you can remember you have understood that the only way to cure pain or disease was to dope your stomach with drugs. You never stop to think of the harm that will come of it.

Most drugs contain poison, and poison wrecks the stomach and nerves. It never did cure anybody of anything. It will kill the pain by stupefying the nerves, but the pain comes back as soon as the effect of the drug has passed off.

Electricity is the power that runs every organ of your body. It's the power Nature uses in curing disease. The reason your stomach, kidneys, liver or digestive organs fail to do their work is because they lack electricity. Then, can't you see that the only way to restore a weak organ to a healthy condition is to restore the electricity that enables it to do its work?

Your belt cured me of kidney and liver complaint of thirty years' standing. It has also cured my stomach trouble, and I have gained thirty-three pounds since I began its use.

H. T. PARKER, Riverside, Cal.

Given Free

I want every one to read my book which tells how I cure with electricity—Nature's way. It is beautifully illustrated and gives a lot of information for every sufferer. I'll send it postpaid, free, if you will mail me this ad.

MEN ONLY

I Cure the Cases That Others Cannot Cure

A bold statement, but just as true as it is bold. Not all cases that others fail to cure are curable by my methods, but fully ninety per cent. of them are. The way to learn whether your case is curable is to consult me. I know exactly what can be done in every instance. I ought to know this, for I have done nothing else other than treat men's diseases for twenty-five years. If your case is curable I will treat you. If it isn't, I will not. If I treat you, and if you so desire,

I Will Wait for My fee Until You are Well

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist.

Weakness

Weakness in men is comparatively a simple ailment and is but a symptom of local disorder, a congestion of an important nerve center. No stimulating treatment, whether internal or locally applied, can do more than excite temporary activity. By my system of local treatment I restore absolutely normal conditions throughout the organs involved, which promptly results in complete and permanent restoration of strength and vigor. This treatment is original with me, and it is the only radical and certain cure yet devised.

Varicocele

Varicocele is a relaxation, knotting and twisting of the most vital blood vessels of the organic system. It stagnates the local circulation and interferes with the processes of waste and repair. Neglect brings derangement of functions and injury to the general health. Most physicians resort to surgical operations and hospital treatment. I cure varicocele in one week without operation, pain or detention from business. My cures are absolutely permanent and no ill effects whatever can follow my treatment.

I ALSO CURE ALL SPECIAL DISEASES OF MEN SUCH AS HYDROCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD DISEASES, ETC.

EXAMINATION FREE

I offer not only free consultation and advice, but to every case that comes to me I will make a careful examination and diagnosis without charge. No ailing man should neglect this opportunity to get expert opinion about this trouble. If you cannot call, write for diagnosis chart. My offices are open all day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sundays from 10 to 1.

WEAK MEN

DR. MILES,
The Master Specialist

For a limited time, to better demonstrate my superior methods in the treatment of Men's Diseases

My Fee $10.00 In any uncomplicated case

YOU PAY WHEN CURED

I do not ask you to pay "if" you are cured, or "unless" you are cured, but I AM WILLING TO WAIT FOR MY FEE UNTIL CURE IS ENTIRELY COMPLETED. No fair-minded man would ask me for more sincere confidence in my ability.

I treated men's diseases only for seventeen years, and one year of my practice represents a greater volume of good experience than several years bring the average physician or specialist. In explanation of this statement, will say that I have been the busiest specialist upon this coast, curing several cases to other physicians' one. I began my practice with accurate knowledge concerning men's diseases, and my patients have received thoroughly scientific treatment. I have not only treated them rightly, thus acquiring an abundance of the very best kind of experience—experience of positive value to those I treat, and experience that enables me to offer cures with certainty of effecting them.

"WEAKNESS"

There are few physicians treating functional weakness by my method of obtaining results that even resemble complete and permanent cures. I employ no tonics, stimulants or electric belts.

"VARICOCELE"

No caustic, no cutting. Mild and painless treatment that restores complete health and tone to the weakened and dilated veins in one week's time. Cannot fail.

I Cure Contracted Disorders, Specific Blood Poison, Stricture, Nerve-Debilitation and all reflex ailments.

CONSULTATION FREE — MY HONEST AND CANDID ADVICE COSTS YOU NOTHING. I cheerfully give you the very best opinion, guided by years of successful practice. Men out of town, in trouble, write if you cannot call, as many cases yield readily to proper home treatment and cure

Varicocele

One man in every four has some degree of varicocele; three-fourths of all cases of varicocele have been up against doctors who advertise to cure without an operation, which is an absolute impossibility. We have been curing varicocele in Los Angeles for 16 years and can show business men here in the city by the score who will be more than glad to tell any man who is afflicted with varicocele all about their experience with our certain and absolute cure by our strictly painless operation. Now, we wish to ask any man who has varicocele if he would like to be cured? If so, will he go to a specialist who will introduce him to any number of first-class leading business men here in the city who have been cured, or will he hand over his money to a would-be specialist who carries a bombastic advertisement saying he can cure without operation and who cannot show a single reliable man whom he has cured?

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Oct. 16.—[Reported by A. R. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.96; at 5 p.m., 29.97. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 64 deg. and 82 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 92 per cent.; 5 p.m., 74 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 2 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 6 miles. Maximum temperature, 71 deg.; minimum, 61 deg. Rainfall past twenty-four hours, .02 of an inch; rainfall for season, .34 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions—Unsettled, showery weather continues over the Southwest this morning, the disturbance central over the interior valleys of California Tuesday having broken up into several small depressions, the principal of which is over Northern Arizona and Southern Utah. This development has caused good rains in Arizona, and lesser amounts in Southern California. Elsewhere west of the Rocky Mountains, fair weather has prevailed. Light showers have occurred in Missouri, Illinois, portions of Kansas and along the shores of Lake Erie. Elsewhere east of the great divide, fair weather continues. It is warmer than usual in Southern California, while temperatures below the seasonal average are reported in the Eastern States. The conditions on the South Pacific Slope continue very unsettled, and threatening, showery weather will likely continue another twenty-four hours.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Unsettled and threatening, possibly with showers, tonight and Thursday; variable winds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—A trough of low pressure extends through California from Mexico to Northern Oregon. This has caused cloudy weather over the southern half of the Pacific Slope, with showers from San Francisco southward, and fair weather covers Oregon, Idaho and Washington. The pressure is rising along the coast of California, though slowly. The temperature has fallen over Southern Nevada and Southeastern California. In other districts, the changes have been slight. Conditions are favorable for showers in California Thursday. Forecast:

San Francisco and vicinity: Showers Thursday; light southwest wind.

Santa Clara Valley: Showers Thursday; light south wind.

Sacramento Valley: Showers Thursday; light south wind.

San Joaquin Valley: Showers Thursday; light south wind.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Showers Thursday; light west wind.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The continuance of rainy weather had the predicted effect. Most of the perishable fruits were advanced fractionally, and in one or two cases considerably. The supply was short on Muscat grapes, and several other varieties were only able to fill a sluggish demand. Business was slow and only the daily customers responded for large amounts. The bucksters in many cases made no appearance. On the Produce Exchange there was considerable haggling over some of the prices, asked and bid, which resulted in no sales.

EGGS—Day's receipts, 88 cases. With the coming of the rain, dealers are already anticipating better yields, and there was a tendency this morning to drop the prices of those in storage, especially the eastern grades. Selects were offered as low as 40½c a dozen, but found no takers. Ranch and case-count remained unchanged.

Butter—Day's receipts, 19,184 pounds. An increase of 4900 over the day previous did not weaken the market in the least. The quotations still remain at 27½ for fresh creamery, while the lower grades are about the same. Eastern butter has not been arriving in large quantities of late, and the prices for this have strengthened considerably.

Cheese—Day's receipts, 2400 pounds. With the advance of Anchor and fresh Northern cheese came the announcement on Wednesday that the Limburger, domestic Swiss, brick cream and Eastern daisies had also gone from a half to a cent higher. Offerings were very light.

Potatoes—Day's receipts, 5154 sacks. With the arrival of this heavy supply the market remained firm at the current quotations. There were some offered at fractionally lower figures, but they were as a rule below standard. Extra fancy grades are bringing small premiums.

Sweet Potatoes—Day's receipts, 95 sacks. These were grown near Downey and are a fair yellow potato. Buyers could not be found at $1.75 and, concessions had not the least effect. Many of those which have arrived lately are very small and far from the high standard which was established the first of the season. Onions are offered in various quantities on Wednesday, but only ten sacks were sold at regular quotations. There are not many onions in the market, and all varieties are holding firm, with the big demand still remaining on Yellow Danvers and Australian Browns. Just 466 sacks or a carload arrived.

Dry beans, the day's receipts were only two sacks. Offerings brought out the fact that a difference of 25c a sack existed between the old and the new stock in favor of the latter. A car of pink beans is on the way here, but on being offered for sale to arrive, none were taken.

Vegetables of all sorts were well represented. Cauliflower was sold at 75c a dozen heads for the average, while the very best brought only 10c more. There were not as many tomatoes as in the past few days and cucumbers also took a brace. Pickles sold for 25c a box when well graded. Lettuce had the principal call and the rain had a good effect on it. Cabbage was very stiff with celery.

Predictions as to advance in grapes were fulfilled and Muscats sold at a dollar a box before noon. By that time they were well cleaned up, and dealers who had any left were able to realize small premiums on them. Concords are all out of the market. Delaware grapes are exceedingly scarce and about gone. Tokays were higher and not of the usual high standard. Royal Isabellas were perhaps the most choice stock offered. A few egg plums out of cold storage sold at a dollar a box. Peaches were well cleaned up at the prevailing high figures. Bartlett pears were higher and no quinces were to be had.

Strawberries jumped as high as $c a box. Moneta, Gardena, Irwindale, Montebellos, all remained at 7c while Tropico and Glendale berries sold at the higher figure. Many of them were salvaged from the rain. Baldwin, Red Permain and Greening apples were the only varities offered on change. Smith cider and Bellefleurs were plentiful in the open market.

Poultry was a trifle easier, and hens only brought 15c, against half a cent more on Monday and Tuesday. The arrival of several cars from the East was the cause of this decline. Geese and turkeys are already offered for the holiday trade. Fish were very plentiful and lobsters were not all cleaned up by noon.

The grain and feed market made fractional advances. Wheat, corn, feed meal and oats advanced 10 cents per hundred pounds. Rolled barley, which has gone up several times within the past two months only jumped 5c higher. Causes for this are the higher prices in all grains in the East and Eastern Washington. The probabilities are that flour will advance another 30c a barrel this week.

NEW YORK MARKET.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—There were a number of quick transfers in the stock market today, which proved exceedingly unsettling to sentiment. The squall which struck the market about 2 o'clock represented a complete reversal of the form of the first hour, when there was a display of relief and growing confidence that the market had righted itself, and placed most of its troubles behind it. When prices of some of the leading stocks began to break, point after point at a time, about two of the most serious apprehensions were felt. The letting-go of stocks on such terms presaged no good to the market and fears that have been current for several days that some trouble was overhanging were revived in full force. The rumors regarding the trouble became more specific and more centered today. They were given direction by the events of the last few days in the curb market, and the extraordinary performances there with United Copper stocks. That stock dropped back to 15 today, after having been running up and down the scale to as high as 60 for two days. The existence of a market pool in the stock and published warnings against the transfer of some specified holdings, opened the way to the deduction of international disagreement in the conduct of the pool. Beyond these facts, information was vague, but enough was discerned to locate the source of the pressure on the market with some degree of accuracy. The subject lost some of its terrors when the more final days outline, but the contingencies suggested were sufficiently grave to submerge the cheerfulness which had been rising early in the day. Call money was firmer in tone at 6@7 per cent., partly in connection with the flurry in the stock market. The transfer of $500,000 to San Francisco through the sub-treasury opened a fresh demand on bank reserve and served as an offset to the week's contribution to the banks on sub-treasury operations, which have run up upwards of $...,000,000. Announcement was made of an offer by a banking house to take over $1,000,000 of the Pennsylvania notes maturing on November 1; the total issue amounting to $50,000,000. Funds are in hand from the sales of Baltimore & Ohio stock to the Union Pacific to take up these notes, but as the proceeds have been out on loans meantime, the operation is expected to necessitate a shifting of loans. Southern Pacific was among the first stocks to break away from the early upward tendency and the reiteration of reports that proof of rebating had been obtained against the company,

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The wheat market opened weak because of the declines at nearly all the European centers. Fair weather in the Northwest also exerted a depressing influence. During the early part of the day the market was very nervous owing to the anxiety of shorts, but in the last half of the session the tone became decidedly weak. Declines at all of the northwestern markets, due to the favorable weather conditions for the spring and for the movement of the new crop, tended to weaken the local market late in the day. The market closed weak. December opened ⅞ to ¾ lower at 1.03¾@1.03⅝, sold up to 1.05⅝ and then declined to 1.04⅜. The close was at 1.04⅝. The corn market was firm early in the day, but weakened in sympathy with the break in wheat. Small local receipts and higher prices at Liverpool were the chief bullish factors. The market closed weak with prices almost at the lowest point of the day. December opened unchanged to ⅛ higher at 63¼@63⅜, advanced to 63⅝ and then declined to 63⅜. The close was at 63⅛. Trade in oats was quiet and the market was weak almost all day. The heaviness of wheat was the main factor. December opened ⅛ higher at 35⅛, sold off to 34⅝ and closed at 34⅝. Provisions were inclined to be weak because of the break in grain. Trade was very light. At the close, January pork was off 7½, lard was down 7½, and ribs were 10 cents lower.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was firm; No. 2 spring wheat, 1.03@1.05; No. 3, 1.03@1.18; No. 2 red, 1.03@1.04½; No. 2 corn, 65@65¼; No. 2 yellow, 64@64½; No. 2 oats, 34¼; No. 3 white, 33½@34½; No. 2 rye, 57½; good feeding barley, 45@50; fair to choice malting, 1.03@1.09; No. 1 northwestern flaxseed, 1.29½; clover, contract grades, 17.00; short ribs, sides (loose,) 7.87½@8.12½; mess pork, per bbl., 14.87½@15.00; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.22; short clear sides (boxed,) 9.62½@9.87½; whisky, basis of high wines, 1.32.

Hamburger's 26th Anniversary Sale

Combined With Our Big $500,000.00 Sale "New Store" Goods

Just 26 years ago—October, '81—A. Hamburger, founder of the present corporation, A. Hamburger & Sons, located in Los Angeles at Requina and Commercial streets, and four years later moved to our present location, 127 to 147 North Spring street. Just two years ago the first sod was turned for the construction of our mammoth "New Store," now being erected at Eighth, Broadway and Hill street, which, when completed will be the third largest retail mercantile establishment in the United States. We had expected to get into our "New Store" this month to celebrate our 26th anniversary, but as the building could not be completed in time we have been forced to postpone our move to the new location until the coming Easter; consequently we have for two weeks been featuring a big sale of $500,000 of merchandise bought for the new store, and which we are selling as rapidly as possible at very material price reductions. Now, to combine with this big sale for one day only, in celebration of our 26th anniversary, we are going to give the public a big benefit in the way of merchandise souvenirs with purchases. Not a lottery by any means, for every one is in a position to know just what they will get, as their purchases declare the value of the gift. We have gone through every department and selected a total of 32 lines of merchandise to be given with other merchandise in these departments, and in addition to this every department in the store will have other under-priced merchandise, but which, because of the limited advertising space we cannot describe in this advertisement, but we can frankly say that it will be the biggest shopping day of the season—prices on many lines of merchandise will be materially reduced. Remember, there is just one souvenir to be given to any one purchaser in any one department. Don't fail to see the display of souvenirs in the window.
